APOLOGIES—First of all, apologies to S. A. Yoder. He was not responsible for the shortcomings of the last issue. May it not cloud the record he made as editor.

FIRST A HAIRCUT, THEN A MAJOR OPERATION—Expansion might be called the keynote of this issue of the Newsletter. Our growing student body, and our expanding curriculum demand an increase in classroom and laboratory space, while new methods of instruction and technological advance call for new equipment, to say nothing of the fact that old equipment simply wears out with the passing of time. Attention focuses on the Science Hall. This, the newest of our classroom buildings—in fact, our only building occupied entirely by classrooms and faculty offices—got a crew cut last summer and now faces the sober prospect of a major operation—the removal of two complete organs. Pres. Mininger's statement about the broader plan introduces statements by the heads of the departments which are involved to the greatest extent in the building and renovation program. The Music Department, which is also to share space in the new Arts Building, is not represented in this issue, but you will hear from it in the March issue.

WHEELS SILENTLY TURNING—A few years ago at the faculty staff banquet, former Pres. Miller likened the secretarial, kitchen, and maintenance staffs to wheels silently turning in a powerhouse. December saw a new type of member added to our alumni family. We depart from literal definition in our use of the term "alumnus" at Goshen College when we speak of all former students as alumni. It seems fitting, then, that we should count as members of our college family those who give major time to the operation of our physical plant. The I-W men give two years of their time to work that needs to be done. They belong to us, and we claim them as one of us. We want to hear from them, and we want them to return to our campus whenever they can. We hope some of them will want to come back to us as students.

NEW LOOK—This issue of the Newsletter takes a new look. Some of you have expressed appreciation for the attempts of previous editors to group personals by classes. Any attempt to group personals is somewhat forced. A personal item is personal, not group in nature. There are some items which are not strictly personal, but concern a small group. Yet they are too brief to become separate articles. I could make them strictly personal items, but they would lose some of their interest and significance. And so, although I have used the general groupings of blocks of years, you may find a 26 with the 1941-1945 group and vice versa. The new look is designed to help you scan the issues for the names of your friends and acquaintances. Won't you let me know how you like it?

The Continuing Development Program of Goshen College

Paul Mininger, President

The expansion and improvement of the educational program, together with a growing student body, makes it imperative that Goshen College continues to increase its buildings and improve its facilities. One of the most urgent needs is for a Nurses' Dormitory. It has now been decided to place this new building on the present parking lot on the west side of Main Street across from the library. This new dormitory will be a four-story building and will provide housing for approximately 100 nurses. It is estimated that this new dormitory will cost $212,000, not including equipment.

The nursing education program also requires room for laboratories, a lecture-demonstration room, offices and classrooms. After a careful study of the total space needs of the college during the next few years, it was decided to build a new classroom building south and east of the Science Hall, on the site of the present "Quad" which was constructed as temporary housing for men immediately after World War II. The new classroom building will have three stories and will be named the "Arts Building." The nursing education facilities will be placed on the third floor of this new Arts Building. They will include two nursing arts laboratories, a lecture-demonstration room, offices and classrooms, one of which will be used temporarily as a library and reading room.

The second floor of the new Arts Building will be used by the Home Economics Department. The space in the Science Hall which is now being used by the Home Economics Department is needed for expansion by the science departments. The new Home Economics facilities will include unit kitchens for students, a demonstration kitchen, a dining-living room, a clothing and textile laboratory, office space and a classroom.

The first floor of the new Arts Building will be dedicated to the work of the Music Department. It will include six studios, three listening rooms, sixteen piano practice rooms, and three classrooms. The estimated cost of the new Arts Building is $170,000, without equipment.

One of the most urgent needs on the campus is for new equipment in the chemistry and biology laboratories in the Science Hall. The present equipment is both outworn and out of date. It is the plan to begin improvements by remodeling the General Chemistry laboratory and the Biology laboratory and to proceed with the others as rapidly as possible. The building budget for this year has in it an item of $20,000 to remodel the laboratories in the Science Hall.

Present plans call for the construction of the Nurses' Dormitory and the Arts Building to begin on or about April 1. The new buildings are being planned by Orus Eash, and they will be built under the direction of our own Construction Engineer, J. Gordon Jackson. We are expecting the same type of durable, economical and artistic buildings which these men provided for us in the Union Building and the Westlawn Dormitory.

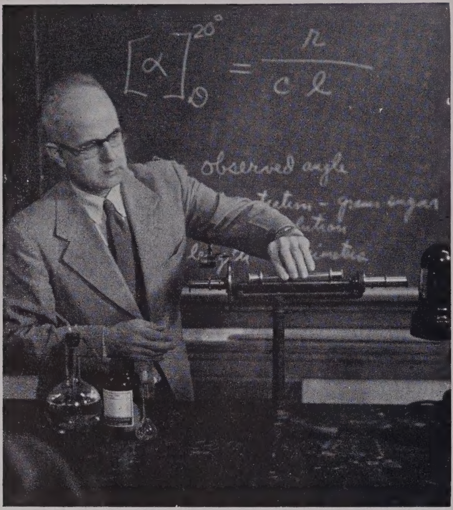
Plans are also under way for a new Church-Chapel Building to be planned and used jointly by the College Mennonite Church and Goshen College. This new Church-Chapel Building will most likely be placed on the present parking lot immediately south of the Union Auditorium. Students, faculty and the local congregation have long looked forward to the time when they could have adequate facilities for daily chapel and Sunday worship. A new Church-Chapel Building will likewise symbolize the centrality of faith and worship in the educational program of Goshen College.

A gift of $85,000 for a Seminary Building has encouraged us to proceed with plans for this new building. Since the seminary in the future will be primarily a graduate school, a separate building will be very desirable. The seminary building will likely be located near the site of the present Dierdorff house directly south of the proposed Church-Chapel Building. It will include six classrooms, nine offices and a seminary chapel. Another $50,000 will be needed to construct this new building.

In addition to the funds which have been contributed or pledged to the above projects, it will be necessary for the alumni and friends of Goshen College to contribute $90,000 each year to the development program for the next five years. The contributions to buildings during the past five years has averaged approximately $84,000 each year. The figure of $90.000 is therefore not impossible. Goshen College is depending upon its alumni to send their contributions to this Continuing Development

Program. You are encouraged to give to the Continuing Development Program, allowing your gift to be used as needed but you may designate that your gift be used for any one of the following causes:

1. The Nurses' Dormitory
2. The Arts Building
3. The Remodeling of Science Hall Laboratories
4. The Church-Chapel Building
5. The Seminary Building



Miller traces increasing demand for physical sciences

G. R. Miller

Head of Chemistry Department

The new editor of the Alumni Newsletter recently sent me a note through the campus mail asking what we were doing in the Science Division. It so happened that I had just called the roll in my Organic Chemistry class by asking each student why he was taking the course. One replied, "I want to teach the stuff." One other intended to enter the teaching field. Nine of the nineteen intended to enter medical college; four were aiming at dentistry. A professional chemist, two dietitians, and a nurse completed the roster.

On receiving Nelson's note, I was stimulated to investigate further. Checking my next class in Qualitative Analysis I found seven more premedics, one pre-dent, five chemistry majors, one biology major, and a future optometrist.

Of the thirty-one girls taking Arthur Smucker's Introductory Chemistry course, twenty-nine are in the nursing program.

This 1954 roll call in just a few of the courses offered does indicate the considerable preprofessional training that goes on in the Division. There is, however, another important aspect of science teaching and that is in the area of general education and cultural values. We live in a scientific and industrial age. We need to know something about atomic energy, radio and television, heat, light, sound, chemical change, fertilizers, foods, soils, rocks, minerals, stars, and many more items—for we live in such a world. The Science Division offers approximately one hundred courses. With but thirteen teachers in the division, naturally many of these courses cannot be offered every year. The teaching of Geology has been sadly neglected. We are also trying to find our way in agriculture education and in the industrial arts. A committee appointed by President Mininger is busy this year studying the whole problem of agriculture education at Goshen College.

But even with the present course offerings, the science division finds itself very much overcrowded. At present we have no space at all for certain of the advanced courses. And some of the laboratory furniture is worn out. In the general education course, Physical Science, taught by Dr. Paul Bender there is no laboratory for the purpose. The time has come when there no longer is a choice. We must make certain improvements, and plans are well under way to accomplish this in the course of the next few years. During the coming summer a new beginning chemistry laboratory and a new biology laboratory will be installed. This is the beginning of an accelerated improvement program that will enable the Science Division to meet the demands of effective teaching and of increasing enrollments.

Witmer visions modern laboratory

S. W. Witmer

Head of Biology Department

The great increase in the size of the student body, as elsewhere is felt in our science courses. It has brought an increased demand for space for lecture rooms and for laboratory work. The laboratory room extending across the west end of the first floor in Science Hall is a large room used for laboratory work in the biological sciences. For some years, it has been necessary to use it also as a lecture room, although it is not suitable for that purpose. The plan now is to furnish this room with such desks and to arrange them in such a manner that the room may serve about equally well as a laboratory or as a lecture room which will mean that more classes can use the room and that it can be in use more constantly. Some classes would utilize the room only for their laboratory work, other classes only for lecture purposes, while still other classes would use the room for both the laboratory and the lecture parts of the course.

Now is a good time to make this change. Some of the furniture now in use in the laboratory was brought over from the basement of the Administration Building many years ago when the biology classes were moved from that location into the then new Science Hall. Through the years some of the furniture has worn out and it is time for replacements.

The present plan is to equip the room with special new desks that will be suitable for laboratory work. On these desks will be sufficient working space for each student. Each desk will be furnished with electrical outlets for desk lamps and microscope lamps. There will be several drawers at each place, making it possible for different classes or sections to use the same desks at different times and yet allow individual drawers for the students. Students will be seated on one side of these desks only making it possible for all to face the main chalk-board and the instructor's desk,—a feature which will be an advantage when the room is utilized for lecture purposes.

The room is a long one north and south, and for this reason it is planned to locate the main chalk-board and the instructor's desk along the middle of the west wall. The rows of students' desks will be arranged somewhat in semicircle style. As the plans are drawn, it will mean that the new chalk-board will close up two windows on the west side. Under certain conditions it will also be necessary to draw dark shades over additional windows on that side since students face more or less in that direction. There will be laboratory space for from 36 to 42 students. This will make it possible for an instructor to conduct a large laboratory section with the help of student assistants. In case still larger classes are to be accommodated for a lecture, it will be possible to use additional chairs. It will be possible for non-biology courses to have their classes in this renovated room if class schedules can be arranged satisfactorily.

One of the new features of the specially designed desks is to make them ½ inch lower than the more usual 30-inch high desk. The object of this feature is to enable the student to remain seated when looking through a microscope, instead of standing up and bending over the instrument in a tiresome and unsteady posture. Fortunately, some microscopes are now built lower than formerly. The slightly lower desk, and the shorter microscope, together with an adjustable seat make it possible for the student to remain seated and to work in a more relaxed and steady position.

Suitable microscope cases with glass doors are to be installed where students coming into the laboratory can conveniently pick up their microscopes on the way to their desks. Additional pieces of furniture suitable for display purposes are included in the plan.

Most classes in the biological sciences can carry on laboratory work in this newly arranged laboratory. There are, however, certain exceptions.

These exceptions include Microbiology, Bacteriology, Comparative Anatomy and the course in Human Anatomy and Physiology. There is already a laboratory for Microbiology and Bacteriology. There is also a laboratory for Comparative Anatomy. Because of the increased demand on the science facilities brought about through the operation of the nursing education program, additional laboratory space should be provided for Human Anatomy and Physiology.

The tables and some of the chairs now in the old laboratory which would be replaced by the new student desks could be transferred for use in the new physiology laboratory. Another possibility is to utilize them for Microtechnique and Advanced Botany. These last-mentioned courses could be provided for in an office-size room located near the other laboratories occupied by classes in the Biological Sciences.

Wyse explains home ec needs

Olive Wyse (right), Head of Home Economics Department with Edna Shantz, Assistant Professor of Home Economics, and Phyllis Roose, Dietitian

One of the primary concerns of home economics education is the development of personal traits, understandings, appreciations, skills and abilities which will promote stable, harmonious, happy Christian family relations. The great majority of women students regardless of their specific vocational preparation in college will be engaged in homemaking activities during most of their lives. Therefore, the offerings in home economics are designed to serve students who have vocational interests outside the field of home economics as well as those who are preparing for home economics professions in teaching, institution management or business.

A considerable number of students elect courses in home and family life education when their programs permit electives. Since programs for elementary teachers and nurses include certain courses in home economics, we have been serving between 20 and 30 nurses and an equal number of elementary teachers each year. About the same number are enrolled in home economics courses because their major interest is in this area. Some of these take the two-year homemaking program in preparation for full-time homemaking or for service in church organizations which require certain homemaking skills but not a college degree. During the past six years 48 girls completed a four-year program in home economics. At the present time 29 of these are married, 11 to men who are in the ministry or are working in church institutions. The 19 single women are employed as follows: 14 in teaching, 3 in foreign missions, 6 in church high schools, 4 in public high schools, and 1 in voluntary service under MRSC; 4 are dietitians, 3 in church institutions, 1 in a university hospital; and 1 is a child welfare worker in a children's home operated by the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities.

This year five seniors are majoring in home economics. One is fulfilling the requirements for entrance into a dietetics internship approved by the American Dietetics Association. Three are planning to get regular teaching licenses. One is qualifying for the Indiana special license which requires a concentrated program in home economics similar to that set up by state schools for vocational teachers.

In recent years the enrollments in clothing, nutrition and foods courses have outgrown our facilities. The foods laboratory which is adequate for only 12 students has been made to serve 16 students per section. Materials needed for several large sections of food preparation classes crowd our food storage facilities. There is no space for a freezer or for experimental work with other modern equipment such as washers. In foods and nutrition courses, demonstrations could be used effectively in teaching larger groups if we had adequate facilities for this purpose. In the area of clothing and textiles the program has been handicapped by a lack of facilities for the testing of textiles and the study of the laundry and care of new textile fabrics. In all areas of home economics we have been cramped for storage space of teaching materials and equipment.

For several years we have had many more calls for women trained in home economics than we have had qualified persons to recommend for the positions. Now that we have two full-time teachers in the department and a dietitian qualified to prepare students for dietetics internships we look forward to enriching our offerings for students in general education as well as strengthening the program for majors. Improved laboratory and classroom facilities in the proposed new arts building will make possible better service courses for other departments, especially for nursing and elementary education. More efficient laboratory facilities will greatly improve the educational experiences for home economics majors. We look forward to a more effective program for more students in rooms designed to demonstrate good home management principles, simplicity in material surroundings, time and labor-saving devices which are means of releasing time, money and energy for the promotion of health and the mental, social and spiritual development of each member of the family.

Mosemann tells of school of nursing

Orpah Mosemann (left), Director, and Verna Zimmerman, Assistant Director, of School of Nursing

The Goshen College School of Nursing was officially begun August 14, 1950 with a class of eight students and two faculty members. The senior class of 1955 totals twenty students. Today there are six full-time faculty members and the seventh absent on leave.

It has been gratifying to see the growing interest among the constituency in the collegiate nursing program. There is a definite cultural trend toward more young people attending institutions of higher learning. The young person interested in nursing also has a right to receive an education in an institution of higher learning. This is also true of the young people in the Mennonite church.

Enrollment in schools of nursing are necessarily limited by the clinical facilities of the available health agencies as well as the physical facilities of the educational institution. Recently Elkhart General Hospital has been enlarged from 113 to 166 beds. This will increase the opportunities for clinical experience for the school of nursing and should enable the school to increase its enrollment. At the present time there are 95 students in the college because of nursing interests: seniors 20, juniors 20, sophomores 24, pre-nursing 31.

Dormitory and classroom facilities at the college had already been overtaxed before the school of nursing added to this burden. At present approximately sixty women students are living off campus. Three to four faculty share an office which had formerly been used by two instructors. The present nursing classroom is a combined nursing arts laboratory, lecture-demonstration room, utility room and nurse's station.

Original building plans called for a combined dormitory and educational unit because of limited building space. With the additional purchase of property, it was felt to be more sound educationally to separate the two. The executive committee of the Board of Education has approved the construction of a dormitory along Main Street, just west of the library. The educational unit will be south and east of the Science Hall, the approximate present site of the quadrangle.

The projected building program proposes a dormitory and its related facilities for 100 women. The educational unit proposes a nursing arts laboratory in two sections which will accommodate twelve or more bed units. There will also be a clean and soiled utility room, linen storage room and a dressing room. A demonstration room will accommodate 40 students. An additional classroom will be used as a divisional library until such a time as the Memorial Library is enlarged. Faculty offices are also included in the plans.

The need for additional facilities is now. There are sixty-four women on the campus now needing these facilities. We need to move forward at once in order to more effectively serve the needs of the nursing students.

Russ Liechty introduces I-W men

For more than two years now I-W men have been assigned to work at Goshen College. Many persons have not been aware of the fact that the unit is here, what the fellows are doing, who they are, etc. This article is intended to inform alumni (and perhaps faculty and students) about the I-W program, past and present, at Goshen College.

An attempt has been made to maintain the size of the college unit at approximately ten men. At the time of this writing there are nine I-W men on campus. Within recent weeks four fellows completed their two years of service and were released, while three new fellows have been employed. Plans are now being made to secure the services of several more men which will again bring our total unit membership up to ten. Mr. Bachman, the College Business Manager is in charge of hiring I-W men.

The types of work in which the college I-W men are engaged seem to be quite varied. A majority of the fellows are doing maintenance work while two men are working in college offices. The exact job of each fellow will be given in the paragraphs which follow.

Marston Birky comes from Kouts, Indiana and has been working here at the college since February 16, 1953 which means he has only a few more weeks of work under the selective service assignment. He has been working in the plumbing and heating department. Marston is not sure what he will be doing when he leaves Goshen, but he has considered either taking school work or going home to help his father on the farm.

On March 1, 1954, Ralph Bontrager from Kokomo, Indiana came to work at the college. Since Ralph still has most of his assignment ahead of him he has not made definite plans for the time when he will be leaving. Ralph has been serving part time as janitor in the Union Building and part time as night watchman.

Our I-W kitchen helper is George Deavers from Kouts, Indiana. George came to the college on July 15, 1953 and has been busy mopping the Dining Hall and peeling potatoes ever since. He has only about six more months to stay here. After that his plans are uncertain, but he will probably try to get a factory job somewhere in the Goshen-Elkhart vicinity.

Delbert Detwiler 53 has been serving as Cashier and as Assistant to the Business Manager since he came to the college on June 29, 1953. Delbert was married when he entered I-W service and now has a daughter Karen Jo who is about six weeks old. At the present, plans for the future post I-W period are indefinite. Delbert will be here about six more months.

Russel Liechty 53 came to the college to begin I-W work on July 20, 1953. He is married and has a son Joseph Craig born on November 22, 1954. Russel has been serving as the Assistant Dean of Men. He will be here about six more months and then return to his home community, Archbold, Ohio.

On January 19, 1953, Wendell Martin wbt 52 from near Kokomo, Indiana came to the college for his I-W assignment. He has been working as a janitor in the Union Building and part time as a night watchman. Wendell will be leaving us in only a few weeks and plans to take a vacation in Florida before returning home to help his father on the farm.

Our latest arrivals are the Sears twins, Earl and Merle, from Metamora, Ill., who came to the campus Dec. 27. According to present plans Earl will be working in the kitchen while Merle is to do janitor work in the Union Building. They already have a good start in their work and are looking forward to an enjoyable two years of service.

The third of our late I-W arrivals is Roman Yoder from near Sturgis, Mich. He came December 13 and is serving as janitor in the Administration Building.

Four men have completed their I-W assignments at the college and have been released. Ezra Beachy who had been working on general college maintenance left on December 8, 1954. He returned to his home near Kokomo, Indiana, where he is farming with his father.

Marion Bontrager, the college kitchen clerk, was released on December 1, 1954. He is now working for his father-in-law at a lumber yard in Burr Oak, Michigan.

Our former Administration Building janitor, Abe Schwartz from Berne, Indiana left the college on December 17, 1954. Abe plans to go home at least temporarily but his long range plans are not definite. He is considering entering some Bible school.

Earl Sommers x55 from Louisville, Ohio who had been our painter, was released on December 5, 1954. Earl plans to be married on January 8, 1955 and will be working on the farm of his father-in-law in the Kouts, Indiana, community.

Except for several new men who will be coming in the next month or so, this a rather complete picture of the I-W program at the college. According to Leland Bachman the whole arrangement has been very satisfactory from the viewpoint of the college administration. The college has appreciated having the I-W unit here and has benefited greatly from their services. I'm sure that for the most part the I-W fellows have enjoyed their work and have profited from the total experience here.

Alumni in new congregation at Lombard, Ill.

For a number of years Mennonites of several conferences living in the western suburbs of Chicago have felt a need for a church home in their community. As a step in this direction they had been holding monthly fellowship meetings. October 23, with the approval of Illinois Mennonite Conference, C. Warren Long 29, pastor of the Willow Springs Mennonite Church, Tiskilwa, Ill., and bishop of the Mennonite Home Mission in Chicago, organized a congregation with fourteen charter members. In an evening service that same day he installed LeRoy Kennel 53, assistant in the Public Relations Office and director of radio programs at Goshen College, as the pastor of the congregation. Harvey Hunsberger x39, Wheaton, Ill., has been elected Sunday school superintendent; Ivan W. Brunk 35, Chicago, chairman of the congregation; and Walter Hodel 49, Chicago, treasurer. Meeting in the East Lombard Civic Club Building at present, the congregation hopes to build as soon as it can secure a suitable lot and can raise the needed funds. Alumni on the Building Committee are Don Kreider 38, Des Plaines, and Walter Hodel. Other alumni who are members are Mrs. Ivan Brunk (Ann Jennings) 36, Mrs. Harvey Hunsberger (Gladys Yoder) x39, Mrs. LeRoy Kennel (Pauline Graybill) 53, and Mrs. Don Kreider (Elda Hostetler) 37.

Alumni in M. C. C. Foreign Relief

No doubt many of our alumni have access to the M. C. C. Services Bulletin. For the benefit of those who may not have seen the letters which some of our alumni in M. C. C. foreign relief have written, we are including them in this Newsletter.

Irma Ebersole, x50, Sterling, Ill., writes of the demand for Summer Bible schools:

"We have received so many letters from children who have been with us in the past begging for an opportunity to come again. We know this is impossible for rarely does the German social welfare department sponsor a child for more than one time and yet we feel burdened for such children. We realize that since they left us, they have received no spiritual training, little love and little guidance. So Helena Braun of Sardis, B.C., and I are launching into a new experience for Bad Duerkheim—sponsoring five sessions of Bible school during the regular summer period, inviting our alumni to be with us for two weeks at a time. We have received some 230 replies to our invitations."

Recently Roy Eby, 52, New Providence, Pa., was transferred from Formosa to the new M. C. C. project in Indo-China. He describes some of his Formosan experiences:

"On the last mobile clinic trip here in Formosa we visited nine villages of the Tyal tribe with a team of eight workers. We saw more than 3,000 persons and administered 8,858 treatments. We continued to find very poor teeth and trachoma widespread in this area. We walked to six of these nine villages. The path between two of these was worse than any path we have ever used. The first descent, although steep, was rather easy, but the two-hour climb up the next mountainside was quite a different story. Actually a ladder would have been more convenient since most of the way was so steep one had to be careful not to rub his nose on the path ahead as he walked up. When we got to the top of that, we had an hour walk through tall elephant grass arching together overhead almost closing out the sky. All you could see was grass and more grass. You continually wondered if the path would be open around the next little bend 10 or 15 feet ahead. And then it began to rain when my group was in here. After the grass we came to the tree section—trees grown and fallen over the path. So we went over, under, and around them for three fourths of an hour. And then the final descent into the next village. It was raining all the way now. Toads continued to plop out from under one's feet but no lizards as the day before. The rain made the descent tricky. But with the rain one did not stop to rest—to do so would have merely extended the torture. After saying all this, I should say this section of the mountains is considered the most beautiful of Formosa."

Two alumni are with the M. C. C. unit in Jordan.

Glendon Jantzi 52, Adams, N.Y., describes the clothing distribution project:

"Believing that a program in which an individual is constantly a recipient rather than an earner is corruptive for any human personality, we have attempted what we consider a more wholesome approach in our clothing distributions. Jericho, Jordan, like most other towns and cities in Jordan, is poor. Since many of the persons living here are refugees and since there is a severe shortage of paying jobs available, the municipality cannot derive sufficient funds to accomplish city projects to make it a cleaner and better place in which to live. So we contacted the municipality head to find out whether there would be any possibility whereby clothing could be used to pay city labors and thus allow the municipality to save money for needy city projects. The district commissioner was very receptive to the idea and told us of a plan for overhauling and extending the city water system. A great deal of this project will provide work for common laborers who will be needed to dig trenches for the pipes and help in the construction of a reservoir. Another project will be the repairing and building of roads. Not only are individual men psychologically and materially benefited by this project, but also the entire populace of Jericho will gain through the useful employment of these men. In addition, this work project is psychologically good for the M. C. C. unit members working with clothing. All of us are constantly faced with the extreme temporariness of our work. Even though our Christian motivation has made an impact here, we feel we must do more than to supply temporary needs. Even though a genuine solution to the total Arab problem is impossible until some political settlement results, I still feel there must be some way in which we can leave Jericho better than through giving clothing gratis each year to needy families. Consequently the inauguration of this project has been a source of stimulation and encouragement since it promises something of a more permanent nature."

Dale Kauffman x54, West Liberty, Ohio, assists with the Arab resettlement project and writes:

"After nine months of traveling over Jordan distributing clothes I am happy to be settled in Irbed. I am on loan to the Near East Christian Committee to do agricultural work in the Irbed area. Irbed is situated in the land of Gilead on the plateau above the Jordan River Valley. It is about 30 miles southeast of the Sea of Galilee. From our living room window we have a beautiful view of Mt. Hermon to the northwest. The charitable relief organizations in the Middle East are beginning to turn their attention to forms of more permanent and lasting help. I have been asked to find possibilities of settling 30 refugee families and building houses for them. The most promising location I have found is the Jordan Valley. Our limiting factor will be available money. Creating a home and work for one family is no cheap matter. One of our main jobs is to explain to the people that we are a Christian group trying to help them out of their difficulties. We are many times mistaken for political organizations. When one man heard we may buy land for refugees, he said: "You gave our land to the Jews and now you are buying other land for us." Many people here feel as one man expressed it: "Nobody in the world is honest—nobody." We pray that God will use us to the end that Christ may be shown as the one true answer to all of life's problems."

Donald Reist 52, Mt. Joy, Pa., had been helping to distribute M. C. C. food to Arab refugees in France and is now assisting with the Valdoie, France, children's home. He writes of some of his experiences with both types of work.

"An extremely needy group in Belfort, France, are Arabs who come from North Africa looking for work. Many of them are unable to find employment and being without resources are forced to depend on meager public charity or on the support of their fellow Arabs who are working. These men in many cases sold their last goat to pay passage to France. So we have given some cheese and raisins to the Salvation Army kitchen which feeds some of the North Africans. Also, once a week John Howard Yoder and I distribute about 60 cans of beef to those without work. These men have inadequate housing, some staying in crowded barracks and others in dilapidated, cold, stone, damp quarters, sleeping on dirty straw mats. One is surprised by the reception one receives on coming to distribute meat to these people. They seem suspicious of us; there is no trace of emotion on their faces. They suspect, we learn, that the food in the cans might be spoiled or poisoned. They are afraid, moreover, we are trying to make them eat pork. After six distributions we do not notice that these Arabs say anything in French or Arabic that might mean "thank you." They don't know the Christian word "love." So we shouldn't be too shocked if they don't understand our motive at first. We took an evangelist with us to our fifth distribution. He spoke with some of them and distributed Gospel literature."

"Although one might be tempted to consider our work here at the children's home in Valdoie, France, as just mere routine, it does give us satisfaction to see our family of 27 children growing in their threefold way of body, mind, and spirit. Whenever I bring a supply of food to our house from the storage depot and whenever a shipment of food or clothing arrives from America, I am reminded how those of us at Valdoie and you at home are working together in the Lord's project. We are especially happy for the genuine conversion of one of our 15-year-old boys. You, too, can rejoice with us for with such results truly our work is not in vain."

Arlene Sitler 44, finds wretchedness in Korea:

"Korea in its filth and wretchedness cannot be comprehended by those who have not experienced it. The bombed factory shelters, the lean-tos along the streets, the small shacks made of empty beer cans, old burlap, and scrap lumber remind one of the tremendous poverty in this country and the many whose homes have been bombed or who have fled from the North and now barely have an existence. One must constantly remain sensitive to these needs which so soon become common and unnoticed. Most American soldiers are counting the days and hours until they reach American shores. They are dumfounded at the missionary or relief workers whose term is three or five years. Surely it is the love of Christ that constrains us to be here and to love and serve these people in their need."

Ada and Ida s44 Stoltzfus, Morgantown, Pa., are working with children in Hebron, Jordan.

"In addition to our regular feeding program, we have now begun to send cooked food to undernourished school children in Hebron. We asked the public health doctor to give us 500 children selected from the 13 government schools. We have not taken the total of his lists, but they will reach 1,000 when we stop. Another new activity is our Wednesday evening Bible lesson. There are a few Christians living in Hebron because their work calls them here. One school teacher asked us if we could meet together and have a little Bible study and prayer for his children. The children never get to any Christian services. We prepared ourselves with flannelgraph pictures and began our little meetings. Forty-five attended last week's meeting. Neighbor children and some boys from the high school and a few other adults come to the meetings. We do not invite people especially to come but rather they ask if they may come. Pray that only good may come out of these meetings, that those who come may not do so for mere curiosity and that Moslem officials may not object."

J. Harold Yoder 50, Columbiana, Ohio, tells of "how quickly a new, clean building can take on a drab, disorganized appearance and radiate the same old atmosphere of futility." He is assisting with the distribution of food, clothing, soap, and school supplies to institutions, particularly orphans' homes and hospitals, in Korea.

GE to match alumni gifts

"Nearly half of all U. S. colleges operate at a loss," declares General Electric in a number of magazines with wide circulation. This statement calls attention to an announcement of General Electric's Corporate Alumnus Program whereby any employee of the company or its subsidiaries who holds a degree from an accredited four-year college or university may double his gifts to his alma mater. The Trustees of the Educational and Charitable Fund offer to match gifts up to $1,000.00 made by General Electric employees to colleges and universities during the calendar year 1955 prior to December 15, 1955, provided it is informed of such donations through the use of its authorized forms.

This is your chance to make your gift count twice, if you are a graduate of Goshen College and an employee of General Electric Company. Contact Leland Bachman, Business Manager of the College for further information and the authorized forms. Then make your 1955 contribution to the College a generous one, and General Electric will make it count as doubly generous.

What Is Goshen College?

Goshen College 1954 . . . that "spot in Indiana" rising from the vision of courageous forefathers . . . result of six decades of struggling and succeeding, of dreaming and doing . . . abiding Christian faith developing through years of adversity and prosperity . . . the handiwork of God and men toiling together for over half a century . . . this is Goshen College.

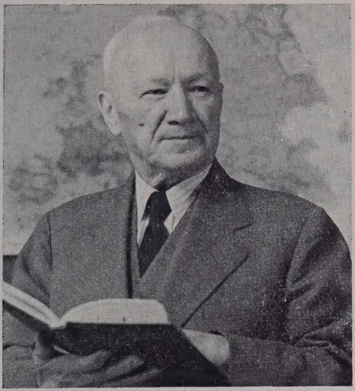
Goshen College 1954 . . . a liberal arts college . . . a school of nursing . . . a Biblical seminary . . . humanities, on which the school has founded a whole liberal arts philosophy . . . social sciences, each one revealing one facet of man's total relation with his fellows . . . natural sciences, a basis of understanding life in today's Science Age . . . teacher education, to show future teachers the task and techniques of teaching others . . . Bible and philosophy, integrated with love to provide a foundation for a life of service . . . this is Goshen College.

Goshen College 1954 . . . hands, hearts, voices joining in fellowship . . . friendly competition developing sound bodies and alert minds . . . the Young People's Christian Association at mission pulpits and bedsides, teaching and living Christ . . . orators struggling with problems of peace . . . choruses singing Bach's Magnificat . . . journalists sweating toward Record and Maple Leaf deadlines . . . the Aurora squad being cheered to victory by the Avons . . . strolls along the Elkhart River . . . lasting ties of friendship unbroken by passing years . . . this is Goshen College.

Goshen College 1954 . . . 10,000 alumni serving around the globe . . . farmers, businessmen, homemakers, plowing and serving and praying . . . faithful pastors in scores of congregations . . . devoted teachers in a thousand classrooms . . . doctors and nurses administering skillful and tender care . . . missionaries to India, Alaska, South America, Japan, and the far corners of the earth . . . this is Goshen College.

Goshen College 1954 . . . vision . . . students . . . teachers . . . curriculum . . . Christian fellowship . . . alumni . . . undefinable . . . easy to understand but impossible to explain . . . Goshen College 1954, and always—CULTURE FOR SERVICE!



Goshen College, 1894-1954; a Venture in Christian Higher Education, by John Sylvanus Umble; Goshen, Ind., Goshen College, 1955. 284 pages. $3.00.

On my desk lies this long-awaited volume, fresh from the press. The dust jacket front design—the college emblems and the Union Building tower. On the back—the question with answers as quoted on the opposite page. Inside the flaps—a summary of the book and a brief sketch of the life of the author, John S. Umble 05, fac 1925-54, now Professor Emeritus of English and Speech. The binding—red—bright red, with gold stamping—no, not purple and white. The title page—a clearly stated title with all of the facts of publication, satisfying even to a librarian. The dedication—includes "my Fellow Alumni . . . whose kindnesses to me and my family have embellished our life with beauty and significance." The preface—credit to many who gave suggestions, among them the advisory committee—Ernest E. Miller 17, Leland Bachman 38, Melvin Gingerich 26, and J. Forrest Kanagy 30—appointed by the Mennonite Board of Education and by Goshen College. The introduction—by Ernest E. Miller, president of the college from 1940 to 1954. The chapters—"The Elkhart Institute"—"Beginnings at Goshen"—"John Ellsworth Hartzler, President, 1913-1918"—"The Growing Division in the Constituency"—"Presidency of Sanford Calvin Yoder"—"The Era of Expansion, 1940-1954"—"Extracurricular Activities and Organization"—"The Alumni Association of Goshen College, Incorporated." The illustrations—not superabundant, but symbolic of the many phases of the life of a small college. The appendices—lists of administrative officers and instructors, of lands owned, of buildings erected or acquired, of representatives at intercollegiate speech contests, of books and booklets written by present members of the faculty. The index—generous listing of topics, organizations, and persons. Here it is, and all for only $3.00!

In several ways the publication of this book crowns the periods of service of two persons who have given valued service to Goshen College. The writing of the book was the last major assignment to John Umble at the close of thirty years as a member of the faculty, and the publication of the book was among the final concerns of Ernest E. Miller during his presidency, even though it did not appear in print until a few months after he retired from office.

I saw John Umble at work daily. Throughout the time of his writing he worked here in the Mennonite Historical Library where I work. I know the vast amount of material he examined—primary and secondary sources, but particularly the primary sources which tell many stories unknown to most people. I know the large number of people he consulted and whose advice he utilized as he wrote and rewrote his manuscript. I know the way in which he submitted to his advisory committee, deleting and rewriting according to their suggestions and struggling to bring his manuscript within the physical limits of the maximum number of pages they set for him. I know the labor of love it has been for him. I have already read much of the book word for word, and I find it enlightening and interesting. And so, I commend it to you, alumni and friends of Goshen College.

Wouldn't you like a copy? The Alumni Office will be happy to take care of your order for you.

In memoriam

Otto Binkele was born in Germany Nov. 29, 1905, and died of cancer in the Veterans' Hospital, Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 19, 1954. He received his B. A. degree from Goshen College in 1933 and later attended Columbia and New York Universities. From 1947 until he became ill in 1953, he taught in the Ligonier, Ind., high school. He had also served as a Sunday school teacher in the Methodist Church there. He was married to Stella Kauffman 34, who survives with their son Richard, his father, Jacob, in Germany, and his sister, Elizabeth (Binkele) von Buettner x39, in Brazil. Funeral services were held from the Methodist Church in Ligonier Nov. 22.

Eliza Brenneman Ross died of injuries resulting from an automobile accident near Kansas City, Kans., Dec. 29. She was graduated from the Goshen College academy in 1928. In 1929 she was married to I. Mark Ross. In recent years they had made their home at Hesston, Kans. At the time of the accident, the Rosses were enroute to Hesston from West Liberty, Ohio, to pick up their trailer and return to West Liberty, where Mark was to serve as assistant pastor of the Oak Grove Mennonite Church. Her husband and their daughter Beulah Ferne survive. Funeral services were held at Kalona, Iowa, her former home, January 1.

Clarence W. Schrock was born Oct. 14, 1895, in Pontiac, Ill., and passed away at his home in Chicago July 17, 1954. He was married to Alma Zehr x29 in 1943. He was a teacher in the public schools of Chicago and had been principal of the Clissold School for the past nine years. In the Mennonite Home Mission, Chicago, he had served as Sunday school superintendent and teacher. He is survived by his wife; two children, Barbara Jane and Clarence Emanuel; two brothers and one sister. Funeral services were held July 19 from the Starr Chapel.

Orpha Mae (Huffman) Thomas died in Doctor's Hospital Nov. 6 after an illness of several months. After she received her B. A. degree in 1936 and her B. S. degree in 1938 from Goshen College, she attended MacMurray College, Michigan State University, and Columbia University. She and her husband, Samuel O. Thomas, whom she married in 1944, both received their doctor of philosophy degrees from Purdue University in 1946. Since 1942, she had been an instructor in institutional management at Columbia University. She is survived by her husband, and by her mother, Mrs. Jennie Huffman, and her brother, Chester Huffman, both of Elkhart.

Atlee Yoder was found dead in his car near Wooster, Ohio, Nov. 28. It is believed he died of a heart attack, because the car had run into a field and come to a stop undamaged. He received his B. A. degree from Goshen College in 1954 and had been teaching a rural school near Charm, Ohio. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Yoder, Millersburg, Ohio, six sisters, and two brothers. Funeral services were held from the Martins Creek Mennonite Church, Millersburg, Ohio, Dec. 1.

Rachel Christine Yoder, infant daughter of John Howard 47 and Anny (Guth) x53 Yoder, died Oct. 27 in Basel, Switzerland. She is survived by her parents and a sister Rebecca.

Personals

Certificates of recognition were given recently to four former members of the Congo Inland Mission Board for their outstanding contributions to the missionary cause. Among the four were three alumni: C. E. Rediger x07, Flanagan, Ill., a board member for twenty-one years, including sixteen years as corresponding secretary-treasurer; William B. Weaver 14, Danvers, Ill., member for twenty-six years and author of two books about the mission; and Noble O. Hoover a 13, Bloomington, Ill., member for seventeen years.

On Sunday, Oct. 10, at the Howard-Miami Mennonite Church near Kokomo, Ind., Niles Slabaugh w06, Kokomo, preached a sermon commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination. His two daughters from the Hopedale, Ill., community, Beatrice (Mrs. Orrin) Nafziger x29 and Vera (Mrs. Oliver) Litwiller w30, and his son Truman from the home community were with him for the occasion.

D. A. Yoder a x07, Elkhart, Ind., was with the Rainy River Mission, International Falls, Minn., Oct. 23-31, visiting and serving in the regular services closing with communion on Sunday night. He held meetings at the Locust Grove Mennonite Church, Sturgis, Mich., Nov. 7-14, and at the First Mennonite Church, New Bremen, N. Y., beginning Nov. 23.

Mrs. W. W. Oesch (Elva Alice Garber) 08, Goshen, Ind., served as rural chairman of a drive to collect Christmas gifts for patients at Norman Beatty Memorial Hospital, Westville, Ind.

Tobias K. a 11 and Mae (Hartzler) w08 Hershey celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday, Dec. 26, with an open house at their home, 1608 South Eighth Street, Goshen, Ind.

Ruth (Ebersole) Rasmussen 11, of North Tonawanda, N. Y., is head librarian of the hospital service department of the Buffalo and Erie County Public Library with her headquarters in the Meyer Memorial Hospital in Buffalo. Her son, Richard Jens, is head of the Art Department at Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash. Her daughter, Elizabeth Anne, is married to Robert M. DuBois, president of DuBois Press, Rochester, N. Y., and has three children.

Arlene Grieser 52 is serving as nurse in the Navaho Migrant Unit of Phoenix and Grants, New Mexico, since December 7.

Although Paul Conrad x52 has completed his I-W voluntary service at Mathis, Texas, he and his wife, Ann (Burkholder) x55 are staying at Mathis to help with the work of the Calvary Mennonite Church there. Paul is Sunday school superintendent, and Ann is teaching the kindergarten class. During the week Paul is a carpenter for a local lumber company.

H. James 52 and Anne (Swartzendruber) x49 Martin and family arrived in Montevideo, Uruguay, Oct. 5 to begin the Mennonite mission work in that country.

Here are a few excerpts from the Christmas letter of Richard 52 and Susan (Herr) 52 Burkholder, Caixa Postal 15, Campinas, E. de Sao Paulo, Brazil: "We spent the month of August in Lancaster County, where our families and friends assisted in gathering and packing a few worldly possessions for the stay in Brazil. Finally the day came when we drove to New York City with our parents, saw our things aboard ship and said goodbyes. Peter adv th 47 and Alice (Liechty) 47 Sawatsky from Oregon had traveled east to join us and together we embarked for Brazil—7 a. m., September 18. The M/V Sargent did not appear to be a floating hotel, but on the other hand we thought our accommodations would be adequate for our contemplated 3-week voyage. . . . the three weeks promised by the ship's agent were stretched to six as the Sargent plodded through the South Atlantic. . . . October 28—Santos at last . . . a long, busy day. . . . We held our breath as we opened our boxes and trunks for the inspectors, for we had heard many tales of the exorbitant fees sometimes levied by these unpredictable officials, but it seemed that recompense was due for the long stay at sea, and we were out of the 'alfandega' in 20 minutes, with only the stevedore's fees to pay. . . . Most of our fellow missionary students, with whom we began to get acquainted, had come to Campinas a month before school began, equipped with furniture and appliances from the States, and with denominational associates here to help them set up a home. We had no furniture, no house, no Brazil Mennonite church, and we were two weeks behind in a ten-week school term! . . . We have rented a house and bought most of the bare necessities for home furnishing. Suitable houses are scarce and the Sawatsky's are living with us as a temporary arrangement. . . ."

The Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa., pays bonuses to contributors to its periodicals each half year. Among the five writers paid the highest bonuses during the first half of 1954 were Mrs. Virgil Brenneman pt52, and Jacob Sudermann 32. Other alumni receiving bonuses included H. Harold Hartzler fac 43- , Edwin L. Weaver 26, Marie A. Yoder 47, Gerald Studer 49, Mrs. Edwin Alderfer (Helen Wade) 43, Robert J. Baker 43, Barbara F. Coffman 31, Edward L. Kauffman 48, Ivan R. Lind 35, Mrs. Samuel E. Miller (Ella May Weaver) 41, John H. Yoder 47, and Mrs Alvin Zeiset (Dorothy Zook) x45.

Mrs. Bob Pate (Lois Shenk) x53 writes that Bob is now selling for fifteen different granite firms. Their permanent address is 2809 27th Avenue South, Nashville, Tenn., but they are on the move most of the year, living in a trailer and staying three or four weeks in one place as Bob visits his territory which includes Tennessee, Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin.

Wilbur Nachtigal adv th 1953, formerly missionary in Puerto Rico, assumed the pastorate of the La Junta, Colo., Mennonite Church, Jan. 1.

Myron and Florence (Yoder) x53 Rensberger, Wellman, Iowa, have opened their home to a fifteen-year-old orphan girl. Florence is teaching a rural school near their home.

Alumni registered at the Mennonite Biblical Seminary, Chicago, Ill., this year are Leonard Gross 53, Doylestown, Pa.; Marion O. Snyder 53, Chicago; and Gerrit Veendorp 51, Leiden, Holland.

As part of the recreational program carried on by three Mennonite churches in Chicago, Ill., John M. Yoder 53, Nappanee, Ind., has arranged to use the Halstead Community Church for two two-hour periods weekly. John works in the area of recreation, crafts, chorus and youth fellowship with the children and young people of the three churches.

Marian Stover 53 is doing general duty nursing at the Springfield, Vt., Hospital and assisting with the mission work of the Mennonite Church at Bartonsville, Vt.

Owen Shoup 53 is serving as laboratory technician at Beatty Memorial hospital, Westville, Ind. His wife, Eleanor (Davidhizar) 53 joined him there after finishing the first semester of teaching at Orrville, Ohio.

On Nov. 26 Royal 53 and Florence (Goodman) 52 Hower, both registered nurses, joined the staff of the La Plata, Puerto Rico Mennonite hospital.

David 53 and Rosanna (Yoder) 53 Hostetler are both teaching at the Sonnenberg Mennonite School, Apple Creek, Ohio.

Samuel H. and Joyce (Eigsti) 53 Hofer are living at 1634 Race, Denver 6, Colo. Samuel is in I-W service at Mercy Hospital, Denver.

A new church building is being constructed for the Wawasee Lakeside Chapel, which formerly held services in the Turkey Creek Conservation Club Building. The chapel is sponsored by the Indiana-Michigan Mennonite Mission Board. Herbert Yoder 52 is pastor. From the beginning, staff for the work has been supplied largely by the Y. P. C. A. of the college.

Mrs. John Smoker (Rita Clemens) 54 is teaching in the academy department of North Park College, North Chicago, Ill., while John 52 is a junior at Northwestern University Medical School.

Darrel Otto x52 has been teaching a book study course in the School of Nursing at the Mennonite Hospital, La Junta, Colo. Darrel and his wife are unit leader and matron for the group of approximately twenty young people in voluntary service at the hospital.

"I am busy (sometimes dizzy!) teaching 38 4th graders in what I am told is an outstanding Baltimore school," writes E. Louise Croyle 54, 203 Midhurst Road, Baltimore 12, Md.

A farewell service and fellowship sponsored by the local congregation was held in the Union Auditorium, Goshen College, for Joe 54 and Emma (Sommers) 50 Richards, missionaries under appointment to Japan, Sunday evening, Nov. 14. Joe and Emma sailed from San Francisco Nov. 28.

David Mann 54 was licensed for the ministry at the Hannibal, Mo., Mennonite Mission Church, Oct. 31.

Nathan Nussbaum 54 was installed as assistant pastor at the Maple Grove Mennonite Church, New Wilmington, Pa., Oct. 10.

John Paul Oyer 54 is serving as associate pastor of the Leetonia, Ohio, Mennonite Church.

Paul Yake 54 is working in the Sales and Advertising Department of the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa. One of the major projects on which he has worked was the preparation of the firm's 1955 general catalog.

Harry Graber 54, Auburn, Ind., is doing his I-W work among Navaho Indian children. His address is Box 282, Tuba City, Arizona.

Reports from India indicate that John 54 and Miriam (Weaver) x55 Beachy completed their oral exams following their second year of Hindi study with flying colors.

Allen Kanagy 54 is doing his I-W service in crafts and sanitation work with the Mennonite unit at Palo Hincado, Puerto Rico. He arrived in Puerto Rico Nov. 26.

Bernelle Good x54 has joined the staff at the Ninth Street Mennonite Church, Saginaw, Mich.

Ross adv th 54 and Ruth pt 54 Goldfus, missionaries under appointment to Argentina, have received their permit for permanent residence in that country. At present they are studying Spanish at La Plata, Puerto Rico.

Curt Classen 54 and family are returning to India following their furlough. Working under the General Conference Mennonite Church, their address will be Janjgir, M. P., India. Since the time of his graduation, Curt has been serving a church in Beatrice, Nebr.

Howard W. Rush x55 explains that his plans to return to Goshen College this year did not materialize because of his responsibilities as minister for the Bristol, Pa., Mennonite Church. He was ordained Sept. 26.

James Yordy x55 has completed his PAX service in Europe and has returned to his home in Chicago.

Theron x56 and Evelyn Weldy, Wakarusa, Ind., have joined the VS unit at the Mennonite Home for the Aged, Eureka, Ill.—Evelyn as nurse aid and housekeeping assistant and Theron to help with the activity program and general maintenance work.

Among the eighteen freshmen students participating in the acceptance service for the class of 1957 at the La Junta, Colo., Mennonite School of Nursing Dec. 5 were Janet Lambright x57, Lagrange, Ind.; Lois Mann x55, Goshen, Ind.; and Jewell Yoder x57, Oyster Point, Va.

Of Horses and Teakettles

Horse Trails Along the Desert, by Sanford C. Yoder; Scottdale, Pa., Herald Press (c1954). 181 pages. $2.50.

For thirty years Goshen College students have known Sanford C. Yoder as a teacher, an administrator, a minister of the Gospel, and a leader in the Mennonite Church. If they arose early enough in the morning during the days of his presidency, they may have caught glimpses of his tall, muscular figure in stately stride along the front walk as he came to work. They have known him as a man who loved to teach Bible and inspired his students as he taught. They have found him a friendly counselor. They have known, too, that he could be firm when firmness was necessary. They have found him an excellent story-teller. Most of them have known that he had been a farmer before he came to Goshen—that, having studied law, he turned from aspirations to be a lawyer and answered the call to the ministry in the church of his fathers. Few have suspected, until someone told them, that he had once been a buckaroo on the western frontier.

When you sit down to read Horse Trails, you are drawing up a chair opposite S. C. Yoder as he reminisces his buckaroo days. While the book is autobiographical, covering the author's few years as a homesteader in the Columbia river valley in southeastern Washington, it is more than autobiographical. With a characteristic love for geography, he tells us much about the characteristics of the land in which he lived. With a love for a people, he describes those who came and went through those years. He traces their historical backgrounds which help to explain why they were as they were when he knew them. Among his acquaintances were Indians and some of the well-known men who stood as the last representatives of the roaring days of the Wild West—men whom he knew personally and whose stories he gives at some length. Throughout the book the story is typically Sanford Yoder's story, told in his own manner with a liberal seasoning of his philosophy of life woven into it. The book is illustrated by one of his Goshen College students, Ezra Hershberger 34.

I asked the author how many autographing parties he has had since the book appeared. There were two—one at the Herald Bookstore, Souderton, Pa., Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, Nov. 12 and 13, followed by a talk which he gave to over five hundred young people at a monthly meeting of Franconia Mennonite youth in the Blooming Glen, Pa., Mennonite Church, and one at the Goshen College Bookstore during Homecoming weekend. "Of course, I've had a continuous one in my office," he added.

We talked a bit about the "Horse Trail" country and the current project to develop through irrigation a large area in the locale of the book. He indicated on a map the approximate part of Washington in which he had lived. (A major fault of the book is the fact that there is no map to show where the events took place. One can guess by consulting maps of Washington, but so many of the landmarks, i. e., the Rattlesnake and Saddle mountains, are not indicated on some of these maps.) Last summer he and his wife found that the site of their old home lies behind the boundaries of the Hanford atomic energy project, and that they could visit it only by special permission and under escort. "Then you couldn't tell if the teakettle was still there or not," I remarked. "Well, if we would have gone in, and it would have been there, I would have brought it along," he replied.

The teakettle plays a major role in the last chapter, which is the best in the entire book. Don't skip the rest, though, in your hurry to get to this literary gem. You need the rest of the book to fully appreciate "The Return of the Prodigal." Then when you have read it, you'll close the book with a bit of the same lump that must have been in Sanford Yoder's throat as he wrote it. nps

EVER SINGING—Every time we sing our Alma Mater we proclaim that we are a singing college. And it is true. We sing in daily chapel—hundreds of us together. We sing in our Sunday services. Each spring our choruses go throughout the country singing. There have been times when we have had several organized quartets active in our community, as well as in nearby communities and states, but quartet singing seems to have hit a slump on our campus just now. From how many small colleges could you gather a group of faculty members such as were present at the Don and Dorothy McCammon wedding a few years ago, give them the words to hymns without the music, and have such good harmony as we had then? In the absence of organized instrumental ensembles, we have usually been able as occasion rose to draw from our student body and faculty on short notice ensembles which did creditable work. Music is part of our heritage. It seems to be a growing interest which makes new demands on our Music Department and promises a richer heritage in the years to come.

As we promised in the last issue of the Newsletter, we are giving space in this issue to the work and needs of the Music Department. Although the space given to the Music Department in the College Union was much better than the rooms they had used in the Administration Building, there was much to be desired. The partitions between studios and classrooms were not given adequate sound insulation. The total space was small in proportion to student enrollment in music courses. Most serious of all, perhaps, was the problem relating to individual practice rooms. Four little rooms were insufficient. Steam pipes and pianos do not make good roommates. And pity the poor people in the offices above the practice rooms! The ceilings, rather than serving as noise insulators, were filters that frequently distorted the sounds from the rooms below. At its best, practice music does not compare with Concert Hall recordings.

Plans for the new Arts Building include new quarters for the Music Department. We present these plans for your information and inspiration. Ever singing—joyously and triumphantly, sometimes falteringly and discordantly—as we grow together in Christian love and experience. Let's keep singing.

CAPITAL EXPANSION—These needs which we have emphasized in recent issues of the Newsletter are merely samples of other needs which compare with industry's needs for capital expansion in a growing concern. Excess profits taxes may be good sources of government revenue. But if they eat too closely, industry cannot provide for capital expansion. Without capital expansion, the nation's economy is bound to suffer. From time to time, our college administrators are advised that they had better close the college, if they cannot operate the college at a profit without repeatedly coming to the constituency to appeal for funds. Which one of you as alumni can boast that you paid your full proportionate share of the cost of your education when you were students here? It is not conceivable that the college can continue the program you want it to have without coming to you again and again for help. The education you have received is one of your capital assets. In turn, are you part of the capital assets of Goshen College?

There were eighty of our alumni serving with the Mennonite Central Committee at the end of last November, according to the MCC annual report. They constitute one sixth of the total MCC personnel.

We rejoice with the La Junta, Colo., Mennonite Hospital in the full accreditation it received Dec. 14 from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. Many of our alumnae are also alumnae of the School of Nursing associated with the hospital.

New Quarters for Music Department

Walter E. Yoder

Music is one of the fine arts. Its means of expression is tone, or musical sound—beautiful under right conditions, but very distressing under unfavorable conditions. When Kulp Hall was first built, the Music Department had a studio and a number of practice rooms on the first floor. From the beginning, Goshen College music classes have met in Ad. 22, which has also been a chorus rehearsal room. Early in the 1940's several individual practice rooms were built in the basement of the Administration Building. Up to 1950 the Music Department had no building, or even a part of a building where it was not disturbing other departments or classes. (May I here express my appreciation to my colleagues on the faculty and to alumni for their long-suffering and gentle kindness.) By 1950 there were three teachers in the department. In order to give them more adequate quarters the College built three studios, a classroom, and a listening room in the basement of the College Union. Individuals still use the practice rooms in the Administration Building, while choruses rehearse at various places on the campus. Although this has been a great improvement, there is need for additional space better suited to the needs of the department.

President Mininger and the Mennonite Board of Education are making plans to build a new Arts Building. The first floor of this structure is to be occupied by the Music Department. For the first time the department will feel that it has a home on the Goshen College Campus—a place where it can centralize all its teaching facilities. The building is to be of concrete construction with modern means of sound insulation between all rooms and departments. Taking advantage of the research that has gone into this problem, we expect to be able to cut off all sound to and from other departments as well as sounds between classrooms, practice rooms, and studios. A growing Goshen College demands that we be ready to care for the needs of more students, which means we will need more rooms and more teachers. There will be six studios for teaching Voice, Piano, Violin, Violoncello, and other instruments as the demand arises. There will be space for sixteen practice rooms, some larger than others, so that they may be used for small ensembles, or for cello practice with piano. Some of the practice rooms should be equipped with both piano and tape recorder, so that the student can listen to his last lesson and see where he may improve his techniques. Two listening rooms are provided to enable different groups of students to listen to assigned music at the same time. For individual students there will be two booths. One large room provided with both music and art equipment, storage cupboard with sink for the art work and a piano and record player for music, is designed for Fine Arts classes. Classes in theory will use a smaller classroom with plenty of blackboard space and a piano. A third classroom for the small advanced seminar classes may also be equipped with shelves for the music library. In the corridors there will be storage cabinets for chorus gowns and school instruments. Other wall space will be covered with bulletin boards for Fine Arts displays.

Music in the Curriculum

Mary Oyer

The Music Department is concerned first of all with training music majors in its four-year curriculum. The majority of these students—approximately six graduates each year—are preparing to teach and choose the sixty-hour music supervisor program. An increasing number are entering the field of music therapy after graduation. James Brownsberger 51 and Rebecca Sprunger 53 have completed music therapy training and received licenses. John M. Suderman 54 is working in that program now. Carol Hostetler 52 and LaMar Holoway 54 have positions in the same area in our church mental institutions. Martin Friedmann 50 did similar work in a hospital in the East. Two present students, Darrel Hostetler 55 and Glen Brubacher 55, are combining music with theological study.

The music major plan leads to the Bachelor of Arts degree. The music faculty has considered building a more specialized program leading to the Bachelor of Music degree but has continued to prefer a broader liberal arts education. Our present policy encourages specialization toward a specifically musical degree in graduate study. However, the time may soon be ripe for the addition of the B.Mus., particularly for students who may wish to concentrate on voice or an instrument in further study. Such a development would mean enlarging our faculty and expanding our offerings.

We are grateful for the help which our music graduates have given us in evaluating our program. In the 1952-53 school year our music faculty sent out a rather extensive questionnaire to the sixty graduates of our program. We were encouraged by responses from thirty-three alumni. Out of their suggestions certain developments and changes in our program have come:

1. We have added a course in chorus materials, which may be elected along with chorus directing. It includes a field trip to Chicago to visit music supply houses.

String Quartet

2. Students may gain additional choral conducting experience by directing choirs in neighboring churches. We have an increasing number of requests for leaders for both children and adult groups.

3. Our applied music program is expanding to include more frequent group meetings. Voice students, piano and string players meet occasionally to perform for each other. Students are giving more informal recitals in order to ease the tension of public recitals and to profit from the suggestions of the group.

4. Our instrumental program is growing. At the present time our part-time instructor in piano has a large group of students. One of the three full-time faculty members is prepared to teach stringed instruments. Wood-wind and brass players may study with well-trained teachers who come to Goshen from Elkhart. We have three ensembles functioning this year—a brass group, a wood-wind quintet, and a string quartet. A few students in the last few years have played in the Elkhart Symphony Orchestra, a civic group, which presents four or five concerts each year. Goshen College alumni are encouraging us in various ways. The class of '32 generously donated a violin and a cello to help our instrumental program. We welcome any further suggestions which alumni may have.

A large percentage of our graduates have attended graduate school. The returns from our questionnaire reveal that at least three fourths of the group have taken or plan to take additional study. Leonard Hurst has earned his master's degree since 1952, and Lowell Byler, James A. Miller, and Ralph Wade will receive degrees yet this year.

We are happy to see so many of these graduates working in church institutions or helping with church choruses along with their full-time public school teaching. Our interest is to develop Christian musicians at Goshen College—musicians who are well trained in the theory and practice of music, but also musicians who are sympathetic to their church's heritage and willing to discover ways of working within that framework.

Spring Choral Activities

Dwight Weldy

Spring again brings increased activity for our college choruses. Throughout the remainder of the school year each of the three choruses on campus —Collegiate directed by Clifford King, A Cappella directed by Dwight Weldy, and Motet Singers directed by Mary Oyer—will sing individual programs in churches near Goshen. During the Easter vacation the Motet Singers and A Cappella Chorus will tour for ten days. The twenty-three motet singers are scheduled to travel as far west as Denver, Colo., and will sing in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri. A Cappella, with sixty-four singers, is scheduled to sing in Michigan, Ontario, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. Both choruses are scheduled to take a week-end trip March 19-20, Motet Singers to Chicago and Kouts, Ind., while A Cappella travels to Fulton County, Ohio, and Berne, Ind. On Sunday, March 27, the Motet Singers will sing their tour program in the College Union. A Cappella will sing their program at the College after the Easter tour on April 17. The Motets are featuring Bach's motet Jesu Priceless Treasure. The A Cappella Chorus will include in its program a Story of Christ in song with a script.

Piano Trio Recital

Saturday evening in Assembly Hall Carolyn (Weaver) Hertzler 46, pianist; Lawrence Burkhalter of Bluffton, Ohio, violinist; and Mary Oyer 45, cellist, presented a piano trio recital. Carolyn has been Instructor in Piano at Goshen College for the past two years. Mr. Burkhalter, a graduate of Bluffton College, is now Instructor in Violin there and music instructor in the public schools at Pandora, Ohio. Mary, who has studied cello with Leonard Rose, is Assistant Professor of Music at Goshen College.

All movements of three trios were played: Mozart's #5 in G Major, Beethoven's #5 in D Major, and the Brahms trio in C Minor, Opus 101. The recital was a worship experience. The musicians played with a freshness that was simple and beautiful. Their fine technique did not interfere with artistic and sensitive performance. Although they had played together only a very short time, their playing had balance and unity which came from a basic oneness of desire and purpose. They had something to say and were able to captivate the audience into willing and reverent listening. It was a privilege to have shared this experience.—Irmgard Klassen 58.

Church Music Conference in Chicago

The Music Secretaries of the Christian Workers Cabinets of Mennonite district conferences met in a special church music conference at the Mennonite Home Mission in Chicago, March 3 and 4. Persons presenting papers were Paul Erb fac 39-46, Scottdale, Pa.; Walter E. Yoder 33, Mary Oyer 45, Dwight Weldy 37, and Karl Massanari 36 of Goshen College; Hiram Hershey of Christopher Dock Mennonite School, Lansdale, Pa.; J. Mark Stauffer of Eastern Mennonite College, Harrisonburg, Va.; and Paul M. Yoder 50, Hesston, Kans., College and Bible School. John P. Duerksen 37 of Hesston College and Bible School, Secretary of Church Music of the Mennonite Commission for Christian Education which sponsored the conference, served as chairman.

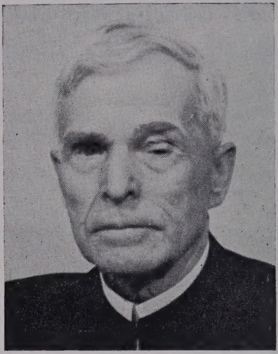
Aged Leader Passes



Jan. 19 marked the close of a life of unusual service to church and community, when Daniel D. Miller passed away at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Augsburger, in Middlebury, Ind. Born in Lagrange County, Ind., Nov. 10, 1864, he had spent most of his life in the Middlebury community. For sixty years he taught in the public schools. In succession in the 1890's and early 1900's he served the Forks Mennonite Church as deacon and minister, and he was ordained bishop there in 1906, serving until the infirmities of age caused him to retire from the office. Early in the history of Goshen College he served the school for a few years as instructor in the winter Bible school. He was a member of the executive committee of the Mennonite Board of Education from 1909 to 1925, as vice president from 1909 to 1913 and 1921 to 1924 and as secretary from 1913 to 1920. From 1917 to 1942 he was bishop of the College Mennonite Church. Besides his contribution in these activities, he served the church in many other capacities, particularly as a member for many years of the executive committee of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities.

He was married to Jeanette Hostetler in 1889. She and two of their children, Truman T. x19 and Bertha Elizabeth x21, preceded him in death. The children who survive are Orie O. 15, Ernest E. 17, Ida (Mrs. Ben Schertz) a14, Clara (Mrs. Arthur Augsburger) x20, Wilbur W. 22, Kathryn (Mrs. Ray A. Yoder) x24, Alice (Mrs. Chauncey Oesch) x24, Samuel S. 32, and Mabel (Mrs. William Jennings). Two of his sons, Orie O. and Ernest E., have served on the faculty of the College—Orie as principal of the School of Business and instructor in commerce from 1912 to 1915 and Ernest as associate professor of education, 1939-1940, as president, 1940-1954, and as professor of education since 1940.

Recreation Workshop

Goshen College was host to representatives from Mennonite and Affiliated Colleges in a recreation workshop held in the College Union March 18 and 19. The workshop arose out of a discussion between Roman Gingerich 41 of Goshen's Physical Education Department and Oswald Goering of Bethel College. Later contacts with Evan Oswald 51 of Hesston College and Bible School and Vernon Wiebe of Tabor College indicated sufficient interest to justify a workshop. When the idea was presented to the Council of Mennonite and Affiliated Colleges, the Council encouraged Goshen College to proceed with plans for such a workshop.

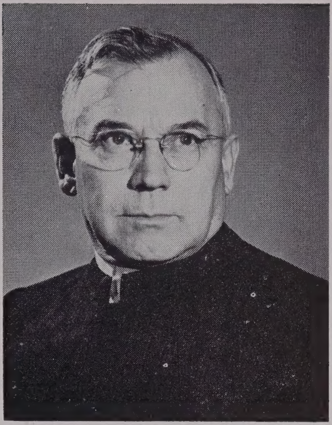
President Mininger appointed Roman Gingerich, chairman, Karl Massanari, Glen R. Miller, Edith Herr, Ruth Gunden, and Melvin Gingerich as a planning committee. The objectives as outlined by the committee were: to study the purpose of campus recreation, to evaluate present programs, to share program ideas, to receive guidance from an experienced campus recreation leader outside of the group, to work on problems arising out of school situations, and to discover possibilities of projecting our recreation program into the local community and the church at large. Invitations went to the following schools to send representative faculty members and students: Bethel College, North Newton, Kans.; Bluffton, Ohio, College; Eastern Mennonite College, Harrisonburg, Va.; Freeman, S. Dak., Junior College; Hesston, Kans., College and Bible School; Messiah College, Grantham, Pa.; Tabor College, Hillsboro, Kans.; and Upland, Calif., College. Robert Tully, Assistant Professor of Recreation at Indiana University and a member of the Church of the Brethren, served as resource person.

With registration at 1:00 p.m. March 18, the workshop consisted of three study sessions, a dinner meeting with an address and a discussion period, a tour of Mennonite Youth Village and Camp Friedenswald in southern Michigan, and recreational activities. Mr. Tully addressed the group on the topics: "Christ Speaks to the Recreation Point of View," "Training of Campus Recreational Leaders," and "What Is the Responsibility of the College to Provide Recreation for Non-College Groups?"

Conrad Grebel Lectures

This year two Conrad Grebel lecturers are presenting their studies to Mennonite audiences. The lectureships, sponsored and subsidized by the Mennonite Board of Education, were instituted to enable individual leaders to devote major time to research and preparation of papers on problems of current concern to the Mennonite Church.

G. F. Hershberger, chairman of the Divison of Social Sciences at Goshen College, presented his lectures at the College Jan. 31 through Feb. 6. In the series entitled "The Way of the Cross in Human Relations," the successive lectures trace the Scriptural basis, the historic background in Christendom and in Anabaptism, and the practical application of the way of the cross in human relations.

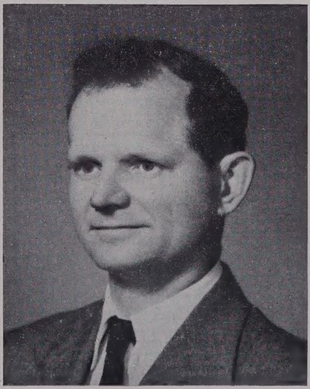


Paul Erb

G. F. Hershberger

Feb. 1-3 at Hesston College, Paul Erb, secretary of Mennonite General Conference and editor of the Gospel Herald, presented his lectures on "The Alpha and Omega"—a study of the parousia or return of Christ. With a warning against futile and fatal deviations in eschatological study, Erb explains that the key to the understanding of eschatology is simply to add nothing to and to take nothing away from the Scriptures. He describes a tension in the work of Christ, in the life of the Christian, and in the Christian Church, arising from the fact that Christ, aeternus, invaded time, temporalis, and inaugurated a work to be fulfilled instantaneously, then again in the interregnum, and finally when He returns again. The tension arises out of the difficulty the mortal mind finds in thinking of the work of Christ aside from its purely temporal aspects.

Hartzler Elected A.S.A. President



H. Harold Hartzler, member of the Goshen College faculty since 1937 and present Professor of Mathematics, has been elected president of the American Scientific Affiliation. As secretary of the Association during the past few years, he has been a staunch supporter and active promoter of the organization. He explains the history and purposes of A.S.A.:

"Starting in 1941 with a membership of five, the American Scientific Affiliation has shown a steady growth in membership. Today over 640 Christian men of science from this country and a number of foreign countries are attempting to further its objectives. According to its constitution, the objectives are as follows: (a) to integrate and organize the efforts of many individuals desiring to correlate the facts of science and the Holy Scriptures, (b) to promote and encourage the study of the relationship between the facts of science and the Holy Scriptures, (c) to promote the dissemination of the results of such studies.

"There are two basic requirements for membership in this organization. First, one must have a bachelor's degree with a major in science from some recognized institution of higher learning. Second, one must sign the doctrinal statement, since only born-again Christians who believe that the Bible is the inspired Word of God are desired. This doctrinal statement is as follows:

> I believe the whole Bible as originally given to be the inspired Word of God, the only unerring guide of faith and conduct. Since God is the Author of this Book, as well as the Creator and Sustainer of the physical world about us, I believe there can be no discrepancies between Biblical statements and scientific observations when both are properly interpreted. Accordingly, trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of God, my Saviour, for strength, I pledge myself to the furtherance of the task of the A.S.A.

"A number of activities are carried on in order to promote the objectives of the A.S.A. An annual convention has been held since 1946, when the first one was held at Wheaton College. In 1950 the convention was held at Goshen College, and in 1954 it was held at Eastern Mennonite College. This year two conventions are planned. The first is to be a joint meeting of the American Scientific Affiliation with the Evangelical Theological Society to be held June 21-24 at Winona Lake, Ind. The second is to be held Aug. 23-26 at Star Ranch, Colorado Springs, Colo. At these meetings prepared papers bearing on science and the Bible are read. Open discussion follows the reading of each paper. The warm Christian fellowship of these meetings is something that needs to be experienced in order to be appreciated.

"A publication program consisting of books, monographs, tracts, and a Journal is carried on so as to extend the services of the A.S.A. beyond the borders of its own membership. A symposium volume Modern Science and Christian Faith, published by Van Kampen Press, has been written by members of the Affiliation. The purpose of this book is to help college students and others who may be having intellectual struggles with what seem to be contradictions between the teachings of science and parts of the inspired Word of God. The Journal of the American Scientific Affiliation contains many of the papers presented at the annual conventions, besides news items and short articles of interest to the membership. Any of the publications of the A.S.A. may be purchased through the office of the secretary-treasurer.

"The immediate control of the affairs of the A.S.A. is vested in an executive council of five members. The present members of the council, beside myself, are vice president, Brian P. Sutherland, Administrative Assistant, Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada; secretary-treasurer, Hendrik J. Oorthuys, Assistant Professor of Electrical Engineering, Purdue University; editor, Elbert N. Eggenberger, Research Chemist, Armour and Company; fifth member, John R. Howitt, Superintendent, Ontario Hospital."

Wineys Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

Samuel Winey—you'll recall him if you were a student here in the last decade. He was always somewhere about the campus from early morning until late evening, busy at some task about the buildings and grounds. He has retired now, and well he might. Because he had reached retirement age in 1942, he left the job he had held for eighteen years as caretaker of a large junior high school building in Colorado Springs, Colo. With his wife Minnie (Good)—you'll remember her as the little woman who was always with him at church services and public programs—he came east to live with his daughter Lois 36 of the college faculty. From the time of his coming to Goshen until 1950 Mr. Winey celebrated his "retirement" by serving the college as superintendent of buildings and grounds. In recent years his responsibility has been the college heating plant, and more recently assisting with the maintenance of grounds.

Sunday afternoon, Jan. 30, the Wineys kept open house at their home across Main Street from the campus. They spent the first part of their fifty years together on farms near Peabody, Kans., and La Junta, Colo. For several years Mr. Winey managed the farm connected with the Mennonite tuberculosis sanitarium at La Junta. Interestingly, the sanitarium is closing during the Wineys' jubilee year. New methods of treatment have lessened the need for sanitarium facilities. Besides their daughter Lois, the Wineys have a foster daughter Mabel (Mrs. Paul Drinnon) x43, who lives with her family at Colorado Springs.

From Tokyo—Carl Kreider

(Carl Kreider's year-end letter to the college faculty tells of family and school activities.)

Dear Friends:

You may be interested in knowing a few of my activities since returning to Japan. My first task in the summer was to clear my desk after my three weeks of absence and to get back at my responsibility in connection with the rather substantial building program which is going on at our campus.

I had so much work on the campus I was not able to get away for a vacation. We did, however, take one very hurried trip to Hokkaido. Alan spent his time with a missionary family in nearby Sendai, but we took Rebecca and Stephen with us. It takes two nights and a day to get there by train. We were on the train a total of four nights and we spent three nights in Hokkaido, one each with the Becks, Buckwalters, and Kanagys. We also spent about seven hours at the Rebers but we were not there overnight. I was impressed with two things as a result of this trip. In the first place, I was impressed with the excellent quality of work which our missionaries are doing in the respective communities. Their problems vary from one community to another because some of them are much more urbanized areas than the others. In all cases there has been a sincere attempt to identify themselves with the communities in which they are living. This, it seems to me, is a sound approach and is an indication of the thoughtful and consecrated way in which they are going about their work. The second thing which impressed me was the economic possibility of Hokkaido. In many respects it is quite different from the other parts of Japan which I have visited and I feel certain that it will continue to develop in the years which are ahead. When one travels in the parts of Japan near Tokyo one is constantly reminded of the age of the traditions and of the buildings. In Hokkaido, on the other hand, things are young and seem to be very much in a state of flux.

After our return from Hokkaido I went to Osaka for three days for a conference on general education. One of the special services which I think ICU can render in Japan is an assistance in the program of developing general education. In the summer of 1953 ICU together with the Christian Education Association sponsored a one-week workshop in general education at Aoyama Gakuin University in downtown Tokyo. It was felt that this year we should go to the Osaka area in order to reach in a better way some of the faculty members in that area. The result was really very gratifying. We had about 60 faculty members participating and the interest was excellent. I read a paper on improvement of instruction which attracted a good deal of attention. Since there are a number of universities in the Osaka area it was decided not to hold a conference on the campus of any of them but rather to use a Japanese inn in the area. This was also a very interesting experience for us. It was a beautiful, quiet place though unfortunately we were not able to use the garden because of the almost constant rain.

The conference at Osaka lasted Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. I got a night train for Tokyo Wednesday night and arrived here on the campus Thursday morning for a three-day planning session with the ICU faculty. We have had these sessions each summer thus far and one of the reasons that we chose the end of the summer rather than the beginning, as we had on the other two occasions, was that I left for America immediately after the end of our class sessions in early July. Our faculty planning sessions have also been a great deal of an inspiration. Each year the size of the faculty itself has shown amazing growth since the first session was held in the summer of 1952.

The faculty planning conference ended on Saturday night and classes began on Monday morning. I am teaching nine hours a week most of the time this fall and so this keeps me very busy in addition to my administrative responsibilities.

I am also continuing my Bible study classes this year. We are making a study of the Book of Acts. Evelyn also has a small group that meets with her in studying the Psalms. Her group is an international one and contains a girl from China and the daughter of the American Consul General here in Tokyo.

Clara Eshleman arrived in Tokyo and we were hoping to have her with us for Christmas Day. She called us by telephone last night to tell us that she would be leaving immediately for Korea. We were very sorry that we did not even get to see her. Although our address is Tokyo it is considerable matter of inconvenience for someone to come out here from downtown unless they are familiar with the transportation system. Joe Richards arrived a week or so ago and will be with us for Christmas along with the McCammons, the Wingerts, and Charles Burkhart.

Our children are enjoying their school again this year. Stevie is now in the first grade, Rebecca in the fourth, and Alan the eighth. The two younger ones are very fortunate this year in having rides both to and from school in a car. They ride in with a missionary friend of ours and then ride home with Mrs. Roy Wenger. You recall Roy joined our faculty last summer, and his wife is teaching kindergarten in the same school where our children attend.

Sincerely yours,

Carl Kreider 36

From a Teacher in Malaya

L. Caroline Plank s44 tells us her address for the next two years will be 12 Young Road, Kuala Lumpur, Malaya. In regard to her work, she explains:

"At present here in Malaya, I am not working with any other members of the Mennonite Church, and yet I do not feel as if I am completely separated from them. By getting the Herald Press publications and college bulletins I am able to know what the church is doing and also the spirit in which she is doing it. This is a strength to one in one's daily work.

"The percentage of the various constituent peoples of Malaya varies from place to place. Here in the capital of the Federated States of Malaya, Kuala Lumpur, we have Chinese, Indians and Ceylonese, Malays, and Europeans. In the Methodist Girls School where I am working the largest group is Chinese, while the Malays are scarcely a sixth of the school population. At present I am doing very little classroom teaching, but the daily chapels in the Junior School as well as all the Scripture classes are my responsibility. Then, too, we are reorganizing the library and using the Dewey Decimal system which takes much time. Fortunately one of the teachers of the Senior School had worked in the United States Information Service here in Kuala Lumpur and she goes ahead with the actual cataloging. All free time is devoted to the library. Another interesting project at present is the making of character training courses for the Malay girls. (The law protects the Malays, usually Mohammedans, from involuntarily listening to the Gospel and thus they are not allowed to go to chapel or to take Scripture.) The teachers and I have worked together to make up character building courses on their own grade levels for workshops and discussions for the Malay girls. We have over 2,000 girls in the school and it is difficult to help individuals as we would like to do; so we try to watch every opportunity.

"To be sure it is like lifting up the world by the bootstraps when character building is taught without giving Christ as the foundation upon which to build, but we feel that we are preparing soil that will make the quest voluntary. Then, too, the Malay girls are only a small part of the total amount of girls that we reach and work with.

"The MYF, the Sunday school, and the church offer many other opportunities for contacts and service and one can realize the joy of souls finding Christ and growing in Him. As one works in school and church the appreciation for teachers and instructors in the past increases. And no doubt some of those instructors would be amused and surprised to know what some of their former students are called upon to do and do do!"

From a "Bauer" in Berlin

Berlin-Dahlem
am Hirschsprung 68.
January 18, 1955

Dear Friends,

Never before have I received so many greetings during a Christmas and New Year Season from the New World as was the case this time. Letters and cards arrived on my desk from many places in the U. S. and other states, for which I am very grateful and happy indeed as well as for all other ties which keep us in our relationship. Some of these ties were expressed in print which gave rise to the idea to use the medium way between an impersonal print and the personal letter. Please, permit me to chat with you in this way today. I would rather do it this way than to have you wait.

This is now the second winter during which I study at the Berlin Technical University at the Agricultural Department. I am now in the 5th semester of required studies here in Germany, actually in the 7th, if I add the time I was enabled to spend at Goshen College. At the end of this year, probably by November 1st, I am supposed to take the Master's exams, at the end of the 6th semester. If plans carry I shall then return to Hohensheim for further training and to get the Dr. degree. Do think of me when I am to take the tests!

The time I spent in Indiana is called to my attention at many occasions. Often this is the case when our student group discusses such topics as are related to modern farm implements. However the same is also true in relation to the thesis I am to write for the Master's degree. The subject concerns itself with the personality of the farm operator and its effects upon organization and production of that respective farm. Working on this subject I shall heavily rely upon the material I gathered at the College.

However there is more to be done in the island-city of West Berlin. Living with my parents has brought me into close contact with the duties and challenges of our Berlin Mennonite congregation, of which my father is the Elder and Minister. Here again many of the things I learned during my apprenticeship in Southwest Germany as well as during my stay in the U.S., I can put to use. I was charged with the responsibility for the young people's group shortly after taking up my studies in my home city.

It so happened that the Christmas Season proved to be a very turbulent one. On Dec. 23 burial ceremonites were held for a beloved member of our church, Dad's own sister, a mother of one daughter, who died of cancer. Dec. 29 a youth retreat got under way which was attended by 60, two thirds from the Eastern Zone. This meeting turned out to be a real blessing to those spiritually undernouished folks, as well as to those who came from the West. They saw the great challenge which is given to us Mennonites in serving our brethren behind the Iron Curtain through the service to the Berlin congregation. Do think of us, please; the need is beyond our ability in every phase of life!

Sincerely yours,
Wolfgang Schultz x55

Personals

1912

After forty-one years of service at the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa., Charles B. Shoemaker a12 retired Feb. 2, 1955. Hi-Lights of the Mennonite Publishing House describes his services: "In the early days of this institution the workers were versatile because of necessity. While Charles' chief duties were in the Book Sales Department, he also served as shipping clerk, fireman, paper baler, and truck driver. As occasion required he assisted in the Secretary-Treasurer's Office, clerked in the Bookstore, and was later made head of the Book Department. In 1935 upon the death of Levi Mumaw he was elected Secretary-Treasurer of the House and in more recent years has continued as House Secretary and as subscription and Sunday-school literature circulation manager. He is deacon of the Scottdale Mennonite congregation."

1921-1930

Glenn S. Kropf 22 is director of Christian education and of the Wesley Foundation, University of Colorado, having transferred to work in Christian education after twenty years in public school administration.

L. S. Weber 27, Scottdale, Pa., and Gerald Studer 49, Orrville, Ohio, were guest speakers at the Christian Workers' Conference of the Ontario Mennonite Bible Institute at the First Mennonite Church, Kitchener, Feb. 8-10.

Nelson Litwiller 25, Buenos Aires, Argentina, and John Driver 50, La Plata, Puerto Rico, have been appointed as contact men for Argentine and Puerto Rican young people from our mission fields who are interested in attending Mennonite schools in the United States.

Tilman Smith 28, Eureka, Ill., presented a series of lectures for Sunday-school teachers at the Morton, Ill., Mennonite Church, each evening Jan. 16-19.

For a number of years the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities has maintained a mission station and VS unit at Mathis, Texas. Activities have included a kindergarten for Mexican children, a maternity home, and construction of homes for Spanish-speaking families in the area. Mission activities have led to a need for a new church building, and ground-breaking ceremonies were held Sunday afternoon, Jan. 16. Participating in the service were H. F. Reist 04, Premont, Texas, T. K. Hershey a11, Goshen, Ind. (temporarily of Mathis), and Paul Conrad x40, Mathis.

M. C. Vogt 27, missionary on furlough from Bihar, India, taught the course in Mennonite Foreign Missions in the Winter Bible Term at Hesston College.

William 29 and Beatrice (Hershey) 29 Hallman had planned to locate in Villegas, Argentina, after their return from furlough last year, but could not find housing there, and so they are living in the town of America. Among the difficulties that face them there is the fact that there is no high school in the town, and their daughter Elinor must take her high-school course by correspondence from Indiana University. Since cars in Argentina cost them from $8,000 to $10,000, they must rely on train and bus service to get them to the various outstations for which they are responsible.

During the Christmas holidays, Virgil Gerig x40, Smithville, Ohio, and fifteen young people from the Oak Grove Mennonite Church of which he is pastor, spent two days assisting with MCC work at Akron and Ephrata, Pa.

S. Paul 38 and Vesta (Nafziger) 32 Miller and family are planning to sail June 17 from India for their second furlough in America.

Alta Housour 35 has sailed from Formosa to Indonesia to do mission work there.

Youth and Nonconformity is the title of a new study course for Mennonite youth by John C. Wenger 34 of the College faculty. It is a series of thirteen lessons designed as a companion volume to the "quarterly" Youth and Nonresistance by Stan- ley C. Shenk 44, West Liberty, Ohio, published about a year ago. Both are publications of the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa.

Atlee Beechy 35, on leave of absence from his duties as dean of men at the College, is enrolled as a doctoral candidate in the graduate school of Ohio State University, studying in the fields of personnel guidance and higher education. Russel Liechty 53 is serving as acting dean of men in his absence.

John Lehman x37, La Plata, Puerto Rico, attended the meeting of the Association of Mennonite Hospitals and Homes in Chicago, Feb. 9 and 10, and spent the following week at the headquarters of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities in Elkhart, Ind., in the interests of Mennonite missionary work in Puerto Rico.

John 38 and Genevieve (Yoder) 38 Friesen and family left New York on the S.S. United States March 8 to return to the Mennonite mission in India.

At a meeting of the convention of the Indiana Implement Dealers' Association in December, Charles Gardner x38, of the Goshen, Ind., Implement Company, was elected vice president of the association.

Orus Eash x38, Traverse City, Mich., gave lectures on church architecture during Ministers' Week at Hesston College, Feb. 1-6. Others serving on the program included George R. Brunk wbt fac 52, Denbigh, Va., and Roy D. Roth 43, J. P. Duerksen 37, Maurice A. Yoder 27, of the Hesston College faculty. Following this conference Hesston College sponsored a Rural Life Conference, with Virgil Brenneman 51, Iowa City, Iowa, as guest speaker.

1941-1945

Robert W. Hartzler 41, Goshen, Ind., was Bible Week speaker at Freeman, S. Dak., Junior College, during the week of Feb. 27 through March 4.

Clayton Sutter x43, Eureka, Ill., has been appointed to serve as Secretary of Adult Activities in the Illinois Christian Education Cabinet, succeeding Robert Keller 47, who is no longer resident in the state. This secretaryship includes home and family interests.

According to the Evangelical Visitor the Medical Director of Northern Rhodesia is showing a very favorable attitude toward the Brethren in Christ medical unit at Macha, now that the doctor (Alvin Thuma 43) is there. Alvin finds construction problems multiplied with the nearest railroad forty-two miles away, a scarcity of sand in the area, and few skilled laborers.

Roy S. Koch ThB45, St. Jacobs, Ont., held meetings at the Blooming Glen, Pa., Mennonite Church, March 27 to April 3.

Returning from South America via England and Scotland after three years of service as a missionary in Argentina, Alice Yeater 44 arrived in New York City Jan. 22. At present she is with members of her family in New Paris, Ind.

B. Frank Byler 45, Trenque Lauquen, Argentina, participated in a Young People's Institute conducted by the Church of the Brethren at Cordoba, Argentina, in mid-January.

When the stockholders of the Hesston, Kans., Manufacturing Company met in their annual meeting Jan. 17, Lyle E. Yost 42, president, reported a net sales increase of 20 per cent in 1954. During the past two years addition of new buildings and equipment has nearly doubled the production potential of the company, which employs eighty persons at present.

Because of the medical needs in the Bihar district in India, Gladys (Weaver) 41 Becker spent several weeks at the Dhamtari hospital, observing diagnosis and treatment of cases, so that she would be able to supervise native nurses in clinics at Latehar and Bathet.

Adella (Brunk) Kanagy 44 has again been invited to teach Bible classes and hymns in the local Girls' Sewing School at Nakashibetsu, Japan. Many of the 120 girls attending the school this winter are showing their interest by buying their own songbooks.

1946-1950

Irene Bishop x47, Perkasie, Pa., and Mary (Shank) Lehman 43, Akron, Pa., were speakers at the World Day of Prayer program at Souderton, Pa., Feb. 26. Irene's reminiscences of seven years of relief work in Europe, which appeared first in MCC European Relief Notes, has been reprinted in the March issue of Christian Living. She is planning to return to Europe after an extended vacation in the homeland.

J. Frederick Erb 49, Detroit, Mich., was a guest speaker at a Christian Life Conference at West liberty, Ohio, the weekend of Jan. 2.

Mervin Swartzentruber 50, Middlebury, Ind., completed his I-W service Jan. 15. He is now employed at the Mennonite Publishing House to take charge of audio-visual materials used within the firm and to inaugurate a previewing and evaluating service for audio-visual materials, similar to the book reviewing service which has been maintained by the House for a number of years.

Elnora Schrock 48 is working at the Mennonite Publishing House, writing the Herald Intermediate Bible Studies for the third quarter, 1955, doing MYF work, and assisting Urie Bender s1954 in the Youth's Christian Companion office.

Luke Birky x50, who had been working in the business office at the Mennonite Hospital and Sanitarium, La Junta, Colo., has transferred to Pioneers Memorial Hospital, Rocky Ford, Colo., to serve in hospital administration, business administration, and collection of accounts.

Congratulations to Paul E. Hooley 50 who has opened an office for the general practice of medicine and surgery at DeGraff, Ohio. Paul studied medicine at the Indiana University medical school and has had experience in relief work under MCC in Ethiopia and Egypt.

Robert L. 50 and Rachel (Horst) 51 Stoltzfus, recently with the Hopkins Park project at St. Anne, Ill., are now at Madisonville, La., in mission work under the South Central Mennonite Mission Board.

Paul Witter 48 is assistant cashier at the Union National Bank, Souderton, Pa., and attends the American Institute of Banking twice weekly. His wife Gertrude (Moyer) 49 has a few piano students, with the balance of her time "well taken by four-year-old David and one-year-old Jimmy. With David in the question stage and Jimmy enjoying the pots and pans we never have a dull moment with our 'junior alumni.'" Paul, Gertrude, and Jimmy accompanied Paul's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Witter of Navarre, Kans., when they visited President Eisenhower in his personal office in the White House in January. Last year's students will recall hearing Mr. Witter tell of President Eisenhower's boyhood visits to the Witter farm. The two men are first cousins.

John R. Kennel 49, Gap, Pa., is serving as personnel manager of Victor F. Weaver, Inc., a Christian business firm at New Holland, Pa., engaged in poultry processing and employing approximately 200 employees.

John B. Horst 50, Los Angeles, Calif., left New York by freighter March 4 for two years of service with MCC in Jerusalem. John's duties will probably be keeping the records of the surplus food distribution program in Jordan.

Dale x50 and Kathleen (Yoder) x47 Swartzendruber are now living in Los Angeles, Calif., where Dale is teaching at the University of Southern California.

1951-1957

Two alumnae are preparing the Herald Primary Bible Lessons for the fourth quarter, 1955. Kathryn Aschliman 54, Goshen College, is writing the lessons, and Mrs. Donald Miller (Mary Lois Detweiler) 50, Philadelphia, Pa., is drawing the illustrations.

James Brownsberger 51 has been promoted to co-directorship of the Music Therapy Department at Norman Beatty Memorial Hospital, Westville, Ind.

Mahlon Stoltzfus 52 is operating the local store at Russian River, Alaska. One aspect of his work is the purchasing of furs from local trappers. He has an agreement with them whereby he allows them half of the market price when they bring in the furs and then pays them the remainder when he gets his returns from the fur auction. Children of the community who attend the Sunday school he and Mrs. Stoltzfus conduct for them inspire him by singing some of the Sunday-school choruses they have learned as they come into the store.

Cletus Hostetler 52, Louisville, Ohio, who received his master of science degree in physics at Ohio State University Dec. 17, is now employed as a physicist in the Electronic Tube Division of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation at Elmira, New York.

Wilbur Nachtigall pg 53 was installed as pastor of the La Junta, Colo., Mennonite Church, Jan. 2, succeeding Wesley Jantz, who had served as pastor there for three years.

Mary Oswald 54, Chappell, Nebr., is now medical records librarian at the Mennonite Hospital, La Junta, Colo.

Although the original term of service of Pax men with the LeTourneau organization in Peru ended in December, half of the team remained at the request of Mr. R. G. LeTourneau. Among the five remaining in Peru are Willard Ebersole 54, Warren, Ill.; Paul Fry 54, Manheim, Pa.; and William Nofziger x55, Wauseon, Ohio. The other half of the team has proceeded to Paraguay according to original plans and will assist in the construction of a graded road approximately 25 miles long from the freight terminal for three Mennonite colonies in the Chaco at Hoffnungsfeld to the rail head known as Kilometer 145. Carl Hooley x57, Elkhart, Ind., is in this group.

Patricia Nafziger x57, Hopedale, Ill., has begun a one-year term of voluntary service with the MCC as secretary and receptionist at Brook Lane Farm, Hagerstown, Md.

Floyd Sieber x57 and family sailed from New York on the S.S. Brazil March 10 to return to the Mennonite mission in Argentina.

Theron x56 and Evelyn Weldy have transferred from the service unit at the Eureka, Ill., Mennonite Home for the Aged to the Indian Migrant Unit, Phoenix, Ariz.

Mark pt55 and Pauline Lehman, after approximately two years of service at the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities headquarters in Elkhart, are now directing the rural mission-service program at Camp Rehoboth, Hopkins Park, St. Anne, Ill.

Mahlon and Esther (Berkey) 53 Cender of Dewey, Ill., are working with the Ulrich Foundation in Puerto Rico.

Lois P. Davidson 51, Garrett, Ind., was ordained as a missionary teacher at a service in her home church, the Garrett Brethren in Christ Church, March 13. She was scheduled to sail for the Brethren in Christ mission field in Southern Rhodesia March 23.

Allen Kanagy 53, serving his I-W years in Puerto Rico, writes: "We are in two rooms of the church at La Cuchilla. We truly had to set up housekeeping, including the making of some of our furniture! . . . Only on Tuesday and half of Wednesday will we be back at La Plata, partly to take care of the sanitation problems there—hauling the garbage. Our job here will be sanitation and community service. We will be working under the direction of the local sanitation dept., they supplying all our materials. Our recreation work will be both outside and inside the church in a room which will be partitioned off in the back of the church."

Leonard Gross 53, Doylestown, Pa., arrived in Rotterdam late in January to begin a period of service with MCC in Europe. The plans were that he should work with North German young people.

Following his graduation from Pennsylvania State College in January, Kenneth Horst x54, Leola, Pa., began work for the General Electric Company. During his first year with General Electric, Ken will be assigned for three-month periods to one of the GE plants. His first assignment is the testing of gas turbine engines at the Schenectady, N.Y., plant. His wife Sally (Weber) is working in the X-ray department of a small Catholic hospital in Schenectady.

Lewis Hartman 54, Harrisonburg, Va., is doing graduate work at George Washington University in Washington, D.C.

Wilmer Leichty 54, Albany, Oreg., is teaching third grade in a boarding school conducted by the Bureau of Indian Affairs at Tuba City, Ariz.

Meditations

Steps ahead in teacher education—the roar of a bulldozer—sunny skies after much-needed rain—students returning to the campus after the spring recess—the clutter of accumulated work that always seems to surround me. This is the background against which I write my editorial for May, and it seems to call for a bit of personal meditation.

Many of our alumni who have gone out to teach in our public schools have been excellent teachers—not so much because of their intellectual brilliance, but because of their sense of vocation, their love of the student, their Christian concern. In some instances there has been discrimination against them because of their religious beliefs. In many cases, they have been in demand because of the "plus" service they gave in the classroom and community. The best reward that can come to the people in our teacher education division, however, is the testimony that comes from the alumni themselves, when they say that their work takes on a special meaning for them because of the vision of service they caught while students at Goshen College. God, bless our teaching alumni.

This bulldozer roaring outside my window is a symbol of something that has been in process here at Goshen College for the past ten years and yet seems to be merely beginning. Goshen College is going to build a new building—no, two new buildings. And while the bulldozer scrapes out the excavation for the Nurses' Dormitory across Main Street from the Library, the west wing of the "Quad" sits, cut from its moorings, waiting for the movers to conduct it to a new location along the railroad tracks south of the Heating Plant, so that the bulldozer can excavate for the Arts Building. Sounds a bit presumptuous to be beginning two buildings at the same time, doesn't it? But we look at the old family homestead, and we are alarmed that these new buildings are still inadequate to properly care for Alma Mater's growing family. God, bless our administrative officers as they struggle with these problems of our physical needs.

Most of you alumni have had the experience of leaving the campus for vacation and returning again as school resumes. You recall the mixed emotions of leave-taking and reunion, both at school and at home. Few of you have had the experience of remaining on the campus when others leave. It takes so few hours to depopulate a campus, leaving it quiet and empty. I never cease to marvel at the speed of this transformation. The repopulation, not quite as rapid as the depopulation, is no less a marvel. The walks and classrooms come alive again. We bask in the comfortable feeling that once more things are as they should be. God, bless our returning students.

One of the joys that comes to the editor of the Newsletter is the consciousness he has of alumni activities. He sees the broad perspective of the far-reaching service for Christ in which our alumni are engaged. To cloud this experience comes the frustration from the paucity of real alumni "news." Someone commented that the Newsletter has been a good review of Gospel Herald "Field Notes," the Mennonite Weekly Review, and MCC Services Bulletin. Many items we report are secondhand material, drawn from many other publications than these three. In my darker moments, I've sometimes plotted an issue that would be strictly alumni "news." That single sheet, printed on only one side perhaps, would look pretty sickly. Some of the news reported is incorrect. I make no apologies when I have to get it from these sources. Some of your activities and accomplishments are overlooked. And again I make no apologies. If you got married, or had a baby, or were promoted, or died, tell me about it, and I'll tell your friends in our alumni circles. But seriously, don't wait for the big things to happen. Tell us about the interesting things that happen in your everyday work and your home life, particularly as they relate to your Christian service. We need this type of encouragement in our Christian lives. God help us to share experiences that we may grow through our sharing.

As for me, I'm happy in the clutter around me, not because it is cluttered, but because I feel that in the reduction of that clutter to an organized collection of material relating to the history of the Mennonite Church I can make my most effective contribution to Christ's kingdom on earth. And with the joy of worth-while work is the joy of home and family. God, bless us, each one, in work and home.

Shiny Shovels? Rusty Shovels? Shiny Shovels!

President Mininger Addresses Assembly Before Breaking Ground for Nurses' Dormitory

A warming sun and blue skies symbolized the hopes of Goshen College in its increasing service to church and community when President Paul Mininger broke ground for the Nurses' Dormitory and the Arts Building Thursday, March 31. The ceremony was held on the parking lot across Main Street from the Memorial Library where the dormitory is to stand. The Arts Building will be located south and east of Science Hall, approximately where the west wing of the "Quad" stood.

Designed to pay tribute to the help of the community, the service included greetings from Mayor Rollin Roth of Goshen; H. Ben Williams, Jr., treasurer of the Board of Directors of Elkhart General Hospital; and Walter R. Beardsley, chairman of the Elkhart section of the Fund Raising Organization. H. Clair Amstutz was chairman of the service, an octet of nursing students sang, I. E. Burkhart conducted the devotions, and Leland Bachman pronounced the benediction.

In presenting plans for the building program, President Mininger emphasized the co-operative efforts of college and community in health facilities for Elkhart County. A study conducted by James A. Hamilton and Associates in 1948 had recommended a new hospital for Goshen, enlargement of the facilities at Elkhart General Hospital, a collegiate school of nursing at Goshen College, and a Public Health unit for the county.. The addition to Elkhart General Hospital has been completed and is in use. Goshen's new fifty-bed hospital stood in full view of the assembly. Although it was not quite ready for use, final inspection had been announced for April 12, with formal opening to follow. The Goshen College School of Nursing had operated for five years and had graduated two classes of nurses. Now the College was beginning construction of two new buildings to facilitate the work of the School of Nursing and other phases of the general educational program. The contributions of the community to this program in cash and pledges amount to $160,000 raised in a special fund raising campaign.

President Mininger also spoke of the contributions of the church and the alumni of Goshen College to the program. The Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities was holding in trust $100,000 designated for nursing education at Goshen College. The Mennonite Board of Education has an additional $52,000 in cash or pledges contributed by church and alumni. There remains to be raised in the next two years an estimated $180,000, if the building program is to be completed on schedule.

The building program represents a number of aspects of the educational program of Goshen College, President Mininger explained. The Nurses' Dormitory and the nursing arts rooms in the Arts Building indicate a belief in the value of the nursing arts; laboratories, classrooms, and offices for the Home Economics Department, a belief in the value of the domestic arts; facilities for the Music Department, a belief in the value of the fine arts; and increased space and improved equipment for the natural sciences, a belief in their value. When President Mininger turned the symbolic earth, he charged J. Gordon Jackson, construction engineer, to continue the work he had begun. That charge is to us as alumni as well. Unless we lay our hands to the symbolic shovel through our gifts, the shovel must come to rest. That shovel was bright and shiny March 31. Let's keep the rust off the shovel.

Steps Ahead in Teacher Education at Goshen College

by Karl Massanari 36, Acting Dean of Goshen College

While the education of teachers is the specific task of Division V,* teacher education is in reality a function of Goshen College. It was so in the beginning and continues to be so now. This fact is evidenced in the report of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (A.A.C.T.E.) visitors following an official visit January 25 and 26, 1954, when they said, "Teacher education has been accepted as an institutional responsibility of Goshen College."

From its beginning the College has been engaged in the education of teachers for elementary and secondary schools. The 1904 Catalog indicates that there was a normal department and lists thirty-one education students enrolled. With twelve weeks of normal training a student was entitled to receive an "A" class certificate and with twenty-four weeks a "B" class certificate. Sometime later the course was increased to one year.

When judged by the number of persons enrolled, the program of teacher education has grown remarkably during the past fifty years. In 1953-54 forty-one per cent of the student body was enrolled in teacher education. There were one hundred fifty-eight students in the elementary program and ninety in the secondary. This means an increase from thirty-one to two hundred forty-eight students in teacher education in fifty years.

During this time the qualitative aspects of teacher education were developed through such channels as the extension of the curriculum to a four-year program, the addition of faculty members, improved personnel services including selective recruitment and placement, wider utilization of professional laboratory facilities and the organization of education clubs. Also during this period the teacher education program was approved by the State Department of Education. More recently (1954) it was accredited by the A.A.C.T.E. While important developments have occurred in the past, it is evident that continued growth is necessary. This fact has been pointed out to the College both by the accrediting agency and the State Department of Education.

The self-study which was conducted last year in connection with receiving accreditation from the A.A.C.T.E. has made the entire faculty more aware of the function of the College in teacher education. It has given those of us who are most directly connected with the program an increased sense of responsibility to plan for and to implement needed improvements—to move ahead in teacher education. What then are the steps ahead? This article will touch briefly the following five areas: philosophy, curriculum, facilities, services, and faculty personnel.

A. Philosophy. In line with one of the recommendations of the self-study and of the official visitors of the A.A.C.T.E., the faculty members of the Teacher Education Division formulated a statement of teaching competencies based on and growing out of the official philosophy of education of the College stated in the Concept of Christian Education.* Following is the statement:

> "Translated into the purposes of teacher education at Goshen College the Concept of Christian Education defines the characteristics of a competent teacher as follows:
> "The effective teacher is a well-informed person of broad, maturing interests and understandings which he communicates in socially responsible ways. He has a growing competence in his field or fields of specialization. He understands human growth and development and the ways in which learning best takes place. He is able to guide helpfully the learning experiences of those with whom he works. He has respect for the dignity of the individual and a sense of obligation in the group. He engages responsibly in community life and service and participates understandingly in intercultural relations. He enjoys working with people.
> "He understands the historical development and present status of education in his own country and is familiar with the major trends in education in other lands. He has a professional attitude toward the duties he assumes and a professional concern to work for the improvement of education.
> "He regards teaching as a Christian vocation

---

* Division V is also responsible for the instruction in psychology. This article will not concern itself with this responsibility, although it is recognized that there is a need to obtain a qualified professor in this area and to set up a departmental major.

* For "A Concept of Christian Education at Goshen College" see 1955-56 Goshen College Catalog, page 25.

through which he serves others in the name and spirit of the Master Teacher."

This tentative statement, included in the 1955-56 Catalog, page 128, was formulated in December, 1954. It was agreed that it should be submitted to selected critic teachers, students, and faculty members for reactions and revision.

It is important to state what teaching competencies we desire our students to have when they graduate. But it is also important, perhaps more so, for us to determine how we can most effectively assist our students in developing such competencies. This aspect of the program needs further study and much work.

B. Curriculum. As used here, curriculum refers to the scope, arrangements, and nature of the experiences considered necessary to the growth of the student toward certain stated ends. These ends have been stated in the "Concept of Christian Education" and in the statement of competencies. When the curriculum is so considered, this means among other things that it includes considerably more than the formal classwork of the student, that there is an appropriate arrangement and sequence of the experiences, and that experiences will be selected on the basis of quality and kind. When the present curriculum is studied against this background certain improvements seem mandatory, and others desirable. Some of the steps which will help to bring about such improvements are suggested.

1. Continued study and reorganization of the existing professional courses so as to (a) further eliminate overlapping of content, (b) provide more related laboratory experiences, (c) make possible more effective grouping of experiences, for example, a professional semester for each student during which time he is enrolled in certain professional courses and does his student teaching on a full-time basis, and (d) makes possible more opportunities for elective courses.
2. Continued co-operative course study and planning of general education courses so as to secure (a) a closer integration of general education and professional education courses, and (b) more functional relation of the content of general education to the needs of teacher education students.
3. Inclusion of an increased amount and variety of pre-student teaching professional laboratory experiences in the programs for all students in teacher education, including such experiences as community service, Sunday school or summer Bible school teaching, recreation and club work, tutoring, summer camp counseling and leadership, participation in school and library services for children, voluntary service, and observations of a wide variety of classroom teaching situations. Some of these experiences may be planned for the student's summer program; others will need to be correlated with his course work.
4. Establishment and operation of a campus laboratory school in which teacher education students will have an opportunity (a) to see demonstrated specific teaching methods and techniques, (b) to observe teaching by a master teacher, and (c) to experience firsthand, through observation and participation, experimentation in teaching methods and in the use of teaching materials.
5. Tailor-making programs of study to meet the individual needs of certain types of teacher education students. For example: (a) streamlining the program for mature students who have had some college work in the past and who in the meantime have had significant experiences such as raising a family, and (b) arranging a program of studies to enable the student in elementary education to prepare to teach in some special area, such as kindergarten, music, physical education, home economics, or arts and crafts.
6. Creating and developing an experimental teacher education curriculum which will contain the essential elements of what is considered best practice in teacher education and utilize in a maximum way the rich resources which are to be found in the setting of a Christian liberal arts college. After such a curriculum has been created and developed, approval should be sought from the various state teacher certifying bodies.
7. The eventual expansion of the curriculum to include work in preparing teachers of special education and a graduate program of teacher education leading to a master of teaching degree. Such expansion, however, should take place only after the regular four-year program has been up-graded.

C. Facilities. An important step was taken in providing needed facilities for teacher education when in 1953 part of the old dining room in Kulp Hall basement was remodeled as a teacher education center. It was recognized, however, in the planning stages of this project that these facilities would not meet the long-term needs of teacher education at Goshen College. Some facilities on or near campus are needed to house a laboratory school for at least several elementary grades. More permanent headquarters for the teacher education center will be required, including classrooms, laboratories, offices, library and seminar rooms.

Improvements in certain other facilities also are necessary. As referred to in the report of the A.A.C.T.E. visitors, the elementary and secondary textbook library holdings should be increased and the teaching aids and materials collection should be expanded. Substantial increases in the number of education books in the main library are necessary.

D. Services. An expansion of the follow-up and field services to teachers by Goshen College must be considered part of the "steps ahead" in teacher education. The personnel services of the College were appraised by the A.A.C.T.E. visitors as above average in all respects but one, namely, follow-up services to teachers in the field. Keeping in touch with and assisting the beginning teacher provides an opportunity not only to help the first-year teacher on the job but to evaluate the program of teacher education which produced that teacher.

Expanded field services also should be provided through such avenues as (1) short-term and full-semester extension courses, and (2) consultative service to the schools in the local community, and especially to the newly established Christian day schools in our constituency.

E. Faculty Personnel. Adequate personnel is required to carry on any program effectively. The steps ahead in the area of faculty personnel include the acquisition of further graduate training by some of the present members of the Division, the acquisition of specialized experiences at the post-doctoral level for other members, and the addition of new faculty members.

Some of these steps are already under way. During summers Mary K. Nafziger is continuing her studies at Northwestern University toward the doctorate degree. Atlee Beechy will complete the residence requirements at Ohio State for his doctorate degree in December. Mary Royer will participate in a Workshop for Institutions of Teacher Education at the University of Minnesota this summer.

Other steps, however, need yet to be taken. Additional faculty help is needed to carry on more effectively the job we are now attempting to do. As pointed out by the A.A.C.T.E. visitors, more faculty time is required to supervise the student teaching program and to provide better co-ordination between the College program and the co-operating schools. Certain method courses should be offered more frequently so that the resulting smaller sections would make possible the ultilization of improved instructional procedures. This will require additional faculty time. Because of the small number of faculty members the present assignment of courses requires that some faculty persons ought to be experts in a number of areas of specialization. It is unreasonable to expect this kind of expertness on the part of a faculty member. The quality of the program is affected correspondingly. This situation can be alleviated by making available additional qualified help to carry on the instructional program.

Additional faculty members will be needed to fill the new positions which will be created by (1) the establishment of a campus laboratory school, (2) the expansion of the curriculum to include a graduate program and work in preparing special education teachers, and (3) the enlargement of our follow-up and field service programs.

Goshen College has been engaged in teacher education for over fifty years. It was only in 1942 that a program of seminary education was established and in 1950 a nursing education program was begun. The longer experience of the College in teacher education currently has both positive and negative effects. The positive effects in the form of cumulative experiences and know-how are more or less obvious. The negative effects, however, are not quite as obvious. Professional programs which have been established more recently have the advantage of the immediate incorporation into their structure of the best in current practice. And this should be so; to do less than this in establishing a new program would not be in keeping with the educational ideals and standards of Goshen College. In order to incorporate the best in current practice in teacher education major changes and improvements are necessary as already pointed out. Likely there will be resistance to such changes, resistance which springs from the idea that we have been educating teachers for fifty years or more and why change our program now. However, a more careful consideration of the facts will indicate that such improvements are not only desirable but necessary.

Alumni Board Plans Annual Dinner

Planning for the alumni banquet was a major item of business for the directors of the Alumni Association when they met Saturday evening, April 16. The major pattern for the dinner and program is traditional—time, Saturday evening of commencement week; place, college dining hall; and the outline of the program. This year our president Carl M. Hostetler 33, Goshen, plans to be vacationing in Alaska, and we will look to our vice president Lloyd Hartzler 39, Elkhart, to preside. Our secretary Leland Bachman 38, Goshen, will report for the board of directors and the executive committee. Paul Mininger 34 will make his first report to the alumni as president of the College. Glen R. Miller, sponsor of the 1955 class of more than one hundred fifty graduates, will present the class—the third class he has presented to the Alumni Association. The seniors have not yet announced the representative who will respond for them. Harvey A. Driver 30, Chicago, of the twenty-five year class will be toastmaster. An alumnus from the fifty year class and one from the ten year class are being asked to toast. The Motet Singers, under the direction of Mary Oyer 45 will sing. And you'll be there, won't you?

Choruses to Sing Elijah

Sunday afternoon, June 5, in the Union Auditorium the Motet Singers and the A Cappella and Collegiate choruses will combine under the direction of Dwight Weldy 37 to sing Mendelssohn's Elijah. It has been many years since the Elijah was sung at Goshen College. Perhaps it has not been sung more frequently because of the versatility demanded of the soloist who sings the part of Elijah, for which Dwight has secured as guest soloist Bernard Izzo of the Serenaders Quartet of Chicago. Student soloists who will sing other parts include alto Ruth Alice Hostetler 57, Middlebury, Ind.; soprano Roberta Janzen 57, Butterfield, Minn.; tenor Clifford King 55, Hutchinson, Kans.; soprano Rosa Diener 56, Wellman, Iowa; tenor Herman Weaver 54, Goshen; and alto Edith Otto 58, Springs, Pa. Singers and audience alike have awaiting them a musical treat that will strengthen their Christian faith in this musical setting of the story of the great Hebrew prophet and his trust in God.

Goshen Nurses Rank High in State Board Exams

In 1953 Goshen College graduated the first class from its School of Nursing—a class which came through the State Board examinations with flying colors. The class of 1954 made a still better record, scoring higher than the class of 1953 in every area tested. The examination is divided according to five clinical areas—medical, surgical, obstetrical, pediatric, and psychiatric. Chemistry, anatomy, physiology, microbiology, pharmacology, diet therapy, sociology and psychology are now integrated in these five areas, rather than tested separately. Goshen's 1954 class outranked all other schools in Indiana in all five areas. It should be pointed out that students from a collegiate school are expected to score higher than those from a diploma program.

Conference on Christian Race Relations

by Guy F. Hershberger, Professor of History and Sociology

From April 22 to 24, 1955, Goshen College was host to the annual Conference on Christian Community Relations, sponsored jointly by the Committee on Economic and Social Relations of the Mennonite Church and by the Mennonite Community Association. This year's conference was devoted exclusively to the theme of Christian Race Relations. Although it was not planned that way, its significance was dramatized by the fact that the conference was in session simultaneously with the epoch-making Asian-African Conference at Bandung, Indonesia.

Indeed, the Goshen conference may prove to be no less epoch-making for the missionary program of the Mennonite Church and the role of the non-Caucasian members within the brotherhood than was the Bandung conference for the role of the people of color in international affairs.

When Elkhart Institute was founded in 1894, the first city mission of the church was one year old, and its first foreign mission was not to be established for another five years. All members of the church were Caucasians, most of them with Swiss-German-Dutch names, and had a brother of a different so-called "race" or color appeared among us, the church would have had difficulty in knowing how to receive him. Today the membership of the church includes peoples from Africa, Japan, India and other Asiatic countries, as well as various non-Caucasians of our own country. Even in 1955 we have not fully learned how to receive and labor with these newcomers in our brotherhood, but the Goshen conference was designed to help the brotherhood on its way.

Even though the non-Caucasians are a numerical minority among us, no one attending the conference could fail to be impressed by the fact that the Mennonite Church is today an "interracial" church, and that her colleges have interracial student bodies. Devotions at the several sessions of the conference were conducted by students from Africa, Japan, Jordan, India, France, Germany, and a Negro Mennonite student from Chicago. Taking active part in the conference were James and Rowena Lark, Negro pastor and wife of the Bethel Mennonite congregation in Chicago, as well as ministers and other representatives from congregations which have non-Caucasians within their membership. One congregation was represented at the conference by a Negro deacon. At least one member of the Mennonite Church in Puerto Rico attended the conference.

The conference brought into sharp relief the teaching of the New Testament that God caused to spring from one forefather people of every race; that men shall come from East and West and North and South and sit at table in the kingdom of God; that in Christ there is neither Jew nor Gentile; that there is no difference. Even though this great fact of "no difference" was learned with difficulty on the part of some in the early church, the way of brotherhood eventually triumphed. The church of our day is apparently going through the same experience. While some among us are learning with difficulty, the good work is going on, and more and more we are discovering that there is no difference, since the color of the skin tells us nothing of the character or the faith of the man who dwells within. Once this becomes clear, and we come to know each other as brethren, our prejudices fade away, and even the bogy of intermarriage begins to lose its meaning. Since Mennonites of Swiss-German stock have been married to Mennonites of Filipino, Indian, African, Puerto Rican and Mexican stock, and these Mennonite brethren and sisters have proved themselves faithful and successful workers in the mission and service program of the Mennonite Church, in her publication work, in the life of our congregations, and in the ministry, it is clear that the church has arrived at a new day which gives occasion for rejoicing.

The conference began on Friday morning with a "confessional" in which representatives of various communities related examples of failure as well as successes in Christian race relations among us. At the Friday afternoon session C. Norman Kraus 46 of the College faculty read a paper on "Scriptural Teachings on Race Relations," followed by a period of general discussion. The evening session was featured by two popular addresses, "Problems and Challenges in Building Christian Human Relations," by J. D. Graber 25, secretary of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, and "Progress in Racial Integration in the United States," by Andrew Schulze, Valparaiso, Ind., president of the Lutheran Human Relations Association of America. The Saturday morning session was devoted to "Social and Psychological Factors in Prejudice and Discrimination," the discussion being based on a paper by Garland K. Offutt, Baptist minister of Louisville, Ky., a doctor of theology from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and the first Negro to graduate from a major institution of higher learning in the South since Reconstruction days. Dr. Offutt was a student at Southern Baptist at a time when it was illegal to be enrolled in a "white" school in Kentucky.

The discussion theme for Saturday afternoon was "What Can Be Done to Improve Race Relations in the Mennonite Church?" based on a paper by Paul Peachey of Eastern Mennonite College. The evening session was given to a panel discussion on "Practicing Christian Human Relations in our Communities." Participating in the panel were Dr. Offutt; Charles Ashe, Negro staff member of the Department of Public Welfare, South Bend, Ind.; J. C. Rice, Superintendent of Schools, Elkhart, Ind., where desegregation was effected some years before the Supreme Court decision of May 17, 1954; Blair Rieth, Goshen businessman; Grant M. Stoltzfus 41, Denbigh, Va.; Orlo Kaufman, Camp Landon, Gulfport, Miss.; and H. C. Amstutz 33 and J. Howard Kauffman 47 of the Goshen College faculty. The final session was a Vesper service Sunday afternoon, at which time Dr. Offutt spoke on "The Church a Fellowship of the Redeemed of All Races."

The conference adopted a statement on "The Way of the Cross in Race Relations," which is to be published in the near future. In response to a request from the General Council of Mennonite General Conference the Committee on Economic and Social Relations is planning to use this statement as a basis for a perhaps somewhat briefer statement to be presented in August, 1955, for possible adoption as an official statement of the Mennonite Church on race relations.

The proceedings of the conference are being published in lithoprinted form. Copies may be obtained at the price of $1.00 from Guy F. Hershberger, of the College faculty who is the executive secretary of the Committee on Economic and Social Relations. Other alumni and members of the faculty on the Committee are H. Ralph Hernley 41, chairman; Millard Lind 42; J. Howard Kauffman 47; A. P. Hallman 31; and Paul Peachey spr 44.

Camp Workshop Special Feature of Summer Session

The wholehearted enthusiasm with which participants last year endorsed the workshop for summer camp leaders and counselors has led the administration of Goshen College to arrange a similar workshop in conjunction with this year's summer session. The workshop utilizes the facilities of Brunk's Cabin and Mennonite Youth Village near White Pigeon, Mich., where last year's experimental workshop was held. Running for two weeks, June 7-21, it will offer "on the spot" and "in the camp" instruction in camping skills and techniques in counseling children, camp management and administration, camp programing and waterfront activities. Edith Herr and Roman Gingerich co-directors, will have as full-time assistants Merle Jacobs 48, nature study; Francis Troyer 37, crafts; and Mrs. Nan Appleman, dietitian; while additional resource persons will serve on a part-time basis. Although the workshop is designed especially for camp work, the knowledge and skills gained will be useful to schoolteachers as well.

The regular summer session on the campus will run from June 7 to Aug. 5, with selected offerings from the five divisions of the college curriculum. Members of the regular faculty who will be teaching courses are Karl Massanari, Paul Bender, Orpah Mosemann, James Clemens, Samuel W. Witmer, Silas Hertzler, Olive G. Wyse, John C. Wenger, Samuel A. Yoder, Roy Umble, Alta Schrock, Verna Zimmerman, Jacob Swartzendruber, Anna Mae Charles, Olive Rich, Margaret Brubacher, LeRoy Kennel, Harold Schultz, and Carolyn Hertzler. Visiting instructors will be Melva Kauffman 44 and Calvin Redekop 49 from Hesston College and Bible School, Hesston, Kans., and Hiram Hershey from Christopher Dock Mennonite School, Lansdale, Pa. Inquiries concerning either the workshop or the regular summer session may be directed to Acting Dean Karl Massanari.

Last year the Goshen College Biblical Seminary offered a six-week graduate summer session. The faculty included H. S. Bender, J. C. Wenger, and Howard Charles from the seminary faculty, with visiting professors from Eastern Mennonite Mennonite College, Hesston College and Bible School, Mennonite Biblical Seminary, and Bethel College. This year H. S. Bender and Howard Charles will serve as visiting professors in a similar graduate session at Mennonite Biblical Seminary, 4614 Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago 15, Ill.

Excerpts from the Class of '46 Letter

Mrs. John Oyer (Carol Schertz)— It's time for another letter, and the last one we'll write from Chicago. John is in his last year of graduate school, and although his thesis won't be finished, we're looking forward to living in a smaller, cleaner place, namely, Goshen. John will be teaching there next year. If we find a place to live by June, we'll probably move then. . . .

Our big little girl, Becky, who will be two in March, will miss her playmates. There are always children here to play with and she doesn't play alone very much. She gets all excited when her friends come; then when they are here, everything is too often "mine." She hasn't learned to enjoy sharing!

Kathryn Ann is four and a half months. She'll have to develop a strong personality to keep up with her sister. Becky has a strong will, and Ann is physically much smaller, doesn't weigh nearly what Becky did at this age, and just has a smaller frame . . . . The baby is very friendly, smiles a lot, almost can smile and cry at the same time. She readily laughs at Becky; already they have fun together in their simple way. Becky hasn't shown hostility toward her, outside of sometimes trying to hit her over the head when I'm feeding Ann, and Becky is tired or hungry too. But if any other child wants to look at, or play with Ann, Becky is not taking a back seat. She suddenly wants to "talk to the baby" in the worst way. No one will get between them.

Elsie White—I am still working the night shift here at the Lebanon Community Hospital. I really enjoy my work and it keeps me quite busy. Since a nurse doesn't talk about her patients, and since I have no small fry to talk about, I'll write about myself.

My favorite hobby at present is photography. I purchased a 35-mm. Bolsey camera, and I am learning the tricks of snapping the interesting subjects at the correct time, speed, light, distance, etc. If I do say so myself, I have some very beautiful pictures. It could be that I have so much beauty around here to photograph and not my skill. I have some good slides of the Pacific in some of its less pacific moods. One day we were at the coast and the water was splashing up over the big rocks in the sunshine. I got some very good pictures that day. Another picture that I'm proud of is new falling snow on these tall Oregon pines. That is a sight to see. The snow falls so lightly and sticks where it falls, leaving each branch and twig with a white coat. I wish all of you could visit out here and see for yourselves how beautiful the flowers and plants are. Yes, we have a lot of rainy, cloudy, gloomy days, but we need that to have all the green shrubs, etc.

Ruby Hostetler—The two months (of vacation) fleeted by incredibly fast. The tropics have not been kind to me physically, and I found myself amputating the first part of my holiday trip due to flu—met the other two girls in Madras and went on north together to Allahabad first. The camel and elephant caravans fascinated us. We never see them in such work down here. Meeting some shipmates was a pleasant interlude, too, and finding that they, too, enjoy their Indian work was satisfying. The agricultural college started by the Presbyterians has grown into a bulky, but far-reaching work. A day's trip to Benares from there was more than worth while, if for no other reason than to renew our compassion for these deluded people. Having seen the seat of Hinduism made me more than ever grateful for my Christian heritage. . .

Lucknow was the next stop, with Laura Conrad, whom some of you may know. She's a perfect hostess and showed us the sights very generously. Mogul architecture is the order of the day there. Then came Delhi and Agra—seeing the Taj is not in my list of sight-seeing; it is an experience, and it is truly one of the great wonders of the world. Delhi was chilly as anything and handed me my life's worst cold and ear infection—from which I'm still receiving dividends. Dhamtari was cold, too, so afforded strange mixtures of the new and the old—I love it. Instead of going on to Landour as previously planned, I compromised by meeting them outside Delhi and going on back to Raipur with them. What a thrill to see Millers, Weavers, and Hostetlers waiting for us. The other parents were all new to me from other missions. We had lunch with some Kodai friends of Ed and Irene Weaver before doing the fifty-mile stretch to Dhamtari. It was like getting home again to unload my things at the nurses' bungalow.

My month there was much too short but oh, so sweet! And so is little Kathryn Conrad, by the way. Christmas on the plains in no way resembles ours at home, so offers not much excuse for homesickness—fortunately—for if I were to succumb to that disease, family-time Christmas would be it. The missionaries do have a lovely evening together, but Christmas Day is spent suitably with the Indians. I ate enough Indian breads in the week before, and after, Christmas that I should be satisfied for a year. Seriously, I know now why some of our missionaries say that some of their sweetest fellowship is with the Indians, for many of them really pay a price for their Christ and have a great deal to share with us.

Then came Kodai—with the weather showing a one-track mind for two weeks—rain, and still more of it. Now, however, we are having our usual January and February weather—clear, bright, cold—calling us outdoors, and necessitating fires in our tiny classroom stoves. This year brings with it also the necessity for my planning for the going-home jaunt. Is it possible that it comes so soon?! But all good things must come to an end. When they end, other good things start. God is so good to us, isn't He?

Ada Schrock—I suppose some of you will say, "What!? Is she still at I.M.S.?" And the answer is in the positive. After four years in the same place perhaps one should move on lest he get in a rut, but I felt the Lord's leading last year when I consented to return.

This year I have junior and senior English and two sections of typing. So I won't get into mischief, in my spare time I also have the school paper (biweekly) and the annual to sponsor, as well as the junior class. I must admit it is somewhat disconcerting at times when work is heaviest on both the annual and the junior-senior banquet, as it has been recently; I felt as though I was developing a split personality, since annual is senior secret and banquet is junior secret! But the annual copy is now at the printers, so I'm recovering satisfactorily.

Last summer I enjoyed and profited by several hours of work at the University of Iowa. I spent three precious weeks at home between sessions (our school closed around May 18 and summer school didn't start till about the middle of June). Since I'm not particularly interested in getting any more degrees, I took courses that I felt would be of most benefit to me—teaching of speech, teaching of typing, and American lit from Bryant to Emerson. Actually, I never did have any American lit in college, and I've been teaching it for six or seven years. That course proved to be the most inspirational, as I had hoped it would, with kindly, interesting, philosophical Dr. Crawford teaching it. The speech course was most theoretical, though I did get some valuable help from outside reading and later in some of the class discussions with other teachers. . . . Dr. Cassady of the crew cut and the informal manner (he even used our first names in class!) did an excellent job of making the typing course a most practical one, and I really learned a lot in that two-hour seminar. In short, I spent a stimulating summer in preparation for another strenuous year of teaching. The coming summer I hope to spend in the mountains of southwestern Pennsylvania, at home, doing mundane household chores and working in the garden for a change. Perhaps I will be able to catch up on some "outside reading" too.

Paul and Mary (Brunk) Yoder—Mary and I left the Hoosier State to take up residence in Colorful Colorado. I have been working in the Mennonite Hospital, first as business manager and later as purchasing agent, since July 18, 1953, and find the work challenging. This is my first experience in working in a church institution and I enjoy it, as a certain sense of satisfaction comes in serving Christ in this way.

In addition to my duties at the hospital, I direct the Nurses' Chorus of the La Junta Mennonite School of Nursing, and the Arkansas Valley Men's Chorus of the Rocky Ford-La Junta area. Both of these have proved to be very interesting activities, but demand almost more than I am able to give.

Our son, Kenneth, is doing his I-W at Indianapolis as a psychiatric aide in the Carter Memorial Hospital. He seems to enjoy this type of work and hopes to continue in hospital work. He plans to prepare to become a laboratory technician when he is discharged from I-W. It is quite possible that he will get part of his training here in La Junta at the Junior College, and at the Mennonite Hospital. Of course his parents are happy that he has chosen this profession.

Allen Schrock—It hardly seems possible that so many things can happen in one short year. Our last letter was written from Illinois. We moved to Goshen in February, 1954. During this past summer we built a basement house five miles southwest of Goshen, just off Route 119. We attend the Yellow Creek Church which is just one mile west of our home. Paul Vernon joined our family on Nov. 1, 1954. We now have three sons and one daughter. I am teaching school in Goshen and enjoy the work more and more.

Mrs. Donald King (Mary K. Plank)—For eight weeks this winter I tutored a neighbor girl who is in the seventh grade. She hadn't been to school at all the first semester, so we had eighteen weeks of work to do in eight weeks. We even had school during Christmas vacation. I enjoyed the work, only it was too much work to cover in so short a time. She started to school the second semester.

Donnie, Sara, and I plan to board the train Feb. 22 for Gulfport, Miss. My folks have been there several months. We will return home with them by car the first Wednesday in March. I wish Shorty could go with us, but with the cows to milk and school bus to drive, he's pretty much tied down.

Mrs. Lloyd Frantz (Helen Rohrer)—It seems the days are so full. There are always extra school activities, home duties, and lessons to prepare for the next day. At present I have thirty-two children in my room. By the way, our music teacher is James Boegli; remember him?

Sharon enjoys kindergarten and Brenda is doing fine in first grade.

Dave and Maxine (Troyer) Derstine—Greetings from the heart not of the Rocky Ridge, nor of the Swamp, nor of the Rockhill, nor of the Deep Run (names of local towns) but from the heart of Blooming Glen. Those are descriptive names and just as beautiful as they sound. . . .

Maxine and I are neck deep in work, yet, very happy in our opportunities for service. My congregation numbers 430 and is very active with a real vision for service. In addition, I am serving on the Christopher Dock Mennonite School Board and at the Laurelville Mennonite Camp. My problem is one I suppose that all of you have faced—how much time shall I reserve for my family? At this point I am really concerned about that. Do you have any suggestions?

Our family is really growing. Elizabeth Ann is three and one-half and our little 3-D (David Daryl Derstine) is thirteen months old. Today I took him for his first haircut. I wouldn't miss that experience for the world. He was a perfect gentleman.

It was two years ago this week that we moved into our new parsonage. Honestly, our congregation certainly has treated us royally in many respects. Maxine is kept very busy with the two children, a large house to keep clean, plus all the other duties a minister's wife is called upon to do.

Tomorrow morning at 5:00 a.m. we start for Vermont. Our congregation has a mission outpost there. We go up (350 miles) about twice a year. There is lots of snow there now—and good skiing. . . .

Earl and Glenola (Bontrager) Leinbach—The past months have been very busy ones but there has been very little change in our total situation. We have the three children, David six who is in his first year of school and enjoying it very much. It is quite a new experience for us sending a child to school. We appreciate the modern methods of teaching and feel that they are proving very effective. Barbara is three and a half and very, very busy with her dolls and doll furniture. Charles is two years old. He has done especially well as far as talking is concerned. Before he was two years old he had a vocabulary of over 200 words. We are living at the same place right in the midst of the little town of Hamlet. Our professional work is progressing very nicely. We have been busy and happy at my work.

We are attending the Toto Mennonite Church where our average attendance ranges from ninety to one hundred. Although I am not able to be there as much as I would like, I am able to get there quite frequently. It is very rewarding to receive letters from patients who are appreciative for the care and attention which has been given them. Actually, perhaps, that is one of the greatest thrills or satisfactions in the practice of medicine.

We have very little contact with former classmates, although we occasionally see Dr. and Mrs. Denton Croyle from Westville.

This year I have been elected as head of Anesthesia in our local hospital association, also chairman of the program committee. I have been doing some special work in Dental Anesthesia which includes giving anesthetics to children for complete repair of their teeth including extractions and fillings. These anesthesias sometimes last for two or three hours.

Mrs. Henry Yoder (Esther Eash)—I recently read a quotation which is applicable to my situation right now. "Persons hardest to convince they are of retirement age are children at bedtime." Do you ever have that inconvenient joy? You know, "Read another story." "Mamma, tell me about when you were a little girl." "I want another drink," etc. That special half hour or hour each evening always seems to be a sweet benediction for all of us.

Rachel who will be five, and Kathleen who will be two on the fourteenth of March are being real chums.

We are still in the broiler business, which has been almost rock bottom the past year. Gradually, the market is picking up. I am teaching again. My sister and I teach in the same school. It joins our property. Together we have forty-seven pupils in nine grades. We are really enjoying it. Most of the children are Amish or Mennonite. I have first, seventh, eighth, and ninth grades and Ruth has two to six. Last week the upper-grade girls completed a unit on nutrition and as a culminating activity they prepared a balanced meal and invited the upper-grade boys as guests. Our kitchen was the home Ec. Lab. Henry is our janitor. Rachel brings my hot dinner up to school. Henry's sister lives with us and takes care of the housework and the children. With Henry at home during the day it makes it much easier to teach.

During the past summer we were fortunate enough to be able to take a trip to the west coast and back. I was chosen delegate from our district to the Mission Board Meeting (Sewing Circle delegate) in Salem, Ore. My folks went with us. . . . Following our trip, we spent four weeks at Pennsylvania State University where we lived in a co-operative plan house with five other families. Henry got to observe the autopsies and diagnostic work on poultry. I earned four credits. Rachel said the other day she wishes we would go to Penn State again so she could ride her tricycle on the long walk. So all in all we had a most profitable summer —every way but financially!!

Kenneth and Ruth (Kreider) Heatwole—Ken is still a staff physician at Blue Ridge Sanatorium where he has been working for two and one-half years. Currently he has two wards of men patients, a total of approximately seventy-five men. This with his various duties such as staff conferences, seeing outpatients, teaching nurses, and keeping up with his wife and boy comprise pretty much of a full-time job. On the Sundays he isn't required to be working, he teaches a Sunday-school class of teen-age boys at our closest Mennonite Church—thirty miles away.

Ruth is concentrating on domestic duties and within the last year has become quite a proficient seamstress. You should see the new sport jacket she made her husband. Counting the labor, though, it was a pretty expensive project! Ruth spends a lot of time answering the questions of four-year-old Larry and listening to his "orations." Recent address to a washcloth he wanted torn from a hook: "Tear, tear. BE THOU TEARED."

Within the next year we probably will be moving again, as plans are afoot for Ken to take more training. We are looking forward to the coming of two more Mennonite doctors on the staff in July. They will be serving their I-W time here.

Catherine Hernley—Last time I wrote, I believe, I was working at La Junta. In August I moved ten miles to the new hospital at Rocky Ford and worked there until the first part of February. At present I am assisting in the Production Office here at the Publishing House during a few months' leave of absence from the work in Colorado. It is good to be back in Scottdale, but I did enjoy Colorado very much.

Mrs. Paul Hertzler (Carolyn Weaver)—We are still living in Goshen at Noble Kreider's house. I am teaching again this year at the college—just piano, but am kept busy with about thirty students. Since last year's letter, I have good news to report. At least there has been a start toward improvement in the piano department. We now have a very good used grand which is a studio piano. When not used for teaching, it is used for practice by the more advanced students. This studio is located in the Union Building upstairs by the control room. It is an excellent place because we aren't bothered by people and people aren't bothered by us! The new Arts Building which will be started soon will be a much-needed improvement for the entire music department. We hope everyone is as happy about this as we are and will help in every possible way.

Paul's work in the purchasing department at Whitehall is becoming so busy that much overtime is required. For that reason we really should live in Elkhart to eliminate the additional driving.

Mrs. Milford Paul (Winifred Erb)—Since the last letter Gregory was born into our family giving us three boys and two girls. He has just learned to walk and is the pet of all the children. Philip is nearly through the first grade and I marvel at how much children can learn about reading in just one winter. Barbara enjoys all the socializing experiences of kindergarten. Roger, aged 4, finds fun in cars, trucks and picks up more about letters and numbers than any of the others at his age. Recently I have been noticing the reversal tendency in children. He can reprint a word backwards perfectly. Have some of the rest of you noticed that in your children? Alta's favorite expression "by my lone" describes exactly the independent stage she is in. Can you imagine us having a blond curly head? Well, she is. But she pulls out her hair and sucks her thumb and thus presents a problem to her parents.

. . . We finished our upstairs this winter—a boys' room and a girls' room; our house is what you call a story and a half. We vacationed in western New York state last summer. In October I represented our PTA at the State Convention in Pittsburgh. I gave up my S.S. class but enjoy being chairman of Bible meetings held once a month at our North Scottdale church. We purchased the schoolhouse where we have met for fifteen years and will soon remodel it into a church. Milford continues to have charge of the weekly gym period of the Mennonite Boys' Club. I think these sentences pretty well sum up our year's activities.

Personals

The Mt. Zion Mennonite congregation, Versailles, Mo., held special services March 13, commemorating two anniversaries of J. R. Shank x04. Fifty years ago in March he had been ordained to the ministry, and thirty years ago he had married Clara Brubaker. He spent forty-seven years of his ministry among the people of the Ozarks. Although he is retiring from the active ministry because of the poor health of his wife, he will continue bishop oversight of central Missouri congregations.

After forty-nine years of ministry in the Science Ridge Mennonite Church, Sterling, Ill., Aaron C. Good w05 retired as pastor of the congregation and as bishop of a number of congregations in the Sterling area. During the Sunday morning service Feb. 27 he preached from the same Bible and used the same text (Rom. 12:1) that he used when he was ordained at Sterling in 1906. He had served as bishop since 1934.

Menno L. Troyer w10, Elida, Ohio, held meetings at the Blanchard Mennonite Church, Toledo, Ohio, beginning March 13.

1911-30

Since October Samuel 11 and Elsie (Byler) 11 Burkhard have been living in New York City, where Samuel has been associated with the Lincoln Foundation, surveying the Henry George School of Social Science as it is conducted in New York and Chicago. Last May he retired at Arizona State College with the title Professor Emeritus of Education. During the summer he taught philosophy of education at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta. The Burkhards expect to pass through Goshen as they return to Tempe, Ariz., in June.

Because of the racial and religious tolerance sentiment in his novel The New Minister, Louis L. Miller 16, Marshall, Ill., has been made an honorary member in the Mark Twain Society of St. Louis.

Recently George D. Troyer x16 received a two-week leave of absence from his duties as medical director of the La Plata, Puerto Rico, Mennonite Project, so that he could accept an invitation to come to the nearby island of Saint Kitts to perform a number of eye operations.

Feeling that the work of the Woodlawn Mennonite Church, Chicago, Ill., had outgrown the services of part-time workers, J. N. Smucker 18 has tendered his resignation as part-time pastor, to be effective June 1.

Emery Eigsti 22, Denver, Colo., is district distributor for the Murphy Feed Company of Burlington, Wis. In periods of relaxation he fishes for trout in the mountain streams near Denver.

Mary Royer 30, Stanley Shenk 44, and Norman Kraus 46 participated in a Leadership Training Institute sponsored by and conducted at the Topeka Mennonite and Maple Grove Mennonite churches at Topeka, Ind., March 11-13.

1931-40

Ralph Beechy 32, Wooster, Ohio, has been appointed administrative assistant in the Wooster public schools, where he had served in the high school as dean of boys and testing director since 1948. Before coming to Wooster he had held a similar position at Dover, Ohio, prior to which he had taught in the elementary, Junior high, and high schools of Berlin, Ohio. He is a brother of Atlee Beechy 34, dean of men at the college. A third brother, Orin 33, is a teacher of Industrial and Graphic Arts in the Wooster high school.

H. Clair Amstutz 33, college physician, spent April 1-11 in Puerto Rico, studying the Mennonite medical program there and bringing back recommendations concerning the program to the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities.

Ellrose Zook 33, Scottdale, Pa., and Elaine (Sommers) Rich 47, North Newton, Kans., were among the speakers at the Christian Writers' Conference at Hesston College May 3-6, sponsored by the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa., and Board of Publication of the General Conference Mennonite Church, Newton, Kans. Edward L. Kauffman 48, Hesston, Kans., served on the planning committee and as secretary of the conference.

Mary (Gingrich) Austen x34, Bothwell, Ont., has been employed by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, commonly known as Ontario Hydro, since January, 1953.

At a recent meeting of the Puerto Rico Mennonite Conference, Lester T. Hershey 36 and John Driver 50 were elected to one-year terms as president and vice-president, respectively.

John 38 and Genevieve (Yoder) 38 Friesen and family, who left New York March 8 to return to India, will be located at the Shantipur Leper Home during the furlough of S. Paul 38 and Vesta (Nafziger) 38 Miller and family.

The Brotherhood Mutual Life Insurance Company of Fort Wayne, Ind., named J. Galen Whitehead 39, Goshen, Ind., as agent of the year for 1954. He has been with the company since 1948.

David C. Bender 40, Elkhart, Ind., has joined the First Old State Bank of Elkhart as Assistant Cashier. Since 1950 he had been employed by the St. Joseph Valley Bank of Elkhart as manager of the bookkeeping department and more recently as Assistant Auditor. He is married to the former Velma Yoder of Middlebury, Ind., and they have two children, Philip, 7, and Anne, 4. Dave is a steward and trustee of the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Dunlap.

Jesse Short w40, Archbold, Ohio, conducted a series of revival meetings at the Jefferson Street Mennonite Church, Lima, Ohio, March 3-13.

Dwight Weldy 40, of the college faculty, directed a mass chorus of alumni and friends at the dedication of the Wakarusa Community School, April 17.

1941-45

Howard H. Charles 41, of the seminary faculty, was Bible Conference guest speaker at the Zion Mennonite Church, Morgantown, Pa., April 1-3.

Robert W. Hartzler 41, pastor of the Eighth Street Mennonite Church, Goshen, Ind., was speaker during the annual Bible Week at Freeman Junior College, Freeman, S. Dak., Feb. 27-March 4. He spoke in the regular chapel service each morning and in evening services in Pioneer Hall.

Wade Jones 41, Las Animas, Colo., has been serving the MCC as a nursing instructor at Kings View Hospital, Reedley, Calif., since November. His wife Marian (Kauffman) 41 and their four children have remained in Las Animas, where Marian is school nurse.

Howard Zehr 41, Fisher, Ill., held meetings at the Dillon, Ill., Mennonite Church March 15-26.

Paul K. Troyer 42, Kokomo, Ind., is in his fourth year as teacher of the fifth grade at Howard school.

The Christian Education Cabinet of the Illinois Mennonite Conference sponsored an adult activities workshop at the Metamora, Ill., Mennonite Church March 18 and 19. Among the speakers were Nelson E. Kauffman, ThB 43, Hannibal, Mo.; Ray Horst 49, Elkhart, Ind.; and Amos Bauman w46, Goshen, Ind.; Clayton Sutter x43, Eureka, Ill., was moderator of the conference; J. J. Hostetler 46, Peoria, Ill., assistant moderator; and Harold Bachman w36, Sterling, Ill., secretary.

Book Review

Management in the Home, by Lillian M. Gilbreth, Orpha Mae Thomas 36, and Eleanor Clymer; New York, Dodd, Mead & Co., 1954. 241 pages. $3.95.

Three homemaker-career women have brought to this book their combined knowledge of homemaking and the scientific method in industry. With the homemaker in mind they have applied the principles of work simplification to the homemaker's resources—time, energy, and money. It is meant to be read, understood, and used with the aid of one's pencil, notebook, and bulletin board. More than that, it points out ways of drawing in the whole family to help in applying these principles. The book is well written, with a sense of humor. Illustrations from realistic family day-by-day activities help the reader to identify her own experiences with those of the author at once. The convincing manner in which material is presented leads the homemaker-reader to rework her own methods. There is a refreshing departure from suggestions to "do as your neighbor does," or "do as the magazine says." Each homemaker is urged to do what is best for her and her family without apology. There is an excellent chapter on floor plan layouts for anyone building or remodeling a house. —Mrs. Carl Kreider (Evelyn Burkholder) 36.

A Spot We'll Cherish Long

Commencement time, more than any other time of the school year, is a time for memories—for traditions—for formality—for the singing of the "Alma Mater." Friends, who have not seen each other for years, meet again and recall college days. We follow traditional paths and say traditional things. Students, accustomed to the informality of the campus, self-consciously attempt to adapt themselves to the formalities which tradition requires at commencement time.

As I prepared copy for this issue of the Newsletter, I found phrases of the "Alma Mater" coming to my mind. Some features fall quite naturally under the phrases assigned to them. Others may seem a bit forced, but if you look a bit more closely, you will see their relevance.

The keeping of traditions affords an interesting study. What is the history of our commencement activities? We pass the emblems, and each person transmitting them in the name of his class attempts to interpret their significance. When were the emblems first passed? What do they represent? One of the old grads recently teased us with the question, "Does anyone know what is inside the lamp?" Something rattles inside the vessel, but it is sealed, so that one cannot open it. We see the emblems on our college seal. Early representations of the seal show clearly that the book is the Bible, but we pass a book containing the signatures of graduates. Should we change our custom? We plant the ivy—we break the wreath—traditions.

The whole question of traditions and formalities thrust itself forcibly into my mind as I noticed the difficulty one of the graduates had to keep from smiling during what was supposed to be a solemn ceremony. Some of our traditional activities were introduced when everyday life on the campus was much more formal than it is now. Are some of our formalities artificial and out of character with our present way of life, so that they fail to do what we intend them to do—become absurd when they should be impressive?

Commencement week, with its crowded program after the pressure of examination week, tends to become a burden for the college community. Administrative officers and their secretaries wind up the activities of the regular year under tension and immediately face the new pressure of the opening day of summer school. Do we do right in laying our plans in such a way that the climax of our school year seems more of a nightmare than a benediction? Should the week end be more leisurely for all concerned, with commencement scheduled for Tuesday morning and the rest of the week devoted to a gradual transition to the summer program, with classes beginning the following Monday, thus delaying the close of the summer session until the second week of August?

Should we eliminate some traditional activities, perhaps the alumni banquet? After all, three hundred and sixty-three almuni is not a very enthusiastic representation from our group, particularly when you consider that approximately one fourth of the group present may have been there more out of duty than out of desire. At least, I remember from my own student days that the graduates did not always attend the banquet with a great deal of desire. Should we dispense with the banquet and really concentrate on regional meetings and class reunions? It has been quite evident that we have not been working as hard as we might on these other types of alumni gatherings. One of the anniversary classes failed to have a reunion this year. They might have had a good one, if our alumni office would have had the personnel to give guidance and aid in planning their reunion.

Should we revise some of our activities to make the schedule less crowded, paring away some features, rearranging, adjusting? Take the commencement exercises, for instance. Should we suggest to the president that he dispense with the handshake to speed up the presentation of diplomas a bit? After all, the poor man has shaken hands with all of these seniors at his reception for them the day before. As the number of graduates increase, the time required for this simple formality becomes greater and greater, and there are two thousand warm and tired persons waiting for the close of the exercises. If eliminating the handshake would mean a loss of dignity from the service, perhaps we could compensate for some of the dignity lost by banning flash cameras, which detract

Thanks to a good response to a form letter distributed just before commencement, we can report the plans of most of the members of this year's graduating class, as well as of a few underclassmen who will not be returning to Goshen College in September.

June may be the month for brides, but this year's graduates, by a small majority, seem to favor August for their weddings. Seven members of the class were married in June: Marilyn Brenneman to Don Brenneman, Phyllis Ramseyer to William Miller, Julia Steiner 56 to David Leatherman, Jean Wittrig to Charles P. Spencer, and Audry Yoder 56 to Harold Heatwole. Grace Hershberger has chosen a July date for her marriage to Willard Krabill. Eight graduates are to be married in August: Doris Amstutz to Wayne North 52, Eileen Hartzler to Freeman Lehman 56, Catherine High to Clemens Hallman x56, Lillian Carroll to Ray Mast, Barbara Roth to Leland Weldy 54, Eileen Rutt to Lester Graybill, and Carol Sommer to Don Shaffer. Bonnie Lou Miller plans to be married to Donald Yoder 53 in September.

To Graduate Studies

Sixteen graduates plan to do graduate study. Returning to Goshen College to study in the seminary are Austin Berkey, Don Brenneman, Harvey Graber, Darrel Hostetler, Clifford King, John R. Martin, Delvin Nussbaum, Vernon Schertz, Robert Stetter, Frank Ward, Marvin K. Yoder, and Richard W. Yoder. Harold Heatwole has been selected as one of two hundred and fifty-five first-year graduate students for a National Science Foundation predoctoral fellowship award in zoology for 1955-56. He plans to enroll in the University of Michigan graduate college at Ann Arbor in September to study herpetology. Mary Ann Heiser, a home economics major, will study at the University of Illinois. James R. Miller will be in medical school at Indiana University. Ellen Palmer, who had been working part time in the Goshen Carnegie Library, is attending library school at Indiana University, having already begun her work there this summer. Andreas Balzer and Jacob Hiebert are not quite certain of their plans, but Andreas thinks he will be returning to Tabor College, and Jacob may attend the University of Manitoba. David Harnish, who was at Goshen for his senior year, but received his degree from Eastern Mennonite College, will attend Jefferson Medical School in Philadelphia. Two underclassmen, Larry Beachy and Ronald Sherck, both sophomores, are transferring to Indiana University Dental School. Herbert Hostetler, a junior, is entering the University of Illinois Medical School in Chicago.

To the Teacher's Desk

Teaching claims more of this year's graduates than any other occupation or profession. Fifty-six persons have positions in either elementary or secondary schools, two in college, and one in a university. A number of these persons have been teaching in recent years and have been enrolled at Goshen College only as part-time students. Mary Elizabeth Anderson will teach at Groverton, Ind. Returning to his home in Paraguay in February, Andreas Balzer will teach high school there. Donna Barkey will be teaching in the elementary school at Osceola, Ind. Mrs. Duane Blough, Eileen Hartzler, and Arlene Perry will be teaching in the Concord Township School near Elkhart. Delores Bohn returns to her home community, Manson, Iowa, to teach a one-room rural school. Marilyn Brenneman will be teaching first grade at New Paris, Ind. Iva (Yoder) Burkhard will teach in the Newbury-Van Buren township schools in Lagrange county, Ind. Fannie Mae Clark returns to teach first grade in the Liberty Township School, North Liberty, Ind., the position she has held for the past nine years. Olive Wort, who has been teaching in the same school for several years, will also return. Ellis Croyle and Bettie Norman will teach at Topeka, Ind. Mrs. Ethelyn Davis will teach second grade at the Brighton School, Howe, Ind. Naomi Derstine will teach first grade in the Deep Run Valley joint school district near Telford, Pa. Donald Dunn will be teaching eighth-grade English at the East School, Greenville, Ohio. Carmen Ebersole will teach commerce at Jefferson Township High School north of Goshen. Ruth Fleming will teach first grade in a Wichita, Kans., school. Margaret Gerber and Carolyn Smith will both be teaching in Goshen at the West Goshen School. Mrs. Byron Grubb will continue as principal of the Juday School near Millersburg, Ind., and teach grades five to eight. David Haarer will teach at the Starr Commonwealth School, Albion, Mich. Frances Harris and Esther Munger will be teaching in South Bend, Ind. Evelyn Hartzler will teach fourth grade at Hickman Mills, Mo. Catherine High will be teaching elementary school in Indianapolis. Florence Himebaugh will teach third grade at the Lincoln School in Elkhart. Thelma Hoggatt will teach at Wolcottville, Ind. Julia Iler will teach fourth grade at the Lagrange, Ind., School. Ray Kauffman goes to Hesston College and Bible School as director of physical education while Evan Oswald 50 takes a one-year leave to complete work for his master's degree at the University of Illinois. Mrs. Sophie Klerk will teach in a junior high school in Mishawaka, Ind. William McGrath will be teaching at Hesston College and Bible School during the first semester and at Goshen College during the second semester. Arlene Martin will be teaching near Elkhart. Emma Martin will teach at Manheim, Pa. Carl Metzler will be principal of the Bethel Springs Mennonite School, Culp, Ark. Following their marriage in June, William Miller and Phyllis Ramseyer entered MCC voluntary service with a two-year assignment to a small fishing village in Newfoundland, where a major part of their responsibility will be teaching. Margaretha Miller will teach in an elementary school near Manistique, Mich. Alta Perry will teach at Tippecanoe, Ind. Eileen Rutt will teach first grade in Orrville, Ohio. Abe Schmitt will be teaching at the Ailsa Craig, Ont., Boys Farm. Peter Schmitt will teach mathematics and physics at Bethany Christian High School, Goshen, Ind. Yuko Shinohara returns to Japan to teach in a university there. Bradley Sims will teach science and mathematics in the Owendale, Mich., Community School. Catherine Snyder returns to her home town, Guelph, Ont., to teach in an elementary school. Mrs. John Stemen will continue to teach first and second grades at Bristol, Ind. Bessie Sunthimer will teach second grade at Milford, Ind. Ethel Tomlonson will continue to teach fourth grade at Harrison Township School in Elkhart county. Virginia Weaver will teach in a small rural school near her home at Keota, Iowa. Jean Wittrig will teach third grade at Albion, Mich. Roma Wyman will teach at Bremen, Ind. Mrs. James D. Yoder will teach in the Garden City, Mo., community. Marjorie Yoder will be teaching near her home at Kalona, Iowa. Mrs. Melvin Yoder will teach at the Waterford School south of Goshen. Mrs. Lowell Young will continue to teach first grade at Constantine, Mich. One sophomore, Joyce Miller, has reported that she will be teaching third grade at Jerome, Idaho. Four graduates are planning to teach but have not yet signed contracts: Dan Firebaugh, Hugo Friesen, Florence Hoover, and Aden Horst.

Ruby Kauffman will be returning to Goshen College as assistant dietitian.

To the Bedside

Student nurses are taking hospital jobs after their August commencement. Doris Amstutz will work in a general hospital in St. Catherines, Ont. Carol Culp, Beatrice Hilty, Donna Kornhaus, Francis Mumaw, Anna M. Nofziger, and Bernice Rupp will remain at Elkhart General Hospital. Bernice Gregory will go to Petoskey, Mich. Miriam Gross expects to work under the Visiting Nurse Association, Philadelphia. Lois Histand expects to do general staff duty nursing, either at Hunderton County Medical Center, Flemington, N.J., or in a Philadelphia hospital. Margaret Miller plans to work in Goshen. Mary Alice Nofziger will return to her home community, Wauseon, Ohio, to work there. Barbara Roth will serve as a staff nurse at Beatty Memorial Hospital, Westville, Ind. Carol Sommer will work at Dunlap Hospital, Orrville, Ohio. Esther Andres, who received her R.N. at Bethel Deaconess Hospital, Newton, Kans., and her B.A. at Goshen in June, has returned to Bethel Deaconess as night supervisor.

Rosemarie Freeney will do social work in Chicago.

To the Mission Field and the Pastorate

Richard Burkholder, who received his B.D. in absentia, is already on the mission field in Brazil—a pioneer missionary to that country under the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. Mrs. Earl Hartman will be going to Brazil with her husband and their three children as pioneer missionaries under the United Missionary Society. Carson Moyer will be working under the Ontario Mennonite Mission at Toronto.

Seven men have pastoral assignments: Willis Breckbill at the Bethel Mennonite Church, Mummasburg, Pa.; James Christophel as assistant pastor at the Mennonite Home Mission in Chicago; Lester Graybill as assistant pastor at Orrville, Ohio; Willis Hallman as associate pastor at the Market Street Mennonite Church, Scottdale, Pa.; Ray Keim as assistant pastor at the East Goshen Mennonite Church, Goshen, Ind; John King as pastor of the newly organized congregation in Millersburg, Ohio, consisting of members of Martins Creek Mennonite Church living in Millersburg who "swarmed" to form this new congregation, and D. Richard Miller to the Mennonite Mission Church, Hannibal, Mo.

Daniel Hertzler is returning to his desk in the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa., as assistant editor of Christian Living. Herman Tan will assist with church work in his native town, Kudus, Java, Indonesia.

To I-W Assignments

Men with I-W assignments at the headquarters of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities in Elkhart are Victor Esch, Millard Osborne, and David Leatherman. Victor and Millard will be working in the I-W office, and David will serve as accountant and bookkeeper in the finance department. Nine other men are going into I-W assignments. Dean Hartman will be serving in a Pax unit under MCC in Germany. Wilfred Meyer is already serving as a test subject for scientific experiments with atomic-treated foods conducted jointly by the Army Medical Nutrition Laboratory and the University of Colorado at the Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver. Norwood Schmucker will work at a hospital in Evanston, Ill. Wilbert Shenk has a three-year appointment under MCC in Indonesia. Eugene Clemens, Joe Hoover, Philip Lauver, Fred Meyer, and Gerald Wilson are uncertain what their assignments will be. Elton Pfile, a freshman, is sailing for Germany July 27 to enter Pax service there. Tom Diener is entering the army.

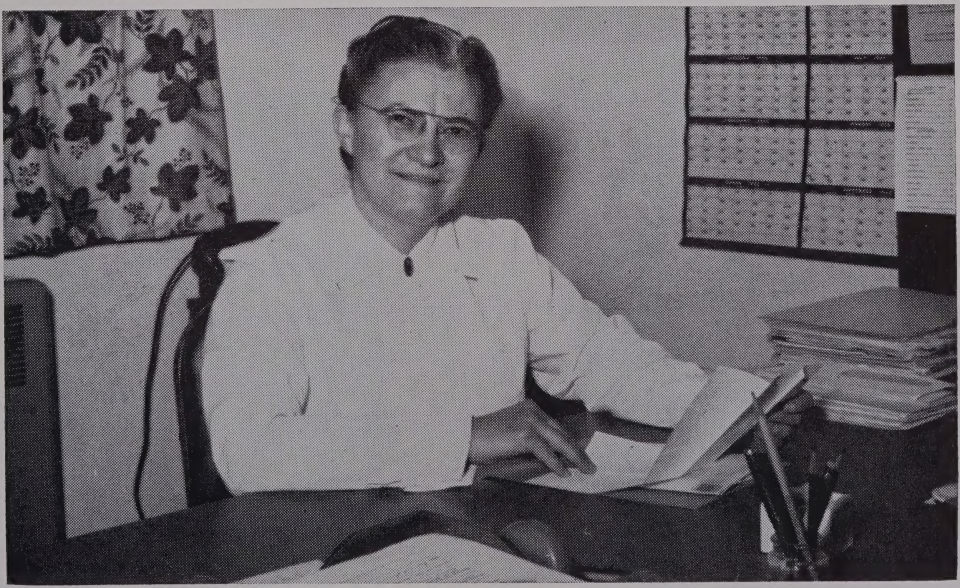
Underclassmen

Five freshman girls expect to take up office work: Doris Gnagey, Loretta Horsch, Barbara Nafziger, Marlene Rychener, and Ruth Edna Sommers. Wesley Oyer, Foosland, Ill., is returning to his home community to farm. Lewis Weber will become manager of a retail shoe store in Kitchener, Ont., one in a chain of fifty-eight stores located throughout Ontario and Quebec.

Loyalty We Pledge to Thee

An increasing variety of course offerings calls for additional faculty members. Sabbatical and special leaves of regular faculty members require other persons on one-year appointments to the faculty.

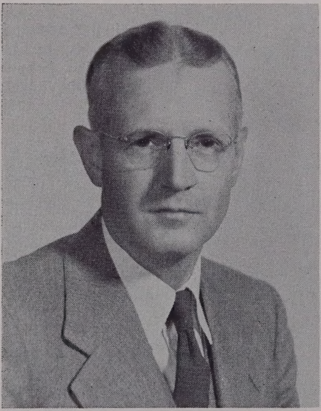
Already at her job at Goshen College is Edna Amstutz. On leave from the La Junta Mennonite School of Nursing, where she has been director of education since the retirement of Nora Miller in



Edna Amstutz

1950, she is serving as acting director of the Goshen College School of Nursing for one year, while Orpah Mosemann is on leave. Leaving La Junta May 15, Edna arrived in Goshen May 23 to spend several weeks of orientation in her new responsibilities before Orpah left Goshen. Edna graduated from the Goshen Academy in 1930, received her R.N. at La Junta in 1936, returned to Goshen for her B.A. in 1943, and has taken additional work in nursing education at Denver and Colorado Universities.

Mary Eleanor Bender, Goshen, follows the footsteps of both her parents, Harold S. 18 and Elizabeth (Horsch) 18 Bender, as a student at Goshen and then as a teacher at Hesston and Goshen Colleges. Her school life at Goshen was interrupted by three semesters at the University of Basel and one semester at the University of Lausanne in Switzerland during the school years 1947-48 and 1948-49. Returning to Goshen, she completed her work for the B.A. in 1950 and then went on to Indiana University for her M.A. in 1951, majoring in German and minoring in comparative literature. She has completed her residence requirements for the Ph.D. degree at Indiana University and is working on her dissertation, "The Anabaptist Theme in Twentieth Century German Literature." At Hesston she taught courses in German and basic communication. As an assistant professor of English at Goshen she will teach basic communication and general literature.



Perry J. Miller

Ezra Hershberger, assistant professor of art, becomes Goshen College's first full-time art teacher. Ezra is an alumnus of Goshen College, having received his B.A. in 1934. In 1944 and 1945 he studied in the Chicago Art Institute, and he has done graduate work at the State University of Iowa and Colorado State College of Education. For the past ten years he has been art instructor at McPherson College, McPherson, Kans. Although his particular interest is oil painting, he has done pen illustrations for two books by faculty members—S. A. Yoder's Middle-East Sojourn and S. C. Yoder's Horse Trails Along the Desert. He will be teaching such courses as introduction to art, general drawing and painting, designs and crafts, commercial design, public school art, still life drawing and water color, drawing from life and illustration, oil painting, and graphic arts. Mrs. Hershberger is the former Orpha Cooprider. They have one son, James, who was a freshman at McPherson College last year, and two daughters, Jill and Janice, and plan to live at 1119 South Eighth Street.

Mary Eleanor Bender

Perry J. Miller, Shipshewana, Ind., joins the faculty for one year to teach courses in education. He has been principal of Shipshewana High School since 1940 and has taught occasional courses in Goshen College spring terms. His term of service at

Ezra Hershberger

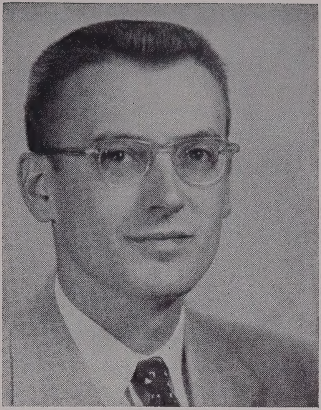
Shipshewana is marked by progress, both in the curricular program and in extracurricular activities, including the development of a strong Hi-Y organization. He is married to the former Olive Lucille Miller 31. Their daughter Jewell will be a junior and their son Gerald a freshman during the coming year. They have a third daughter, Sally Jo. The Miller family will be living in their newly purchased house on South Eighth Street.

John S. Oyer

John S. Oyer comes as an instructor in history. Son of Noah Oyer, dean of the college from 1924-31, and Siddie (King) Oyer, for many years matron of Coffman and North Halls, John grew up in Goshen. His college work was interrupted at the end of his freshman year by CPS and a term of relief work under MCC at Hamburg, Germany. Returning to Goshen, he completed his work for the B.A. degree in 1951. He received his M.A. at Harvard University in 1952 and has completed the residence requirements for his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago. His wife, the former Carol Schertz 49 of Washington, Ill., and their two daughters, Rebecca and Kathryn Ann, are living at 1304 South Main Street in Goshen. John is remaining in Chicago during the summer to work on his dissertation.

Returning to the faculty after a few years of teaching English and commerce in a high school in her home community and one year of graduate work at Temple University, Gladys Stoltzfus, Kinzers, Pa., will be teaching basic communication and supervising English Clinic. After she received her B.A. from Goshen College in 1949, she remained here for one year to teach commerce and English composition and then for two additional years as secretary to the dean of the seminary.

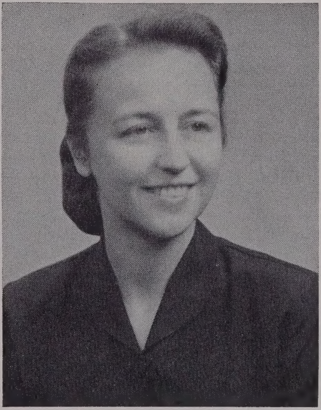
Ralph Wade, formerly of Sterling, Ill., comes to the faculty for one year to serve as an instructor in music during the absence of Mary Oyer. He had taught here previously during the summer of 1954.



Ralph Wade

Ralph's college course, like John Oyer's, was interrupted at the end of his freshman year for several years of CPS. Returning to Goshen, he received his B.A. in 1949. He has been teaching in the high school at Fisher, Ill., and is a candidate for the M.A. degree at the University of Illinois.

J. Harold Yoder, Columbiana, Ohio, is coming as instructor in physical education. He will be directing athletic activities for men during Roman Gingerich's absence and will be assisted by William Swartzendruber 50, who has been assisting Roman since January of this year. For one year after he received his B.A. degree at Goshen, he served as director of physical education at Hesston College and Bible School. He and his wife, the former Patricia Shellenberger x50, then spent three years in MCC work in Korea.



Gladys Stoltzfus

Elnora Weaver

Elnora Weaver, Gulliver, Mich., joined the faculty as an instructor in nursing June 6. Since her graduating with the first class of the Goshen College School of Nursing in 1953, she has been doing staff nursing at the Elkhart General Hospital, Elkhart, Ind.

Two faculty members who have been on leave for the past two years are returning to Goshen. J. Lawrence Burkholder 39 has completed his residence requirements for his Ph.D. at Princeton Theological Seminary and has returned to Goshen with his family. He is spending the summer on his dissertation. He will be teaching college courses in Bible and philosophy.

Lester J. Zimmerman 47 spent the past two years working toward his Ph.D. degree at Purdue University. He will return to Goshen to teach courses in mathematics, engineering drawing, agriculture, geology, and conservation.

Several persons have been appointed to part-time teaching assignments. Stephen Beer, executive director of the Elkhart Health and Welfare Foundation, Elkhart, Ind., will teach introduction to social work. Ruth Pfrunder 55, Geneva, Switzerland, who assisted Lois Gunden last year, will be teaching courses in French. Frederick Speckeen 52, Preston, Ont., a B.D. candidate in the seminary, will be teaching oral interpretation and public speaking. This summer he is enrolled at Northwestern University in the School of Speech, taking graduate courses in oral interpretation, persuasion, and the history of public speaking. William McGrath BD 55, Chicago, Ill., will teach college Bible courses and Mennonite history during the second semester. During the first semester he will be teaching at Hesston College and Bible School.

Ever Lead Us Onward, Upward

During the coming year a rather large number of faculty members will be absent from the campus on sabbatical or special leaves. Some of the sabbaticals are long overdue. A number of persons have been granted special leaves to enable them to further their professional training.

Dean Carl Kreider has been asked to stay at International Christian University for another year. His explanation of the problem which led to this request and to his decision to remain is found elsewhere in this issue.

During the summer and the first semester of next year Paul Bender, registrar and professor of physics, is working on a special assignment under the Collegiate Council of the Mennonite Board of Education. For one month he is working at Harrisonburg, Va., with Ira Miller of Eastern Mennonite College and Leonard Lichti 42 of Hesston College and Bible School, collecting data to be used in a study of Mennonite college and pre-college age population in an effort to forecast probable college enrollments in the next twenty years. These studies will guide the three colleges in planning the development of their curricular programs, faculty and staff, and physical facilities. In January, Paul and his wife Bertha (Burkholder) 54 will leave for two years of MCC administrative work in Holland.

Leaving Goshen in September, Melvin Gingerich, professor of history, and his wife Verna (Roth) x29 will spend two years under MCC in Tokyo, Japan. While Melvin will have a number of responsibilities under MCC, his primary responsibility will be to contact Christian peace groups and others in Japan interested in learning more about the historic peace churches. In addition to her housekeeping duties, Verna will probably assist with classes for Japanese young women who want to learn conversational English.

Roman Gingerich, assistant professor of physical education, will be spending the year 1955-56 working on the residence requirements for his Ph.D. in physical education at Indiana University. His family will go to Bloomington with him, leaving Goshen in the fall.

Lois Gunden, assistant professor of Spanish and French, will spend next year at Indiana University, completing her residence requirements for a Ph.D. in French.

J. Howard Kauffman, assistant professor of sociology, spent the past year in study toward his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago. His leave continues for another year.

Paul M. Miller, instructor in practical theology, will continue his work toward the Th.D. at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky.

Orpah Mosemann, who has been director of the School of Nursing from the time of its beginning in 1950, will be on leave during the summer and the academic year 1955-56 to work on her M.A. degree at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis. She left Goshen June 13.

Mary Oyer, assistant professor of music, will be spending the summer and next year working toward her doctor's degree in music at the University of Michigan. She will major in cello and do additional study in musicology, the arts, and faith. Her degree will require a series of recitals instead of the usual writing assignment.

Olive Wyse, professor of home economics, will be absent on sabbatical leave during the second semester only. During this time she will visit other college home economics departments and make plans for equipment for the home economics floor in the new Arts Building.

Samuel A. Yoder, professor of English, has received a Fulbright appointment to serve one year in Greece as professor of English at Anatolia College, Thessalonike. He is the second Goshen College professor to receive a Fulbright, Howard Charles having received one for graduate study in Edinburgh, Scotland, previously. With his wife Ethel (Oyer) x30 and their younger daughter Elaine, Sam will leave Goshen in August, to enable him to attend an orientation school in Athens before he proceeds to Thessalonike. He applied to teach in Greece, thinking it would be a stimulating experience for him as a teacher of humanities to spend some time in the birthplace of the humanities. He expects to be back in Goshen by the fall of 1956. His elder daughter Phyllis will remain in Goshen to continue her studies in the School of Nursing.

Answer "Aye" When Duty Calls

(We have asked Carl Kreider to prepare a letter for the alumni, explaining his stay of an additional year at International Christian University in Japan. s).

Nelson Springer asked me to write a brief statement concerning my request to the administration of Goshen College to extend my leave of absence for an additional year. I am indeed happy to comply with this request. I am sorry that it was necessary for me to ask to stay because I can assure you that my decision to stay was a very difficult one to make; it was made only after much prayer and thought, and it was made reluctantly. I am confident, however, that it was the correct decision under the circumstances.

It is impossible in the space of a short article to outline all of the factors which we had to weigh as we made our decision. Briefly, however, the situation was this. When I returned to Goshen College last summer to confer with President Mininger and the members of the faculty, I also took the opportunity of contacting several individuals personally who might become my successor at ICU. One of these individuals, the dean of a liberal arts college of about the same size as Goshen, expressed much interest and I felt confident would come. A few months after I returned to Japan this confidence was increased by our receipt from this person of a formal application for the position. Our faculty acted upon his application favorably and he was appointed by our Board of Trustees. You can imagine our disappointment when in February of this year we received word from him requesting that we withdraw his candidacy.

It was this event which precipitated our decision to stay on in Japan for an additional year. If it had not been for this fact, I am confident that we would have returned. There were, however, some additional strong arguments in favor of our staying for an additional year.

In the first place it is now three years since ICU opened and for that reason many of the faculty members who came here on three-year appointments are returning to the States this summer. It would add much stability to the faculty if I could stay another year to help initiate new faculty members who come in to replace the first group who arrived three years ago. In the second place my replacement had been chosen so as to combine the office of dean and professor of economics. The failure of this replacement to arrive thus meant that we not only lacked a dean but also a professor of economics. Nearly half of our students are social science majors and almost all of the social science majors take at least one course in economics. I feel that it would have been difficult to find a temporary replacement to care for this work until a full-time professor from America could be secured. In the third place, by staying one additional year I will be able to see the full four-year program of ICU College of Liberal Arts in operation. It is, I presume, a selfish desire on my part to see the program which I helped to start three years ago come into full flower, but I also believe that it is part of my duty to see that program be established completely.

In spite of these strong arguments for remaining in Japan I would have wished to return to Goshen College if I had thought the situation there demanded it. My trip to Goshen last summer, however, convinced me that the faculty were working together under the leadership of President Mininger in a forward-looking program. Furthermore, my trip confirmed my observation at long range that

Dr. Massanari was serving ably as dean. These impressions have been strengthened by the excellent reports I have received from Goshen this year. In other words my failure to return to Goshen for an additional year would not cause significant harm to the program there. I knew that it would entail substantial sacrifice on the part of administrative officers at Goshen, and I hesitated to ask them to make this sacrifice. My long experience with them, however, gave me the faith that they would make this sacrifice gladly in order to promote what I had considered to be the greater good. Their sympathetic understanding of my problem has been a great inspiration to me and their willingness to sacrifice is just one more indication of those personal qualities of faculty members which make Goshen College a great institution.

I can assure you that our decision to stay necessitated some radical changes in our personal plans. We had already made complete reservations for our travel back to America. We had made plans with respect to our housing after our return to Goshen College. We had also made some tentative plans with respect to the future education of our children. Clearly it would have been the path of least resistance to have returned home.

In agreeing to stay for an additional year we have made it clear to the administration here that it is our own judgment that our best long run avenue of service in the field of Christian education is to serve at Goshen College. Our experience in Japan has been a deeply challenging and rewarding one, but so is our work at Goshen College. We are eagerly looking forward to our return for the fall semester of next year.

Our Hearts Beat Warm and True

A. L. Sprunger

Thursday evening, May 19, the college faculty and staff met in Westlawn dining room for their annual dinner. In tribute to his many years of service as a part-time instructor in art, the faculty social committee named Arthur L. Sprunger 22 and his wife Cordelia (Riesen) 50 as guests of honor and asked Arthur to give the principal address of the evening—an informal commentary on his work, illustrated with representative paintings, drawings, prints, and sculptures. Although his work represents many themes, the local scene and the religious theme are prominent, exemplifying his ability to see beauty in the things around him and his strong Christian faith. The artist, he explained, takes the thing at hand and brings out the beauty in it. The exhibition which he prepared for the faculty was allowed to stand for several days in Westlawn dining room to enable students, as well as faculty and staff, to enjoy it.

Throughout his years of service to the college, Sprunger also served a full-time appointment at the Goshen High School. He is retiring from the college faculty at his own request with the hope that he may have more time for creative work. It is to be regretted that an artist with his ability and Christian philosophy has found his time so taken with other responsibilities that he has been unable to do more creative work than he has. Sorry to lose him from the faculty, the college sincerely hopes that his release from responsibilities here will enable him to spend more time in his studio. With this hope is the confident assurance that the Sprungers will always be nearby to help and to inspire.

"It is hoped that out of this story, a venture in Christian higher education in the Mennonite Church, will come an understanding out of which will grow a greater united loyalty of church, alumni, and faculty, which will in turn result in a more fruitful effort in the task of education for Christian discipleship in the days that are ahead."—Ernest E. Miller in the introduction to John Umble's Goshen College, 1894-1954. (Copies available at $3.00 from the Business Office, Goshen College, Goshen, Ind.)

To Her Motto We'll Be True

After dining on minted lime punch, barbecued pork chops, parsleyed potatoes, green lima beans, lettuce wedges (those treacherous things that go skidding off your salad plate when you try to eat them), Parkerhouse rolls, peach parfait, and coffee, three hundred and sixty-three alumni and friends settled back in their chairs for the annual business meeting of the Alumni Association and the banquet program. In the absence of Carl M. Hostetler 33, Goshen, president of the association, who was vacationing in Alaska, Lloyd E. Hartzler 38, Elkhart, Ind., presided at the business meeting. Leland A. Bachman 38, Goshen, secretary, read minutes of the previous annual meeting and summarized the activities of the board of directors. Following the presentation of the class of 1955 by sponsor Glen R. Miller and induction by chairman Hartzler, James R. Miller, Elkhart, president of the class, responded.

Harvey A. Driver 30, Wauseon, Ohio, was toastmaster for the banquet program. His remarks and those of the toasters, Mrs. Reuben J. Miller (Lydia Belle Stutzman) 05, Gary, Ind., and Albert R. Miller 45, Elkhart, were centered in the theme of the banquet—the motto of the college. Mrs. Miller was introduced by one of her classmates, John Umble 05, Goshen College professor emeritus of speech. Mary Oyer 45 directed the Motet Singers as they sang "Sea Charm"—a group of eight short songs about the sea. Just before Paul Mininger 34, president of the college, addressed the group on "The Heritage and Destiny of Goshen College," J. Forrest Kanagy 30, Gettysburg, Pa., presented a check of more than $250.00 to President Mininger—a twenty-fifth anniversary gift from the class for the purchase of children's books for the juvenile collection of the college library, which is housed in the elementary education center in the basement of Kulp Hall.

President Mininger's first address to the alumni revealed his hopes for the development of Goshen College academically, administratively, physically, and above all in its spiritual life and service. He spoke of areas in which our curriculum needs strengthening and expansion, of personnel needs, of decisions that need to be made as to expanding or limiting our enrollment, of building needs, of plans for new sources of income, and of the need for gifts and counsel from the alumni. "What is the genius of Goshen College?" he asked. The ideal of a liberal arts education in the minds of early leaders was to educate free minds and to liberate them from ignorance, superstition, and hidebound tradition. We must extend this idea by working out these implications with the free man in Christ as our goal. We must conserve the best elements of our heritage, but we must also be prophetic and creative. We believe God has a mission for Goshen College, and we want to continue to co-operate in that mission.

GOSHEN COLLEGE

Alma Mater, Ere We Leave You

Last exams written—last papers submitted—gracious weather—the students climbed into buses and automobiles for traditional year-end class outings Friday morning, June 3. Freshmen rusticated at Brunk's cabin. Sophs broiled at Michigan City. Juniors roamed Pokagon State Park.

By the time underclassmen left the campus, the seniors had already gathered in Westlawn dining room to what almost sounds like a country-style breakfast (smoked sausage, fried potatoes with eggs, tomato slices, date muffins, and trimmings) and to reminisce "From Then to Now," after which they migrated to Camp Mack. At the close of the day, tired and sunburned, the classes returned to the campus for a week end of traditional programs.

Friday evening the seventeen members of the Seminary Class of 1955 presented a program centered around their motto, "We preach . . . Jesus Christ as Lord." Two of the B.D. candidates, Ellis Croyle, Goshen, and Willis Hallman, Vineland, Ont., gave the principal addresses—"Faith as Obedience" and "Helping Men to God." The class gift to the seminary was a set of maps for classroom use.

On Sunday afternoon the combined choruses of Goshen College sang Mendelssohn's "Elijah" under the direction of Dwight Weldy 37. For the solo part of Elijah, Dwight had secured Bernard Izzo of the Serenaders Quartet of Chicago. Students Rosa Diener, Ruth Alice Hostetler, Roberta Janzen, Clifford King, Freeman Lehman, Edith Otto, and Herman Weaver sang other solo parts. The "Elijah," new to many persons of this year's choruses and the college community, was enthusiastically received.

Sunday evening's baccalaureate service featured a sermon, "The Transformed Mind," by Pres. Mininger and choral numbers by the Collegiate Chorus and the Motet Singers.

Rain drove the Class of '55 indoors for their entire class program. Their gift to the college was a twenty-two by thirty-seven-foot picnic shelter at the edge of the college woods about fifty yards from the college cabin, the other major structure in the recreation area along the Elkhart River. Open on all four sides, the shelter has a circular fireplace near one end. Like the cabin, which had also been a class gift, it was erected before the formal presentation. Following the presentation by Charles Burkholder, Lancaster, Pa., and the acceptance by Pres. Mininger, class president James R. Miller, Elkhart, passed the emblems to junior president Wilmer Rutt, Strasburg, Pa. With the planting of the ivy by Ada Clemens, Telford, Pa., the first part of the program closed. The class motto, "Higher," set the tone for the second part of the program. "Higher Aspirations" and "Deeper Understanding" —the orations of Margaret Jantzi, Clarence, N.Y., and Tom Diener, Goshen, were placed between a Corelli cello-piano sonata by Bettie Norman, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Carolyn Smith, Eureka, Ill., a men's quartet, and the breaking of the wreath by Barbara Roth. The entire class joined to sing "Lead On, O King Eternal," and then followed the music of the recessional played by Vance George, Nappanee, Ind., to a few hours of freedom from academic robes until time for the evening commencement service.

This year's commencement speaker, Harold J. Ockenga, Pastor of the Park Street Congregational Church, Boston, Mass., chose as his theme "The Crisis of the West." In a masterly way he summarized the history of western culture and then philosophized on the crisis. "When a culture is divorced from God," he said, "the judgment of God falls upon it." Our answer to the crisis is that the Lord is to come, but we are to occupy until He comes. We must not widen the gap by withdrawal; we must take God into all phases of life. There were choral numbers by the A Cappella Chorus. Deans Massanari and Bender presented candidates for degrees. Pres. Mininger conferred degrees. Cameras clicked. Light bulbs flashed. Hands were shaken. The fifty-seventh annual commencement crowned another academic year.

A Spot We Love Most Dearly

Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Va., was host to the family of Gustav and Amy Enss, when the family met on the Bridgewater campus for its first big reunion June 22-26. Only two daughters were unable to attend the reunion—Mrs. Francis Hipple (Mary Sudermann) of West Chester, Pa., and Frieda Enss of Lahore, Pakistan. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Sudermann and family, Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Andres (Joanna Sudermann) and family, Newton, Kans.; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sudermann and family, Goshen, Ind.; Justine Enss, Dearborn, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. George Preckshot (Amy Enss) and family, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stover (Haidie Enss) and family, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blocksma (Ruth Enss) and family, Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kemp (Vera Enss), Wilmington, Del.

Dr. and Mrs. Enss both taught at Goshen College in the late 20's and early 30's. He served as professor of German from 1928-33; professor of history and political science 1929-34; and professor of Bible 1933-34. Mrs. Enss was instructor in French 1929-30, and in German 1930-35. Since 1947 Dr. Enss has been professor of German and philosophy at Bridgewater College, retiring from that position on June 6.

Nine members of the family have attended Goshen College: Joanna (Sudermann) Andres 30; Jacob Sudermann 32, his wife, Hilda (Byler) a 29, and his son John J. x56; Justine 37; Amy x36; and Earl Stover x41 and his wife Haidie x42.

Just as the careers of the parents have been varied and interesting, so have those of their family. At present George Sudermann is a lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Air Force, assigned to the Educational Division. Francis Hipple is a local businessman in West Chester, Pa. Herman Andres is business manager of Bethel Deaconess Hospital, Newton, Kans., a member of the Publishing Committee of the General Conference Mennonite Church, and a trustee of the Schowalter estate, while his wife, Joanna, is a member of the General Conference Committee on Education in Church, Home, and Community and edits certain of their curriculum materials. Jacob Sudermann is a professor of German on the staff of Indiana University. Justine Enss is an art instructor at Dearborn Junior College. George Preckshot is a professor of chemical engineering on the staff of the University of Minnesota. Earl Stover has just returned with his family from Puerto Rico after ten years of public health service there under MCC, MRSC, and the Ulrich Foundation. He has opened both a private dental practice and a clinic in Sellersville, Pa. Frieda is business manager of the United Christian Hospital in Lahore, Pakistan. Ralph Blocksma is a plastic surgeon with an office in Grand Rapids. For a number of years he was head surgeon in the same hospital where Frieda is now serving. Harold Kemp is a chemical research engineer for DuPont.

Honor to Our Master Bringing

"Building the Church of Christ" was the theme chosen by the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities for its annual meeting on the college campus June 11-14. Throughout the public sessions this theme became the focal point for reports and addresses. In his Sunday morning sermon in the College Mennonite Church, J. D. Graber, secretary of the board, expressed a wish that we would get away from the term "mission," for it is the church we are building.

Associated with the annual meeting of the board were annual meetings of Mennonite Youth Fellowship, Mennonite Medical Association, Mennonite Nurses' Association, and the Women's Missionary and Service Auxiliary. Mennonite Youth Fellowship held its eighth annual church-wide meeting June 10 with daytime meetings in Assembly Hall and evening meetings in Union Auditorium. Roy D. Roth 43, president of Hesston College and Bible School, gave the principal address in the evening services. MYF officers are elected for two years. Continuing as president are LeRoy Kennel 51, Goshen, Ind., and Mary (Yutzy) Herr 53, Scottdale, Pa., as secretary. Kermit Derstine 56, Doylestown, Pa., is the newly elected vice-president. Margaret Lapp, Perkasie, Pa., is the new treasurer.

The Mennonite Medical Association held its annual business meeting Saturday afternoon, June 11, in Adelphian Hall, with its president-elect, Norman Loux, Providence, R.I., giving his inaugural address. This group elects its officers by ballots mailed to its members, rather than in its annual meetings.

Simultaneously with the medical group, the Mennonite Nurses' Association met in Aurora Hall. Mrs. H. Clair Amstutz (Florence Badertscher) 35, Goshen, is the newly elected president succeeding Edna Amstutz 40, Goshen. Anna Sauder, New Holland, Pa., Helen Dietzel x51, Iowa City, Iowa, and Mrs. Claude Bigler, Elkhart, Ind., continue as vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively.

The Women's Missionary and Service Auxiliary held its business session Monday afternoon, June 13, in the Union Auditorium. The only change in organization was the election of Mrs. Edwin Alderfer (Helen Wade) 43, Blooming Glen, Pa., as Secretary for Literature in the place of Mrs. John Duerksen (Ruth King) 39, Hesston, Kans., who is planning to be in Europe for the next three years.

Throughout the period June 11-14, committees of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities and the entire delegate body met in business sessions, with inspirational meetings evenings and throughout the day Sunday. In the business sessions the following alumni were newly elected or appointed to committees: Calvin Redekop 49, Hesston, Kans., to the Relief and Service Committee, and Nelson E. Kauffman ThB 43, Hannibal, Mo., and Levi C. Hartzler 35, Elkhart, Ind., to the Radio Evangelism Committee. Jacob Swartzendruber of the college faculty was also appointed to the latter committee.

After Youth and Strength Have Faded

Stanley F. Schenck, head of the mathematics department at Goshen High School for thirty-one years, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home Monday evening, May 9. He had not been ill and had taught his classes as usual that day. Throughout most of his years of teaching in the Goshen High School he had also served as critic teacher for the Goshen College department of education. During the academic year 1945-46 he taught a course in algebra and during the year 1949-50 a course in the teaching of arithmetic at the college.

Born in Bartholomew county, Oct. 20, 1896, Stanley Schenck was a graduate of Columbus High School, received a bachelor's degree from Franklin College, and an M.S. in Education from Indiana University. He founded the Hi-Y club in the Goshen High School shortly after coming to Goshen and was faculty sponsor for the group from that time until his death. He was an active member of the Congregational Christian Church and participated in other community affairs. Recently he was elected chairman of the mathematics division of the North-Central Indiana Teachers' Association.

In 1932 he was married to Juanita Koerner pt 31, who survives with his daughter, Janet Diana; his mother, Mrs. Anna Schenck of Columbus, Ind.; two brothers, and a sister. Funeral services were held at the First Congregational Christian Church, Goshen, May 12, and burial was in the Violett Cemetery.

Allen M. Schrock a x07, a lifelong resident of the Goshen, Ind., community and a retired schoolteacher and farmer, died April 11 at the Goshen hospital, where he had been a patient following surgery two weeks previously. He was born May 9, 1877, and was married to Ida Pletcher in 1902. Mrs. Schrock died in 1925. He is survived by his daughter Lillian (Mrs. Dwight Roth) x32 and three granddaughters. He was a member of the Silver Street Mennonite Church, Goshen, serving as a teacher and superintendent in the Sunday school for over twenty years. Funeral services were held April 14 at the Yoder Funeral Home in Goshen, with burial in the Rock Run Cemetery.

Mrs. Orlin J. Schrock (Eva Kessler) x13 died at Goshen Hospital June 8 after a long illness. Born near Goshen Oct. 22, 1892, she was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kessler. Since their marriage in 1920, she and Mr. Schrock had lived at 604 South Fifth Street, Goshen. She is survived by her husband; her daughter, Julia (Mrs. John Atz) x45; her son Orlin J., Jr., x51, two grandchildren, and two brothers. Funeral services were held June 10 at the First Methodist Church, Goshen, of which she was a member. Burial was in the Violett Cemetery.

David Smucker of Bluffton, Ohio, eldest son of Jesse N. 18 and Mary (Lantz) x21 Smucker of Goshen, Ind., was fatally injured in a highway accident near Chicago June 7. He was twenty-nine years old. He is survived by his parents, his wife (Barbara Jean Triplett), two children (Susan and Allen), two brothers, Leonard and Joe, and one sister, Mary Ann 53. Funeral services were held at Bluffton.

David Lee Steiner, three-year-old son of Elno 50 and Mabel (Smeltzer) aa47 Steiner of Elkhart, Ind., died of a congenital heart condition June 8 in Elkhart General Hospital. He is survived by his parents, an older brother Charles, and his four grandparents. Funeral services were held June 10 at the Olive Mennonite Church, where his father is pastor, in charge of J. C. Wenger 34, assisted by D. A. Yoder a x07 and Clarence Shank. Burial was in the Olive Cemetery.

Ruth (Cressman) Strubhar 50, daughter of Curtis C. and Amanda (Byler) Cressman, was born Aug. 2, 1921, and died April 23, 1955. She spent her childhood and early womanhood near New Hamburg, Ont. After completing her nurses' training, she served as nurse at various Mennonite institutions—the Mennonite Mission, Hannibal, Mo.; Hesston College and Bible School, Hesston, Kans.; and Braeside Home, Preston, Ont. She was graduated from Goshen College with a major in Social Science in 1950. With further training in the Frontier Nursing Service in Kentucky, she served as a nurse in the Culp, Ark., clinic under MRSC. On May 29, 1954, she was married to Clifford Strubhar, another of the workers in the Culp mission, and together they were serving at the outstation at Advance, Ark., at the time of her death. She died of complications following the stillbirth of a son. Funeral services were held at the Bethel Springs Mennonite Church, Culp, Ark., on April 24, and on April 27 at the Biehn Mennonite Church, New Hamburg, Ont., where interment was made. She is survived by her husband, her parents, two sisters, Lillian and Elsie 53, and one brother Howard.

Vera had been teaching in the Queens Court School in the same system for two years, serving as principal last year. In addition to her duties as principal, she will be responsible for the supervision and a major share of the planning and study of "genius" classes, which the Etobicoke Board is establishing in September, as two of the three classes will be in her school.

Arlene Grieser 52, unit leader, and Theron Weldy x56, business manager of the voluntary service unit at Grants, N. Mex., represented the concerns of the unit at a meeting with carrot growers and others, which was called to discuss means of co-ordinating efforts to promote better health and sanitation among the Navaho migrants in the New Mexico carrot camps.

William Klassen 52, student at Princeton Seminary this past year, has been appointed a Junior Fellow in Religion at Princeton University for the coming year.

Hazel Nice 52 has completed her second year teaching the second grade in the Rock Falls, Ill., schools and plans to return in the fall. She helped with the summer Bible school at the Mennonite Home Mission June 27 to July 8 and is spending the remainder of the summer selling the Lincoln Library.

Wayne North 52 was ordained to the ministry at the First Mennonite Church, Vineland, Ont., Easter Sunday. His father, Homer North w13, Nappanee, Ind., preached the ordination sermon. A. Lewis Fretz x25, Selkirk, Ont., was in charge of the ordination and was assisted by J. B. Martin x26, Waterloo, Ont., and H. S. Bender 18 of the seminary faculty.

Don Reber 52, Hombetsu, Japan, is launching a radio program to consist largely of hymns and Gospel songs, Scripture reading, and announcements.

Since returning from MCC relief work in Jordan, Samuel Stover 52, Perkasie, Pa., has been working in a hospital laboratory near home. He has been accepted in the September beginning class at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.

Patricia Brenneman 53, who has been teaching in the public schools at Sarasota, Fla., will be joining the staff of the Bethany Mennonite School, Aibonito, Puerto Rico, in the fall.

Mary Ann Smucker 53, Goshen, Ind., is serving as life guard at Camp Friedenswald, Cassopolis, Mich., this summer.

Edward Stoltzfus 53, West Liberty, Ohio, has been appointed editor of the Ohio Evangel, organ of the Ohio Mission Board, succeeding David Hostetler 53, who with his wife Rosanna (Yoder) 53 is under appointment to mission work in Brazil.

Weldon Troyer 53 will be finishing his I-W service at the La Plata Mennonite Hospital in August and plans to enter medical school at the University of Puerto Rico this fall.

Farewell services for Ross as54 and Ruth pt54 Goldfus, missionaries under appointment to Argentina, were held at the Neffsville, Pa., Mennonite Church May 29. The Goldfus family left Philadelphia, Pa., via Eastern Air Lines May 30.

Kenneth Drohan x54, in I-W service at Brattleboro, Vt., is following his hobby of weather forecasting during his spare time and finds the extremes in Vermont weather interesting to study.

May 15 Eugene Herr x54, Scottdale, Pa., was ordained to the ministry to serve as pastor of the Kingview Mennonite Church in Scottdale. He works part time in the Mennonite Publishing House.

Gerald 54 and Annabelle (Conrad) Hughes are in charge of the community center recently established at 2803 E. 51st St., Cleveland, Ohio, by the Gladstone Mennonite Church. It is their responsibility to direct a full program of community activities from children's clubs to adult fellowships. They are living in an apartment at the rear of the center.

A recent issue of the Congo Missionary Messenger announced the return of Anna V. Liechty 54 and Tina Quiring 48 for second terms of service with the Congo Inland Mission. Anna will be assisting Russel 38 and Helen (Yoder) x31 Schnell with the educational and evangelistic work at Banga Station, while Tina will be teaching Bible to students at Charlesville.

Carlos Miguel Larranaga x55 received his American citizenship in the Elkhart, Ind., superior court May 25. He is living in Goshen and is employed at the I-XL Furniture Company.

from the dignity and add to the tension. Maybe we should begin the exercises at seven-thirty or seven o'clock instead of eight. There would be conflicting desires in this regard, I know. Those who invite guests to their homes for the evening meal find the time all too short. But many guests in our community have no evening invitations. Time hangs heavy on their hands. Underclassmen, required to stay for the commencement program, strain at the leash, eager to climb in their cars as soon after the benediction as possible to drive through the night to their respective homes in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Iowa, etc.

Each year we say, "This is the way we have always done it." Should we make changes? Can we make changes? No one from the college administration authorized me to ask these questions. We as alumni cannot dictate changes. We should feel free, however, to give counsel, understanding that no one is required to pay attention to what we say. We should feel free, particularly, to raise questions and suggestions concerning the activities which concern us most intimately.

Traditions—sometimes the expression of an ideal, sometimes a shackle! Traditions should serve two purposes. They should build in students a love for their Alma Mater. More than that, traditions should develop in them a love for the ideals which their Alma Mater upholds. Do we cherish our traditions? Do we cherish the "spot" because it symbolizes ideals we cherish?

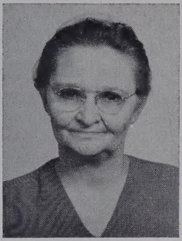
Speaking of traditions, there's one tradition that I'd like to recommend very highly to our alumni. That is the tradition of speaking a word of encouragement to the high-school graduate of your acquaintance who should be coming to Goshen College in the fall. There's another practice, perhaps not so much of a tradition, but with all the potentials of a really fine tradition—helping to share the financial burden of those who should come to Goshen College, but do not have the funds to do so. I don't know how many alumni have the funds to do this sort of thing, nor do I know how many alumni have done this sort of thing in the past—probably more than anyone realizes. More should be doing it, particularly since our present system of scholarships penalizes students with the greatest need. There are a number of ways in which help has been given in the past. The most common, no doubt, is just a gift of ten dollars or so. That sort of gift doesn't really meet the more serious needs of some young folks. I'm thinking of those who need one hundred dollars, two hundred dollars, five hundred dollars, or perhaps even more. You might want to make a direct loan to the student for whom you have a special concern—a loan without interest, to be repaid as the recipient is able when he is through school. Or you might make it a loan which is not to be repaid to you, but is to be passed on to some younger student who has need. You lose the control, of course, after the initial loan, but you are providing an opportunity for growth of character to the person to whom you make the loan by putting him on his honor in this fashion. You might want to tender the help anonymously by paying the money to the Controller to be credited against your friend's account. Perhaps you'd like to contribute to a revolving student loan fund administered by the college. Or you might establish a scholarship fund. You help to arrange the plan of the scholarship, but you delegate the selection of the beneficiary to the school. Do you know a prospective student who needs financial help? How about giving him the boost he needs?

Though Our Talents May Be Slender



Alta Mae Erb

Christian Nurture of Children, by Alta Mae Erb 12, fac 1940-46; second edition; Scottdale, Pa., Herald Press, 1955. 180 pages. $2.00.

What Christian parent, competent as he may be for his daily work, does not feel that his talents are all too slender for the new responsibility that is his, as he holds in his arms the newborn baby God has given him? Alta Mae Erb's book speaks to this need. In a time when many books are available, most of them approaching child-training from a humanistic viewpoint, she approaches the problem from the Christian viewpoint. Long a student of child psychology, a mother, a grandmother, and teacher of teachers, she faces the question of Christian nurture in a direct, and practical way. In the development of the personality of the child, her ultimate goal is to awaken in him a consciousness of God that will eventually lead to commitment to Christ.

She traces the child from infancy to childhood, tracing his physical, intellectual, emotional, social, play, and religious needs, suggesting ways in which the parent may meet these needs through direct and indirect nurture.

Her discussion is frequently illustrated with stories from the real experience of children.

This second edition is partly a rewriting, partly a rearrangement of the material in the first edition. Especially to be noted are the new attitude she expresses toward the problem of child conversion and the respective values of various types of visual aids for religious instruction. She has added some new material on the role of the father in the home. Her style is more pleasing. In the earlier edition, notes for class discussion were placed at the end of each chapter. In the second edition she has placed them at the end of the book, retaining their chapter divisions. At the ends of the chapters are annotated bibliographical notes, suggesting additional literature which the parent may want to consult.

Perhaps the most notable change in the book is its physical appearance. From the cover to the index, the book represents the advance which the publishers have made in the art of printing. Without increasing the size of the book to any appreciable extent, they have given us a much more readable book with clear type on good paper. The price of the book brings it within easy reach of all parents.

Christian Parents Baby Book, by Alta Mae Erb 12, fac 1940-46 and Winifred (Erb) Paul 46, illustrated by Esther Rose (Buckwalter) Graber 52; Scottdale, Pa., Herald Press, 1955. 48 pages. $2.75.

At about the same time that Herald Press announced the publication of Alta Mae Erb's Christian Nurture of Children, they announced the publication of the Christian Parents Baby Book, which she prepared in collaboration with her own daughter Winifred. While this baby book is designed for recording significant facts and observations of child development, it is more than a record book. It is also a book in Christian nurture, devoting more space to counsel for the Christian parent than to records. The combination of guidance and counsel, drawn from the broad experience of many parents and workers with children, and individual record, makes an intensely personal book for the parent. The guidance portions are presented in brief statements or paragraphs, bits of poetry, quotations, and outlines. Esther Rose Graber's illustrations add much to the interest of the book.

I would raise one serious question, and that concerns the dedication section on page five. While I wholeheartedly believe that parents should dedicate themselves to nurture their children in the Lord, I am concerned lest public services of dedication of infants place the emphasis at the wrong place. Can we dedicate infants? Should we not dedicate ourselves? What is the real difference between a service of dedication of infants and the baptism of infants? How do we explain this difference to the person who says that infant baptism is essentially the dedication of parents? It seems that this page in the baby book would encourage public dedication services—in fact, almost demand them.

The book gives space for many interesting observations of the baby's development. Near the beginning it warns that not all babies grow at the same rate, even though they follow the same patterns of growth. And so, although I may tend to be discouraged because my child did not progress in one area, I take courage in that he seems advanced in another area. Too, I tend to curb my eager desire to see him advance more rapidly than he should, as I see that God's timetable for advance is not as rapid as mine would be.

These two new books from Herald Press and Meditations for the New Mother by Helen (Good) Brenneman pt 52, which was published in 1953, form a sort of trilogy of books for new parents. They are a credit to authors and publishers alike.

Here we learn life's duties, doing,
In our sacred College halls,

Freshman, Soph'more, Junior, Senior,
Answer "Aye" when duty calls.

Though our talents may be slender
Yet our hearts are warm and true,

Ever lead us onward, upward,
Ever shall our strength renew.

The Year Turns

The year turns in September at Goshen College. Commencement in June marks the end of the school year for most students and for some faculty members. For others, particularly the administrative staff, the year rolls on to the end of August. Summer months are unsettled months. There is much going and coming—the great exodus of students with a new wave of two hundred summer school students, many of whom are older persons and do not live on our campus—a certain number of old secretaries leaving and new ones coming, vacations for continuing secretaries, substitutions, and a resulting uncertainty in all of the offices—administrative personnel absent for vacations and for conference and committee appointments. There is the problem of setting in motion the machinery of the new year before the wheels of the old have come to rest, of writing the opening paragraphs of next year's report before the last period has been placed on that of last year. I feel confident that Paul Mininger's first annual report as president of the college will have an optimistic tone, for we have had a good year. Contributing to the success of the year are the gifts of the alumni. You have contributed $46,653 (including an anonymous gift of $10,000) to the building program of the college during the past year, and we are grateful to you for doing so. We realize, too, that you have contributed more than that amount to Goshen College through offerings taken in your local congregations and in other ways. Thank you for all these tokens of trust in us as your co-workers in the cause of Christian education.

Mrs. Howard M. Snider

The year turns in September at Goshen College. In the tradition of other years, faculty members spent three days early in the month at Little Eden Mennonite Camp on Portage Lake near Onekama, Mich. As the old year waxes and wanes, we tend to draw apart as individuals and to think of our own special problems and interests. Faculty retreat again brings our minds to a focus on the total program which we share.

The year turns in September at Goshen College. We note an enrollment of 630 full-time students, and we rejoice. We also pause to reflect. If our enrollment has risen ten per cent this year, will it rise a corresponding amount next year and the year after? We have had buildings in the process of construction almost continuously for the past ten years. Yet we seem to be bursting at the seams with urgent need for still more facilities. We have been increasing our faculty and administrative staff, but the demands on our time continue to press as heavily as before and threaten to grow heavier.

The year turns in September at Goshen College. The new year has now begun. It is a year in which we need your gifts again. More than that we need your prayers. You're with us before the throne of grace, aren't you?

Mrs. Howard Snider Becomes Assistant Editor

With this issue of the Newsletter, Mrs. Howard Snider becomes assistant editor. Marie Gingerich of Lowville, N.Y. received her B.A. from Goshen College in 1949. She then taught commercial subjects and high school English at Rockway Mennonite School, Kitchener, Ont., for four years, returning to Goshen College for advanced seminary work in the year 1953-54. She was married to Howard M. Snider 54, Guernsey, Sask., Nov. 27, 1954. Since last summer both Howard and Marie have been working in the editorial department of the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, Pa. Howard, who has been writing the adult section of the Herald Teacher, is returning to Goshen for graduate work in the seminary.

Coming to Goshen early in September, Marie accepts a three-fold responsibility—the organization and administration of a speakers bureau; certain aspects of alumni relations work; and part-time teaching in the English department. The first aspect of her work is just in the early planning stage. When the speakers bureau has been organized, the Alumni Newsletter will explain its functions and plan of operation. In the English department Marie will carry the equivalent of three semester hours of teaching in the English clinic program, working under the direction of John J. Fisher, Jr. 48.

In alumni relations Marie will be responsible for keeping alumni files in order and for acknowledging alumni gifts to the college. In this work, as well as that of the speakers bureau, she will work with S. M. Kings 34, director of public relations. As assistant editor of the Newsletter, Marie will assist the editor in searching for alumni news, planning special articles, preparing copy, and checking galley proofs. She looks forward to her task with eagerness, and we anticipate the good help we are confident she will give. Welcome, Marie. God bless you.

Mary Royer on Leave

In the July issue of the Newsletter the name of Mary Royer, professor of education was unintentionally omitted from the list of faculty members on leave during the 1955-56 academic year. During the summer Mary attended a workshop at the University of Minnesota, sponsored by the North Central Association for colleges interested in teacher education. From among the special problems studied in the workshop, she chose to participate in the studies of the relationship of general education to teacher education and ways and means of improving present elementary teaching programs.

During the academic year Mary will be visiting a number of teacher education institutions to gather information about up-to-date practices which will be helpful in further study and improvement of the Goshen College teacher education program. She will also reorganize her own teaching files and plans for the courses she teaches, do extensive professional reading and writing, attend professional meetings and workshops, and do some follow-up work with Goshen alumni teachers who are in the field.

Recent Additions to Faculty

Since the July issue of the Newsletter was published, several persons have been hired to teach courses at the college during the current academic year.

Roselle Yoder joins the faculty as full-time instructor in piano, coming to Goshen from West Liberty, Ohio, where she is a member of the Oak Grove Mennonite Church. Roselle was graduated from Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, in 1954 with a bachelor of music degree. During her senior year she did some student teaching, and she returned to Wittenberg as an instructor in piano last year. In addition to her teaching, she served as accompanist for a number of recitals by faculty members and students. Besides her college students this year, she will also be teaching a few younger pupils. Her studio will be located above the lobby of the Union Building.

Added to the group of part-time instructors is Anne McAllister, elementary supervisor in the Elkhart City Schools, who will teach one course in elementary education each semester.

"Unto the Lord," a new 12-inch long-play recording of sacred music by the 64-voice A Cappella Chorus directed by Dwight Weldy 40 and the 23-voice Motet Singers directed by Mary Oyer 45, is now ready. Among the numbers recorded are "O Lord God, to Thee Be Praise," "Gott ist die Liebe," "Beautiful Saviour," and Bach's Motet, "Jesu, Priceless Treasure." The price is $4.00 with a additional 25¢ mailing charge. Order from the College Book Store.

Students-in-Industry

Nineteen students from Goshen, Hesston, and Eastern Mennonite Colleges were employed in Chicago factories this summer under the students-in-industry program. This program, which has been administered by the Committee on Economic and Social Relations of Mennonite General Conference for the past two summers, is a workshop experience which provides the basis of a study of social and spiritual conditions of workers, labor-management problems, and the role of the church in a city culture. By actually living in a large city and becoming part of the industrial wheel, students, through first-hand experience, gain a better understanding of the problems faced by today's average city worker. With specified evenings each week given to study, lectures and group discussion, participants had opportunity to evaluate their own experiences individually and as a group.

Willis BD55 and Katherine (Hertzler) pt54 Hallman were director and matron of this year's unit. Participating students were Arthur Byer, Markham, Ont.; Elinor Esch 57, Elkhart, Ind.; James Faul adv sem55, Minneapolis, Minn.; Phyllis Frey, Wauseon, Ohio; Marlin Jeschke adv sem55, Waldheim, Sask.; Issa Khalil, Bethlehem, Jordan; Harry and Esther Lefever, Harrisonburg, Va.; Arlene Martin 55, Hagerstown, Md.; Alice Metzler 57, Scottdale, Pa.; Sarah Meyers, Souderton, Pa.; Esther Mae Ressler, Dalton, Ohio; Arnold Roth 58, Wayland, Iowa; Rachel Stauffer, Stevens, Pa.; Takio Tanase, Tokyo, Japan; Hans Wiehler 55, Hamburg, Germany; Ben Yoder, Millersburg, Ohio; Vernon Yoder, Hutchinson, Kans.; and Anna Frances Zimmerman, Blue Ball, Pa.

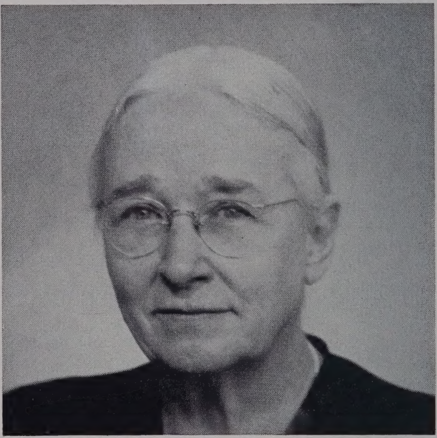
In Memoriam

Frederick J. Gingerich cr09, son of Joseph C. and Catherine (Swartzendruber) Gingerich, was born Sept. 15, 1878, near Green Center, Iowa, and died suddenly at his desert home in Paradise Valley, fifteen miles north of Phoenix, Ariz., July 15, 1955. On Dec. 22, 1901, he married the former Katie Liechty, who preceded him in death in December, 1953. His only son, Daniel L., of Canby, Ore., four grandsons, and three great-grandchildren survive. He is also survived by five brothers and one sister.

In 1913 Fred was ordained to the Christian ministry at the East Union Mennonite Church, Kalona, Iowa, to serve as pastor of the West Fairview Mennonite Church, Beaver Crossing, Nebr. In 1919 he moved to Canby, Ore., where he served, first as minister, and from 1921 to the time of his death as bishop. He served as moderator of the Mennonite Conference of the Pacific Coast District seven times and as assistant moderator four times. He was also one of the active leaders in the organization of Western Mennonite School.

Memorial services were held at the Sunnyslope Mennonite Church, Phoenix, Ariz., July 17 and at the Zion Mennonite Church, Hubbard, Ore., July 20.

Freeman S. Gingrich a31, son of Israel and Lovina Gingrich, was born Sept. 21, 1906, in Waterloo Co., Ont., and died of a heart ailment July 7, 1955, in the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital, Kitchener, Ont. On March 15, 1939, he was married to the former Mary Horst. To them were born three sons—David, Ronald, and Raymond—and one daughter—Kathleen. He was graduated from the Goshen College academy in 1931 and returned to Goshen College for the spring session in 1945. By occupation a cheese manufacturer, he was always active in his home congregation (the St Jacobs Mennonite Church) and promoted the broader causes of relief, voluntary service, and city missions. At the time of his death he was chairman of the City Committee of the Ontario Mission Board. Surviving, beside his wife and children, are three sisters. Funeral services were held at the St. Jacobs Mennonite Church July 10, with interment at Three Bridges, Ont.



Mrs. J. E. Hartzler

Mamie (Yoder) Hartzler 03, wife of J. E. Hartzler 04, president of Goshen College from 1913-1918, died of acute appendicitis in Oslo, Norway, July 29, while she and her husband were on a tour of northern Europe and the Scandinavian countries. Her death after an illness of only four days came as a shock to her many friends who remember her as a woman of unusually good health and radiant spirit.

Born Sept. 15, 1883, she was the daughter of the late David S. and Armenon Yoder of West Liberty, Ohio. The Hartzlers were married in 1910. To them were born two children, John, Ashland, Ohio, and Helen, Los Angeles, Calif., who survive with the husband. Also surviving are two grandchildren; two brothers, John L. 11 and Joseph x19, both of West Liberty, Ohio; and two sisters Ruth 18, West Liberty, and Mrs. Nellie Kuttruff 16, Blythe, Calif.

Although Mrs. Hartzler was never a member of the faculty of Goshen College, she shared in the experiences of her husband as he struggled with many problems which faced the college during his administration, particularly the securing of funds for the college building program and operating expenses. Together they made many personal sacrifices for the sake of the college, even to the extent of borrowing money on their home and on their personal notes to tide the college over some of its more difficult spots.

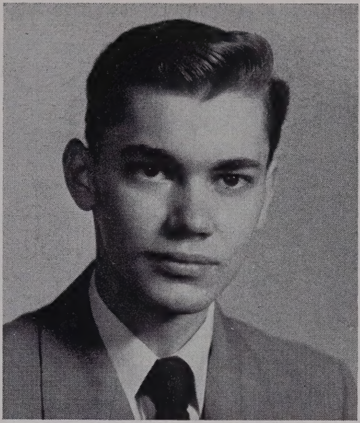
Mrs. Hartzler's body was cremated in Oslo and brought home by her husband, who returned to Goshen by plane July 31. Memorial services were held at the Eighth Street Mennonite Church, Goshen, Aug. 5, with Robert Hartzler 41 and A. E. Kreider 15 in charge. Burial was made in Violett Cemetery south of Goshen.

Wilfrid H. St. Germain, Jr. x44, Batavia, Ill., died suddenly of a heart attack at his home Aug. 4. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid H. St. Germain of Goshen, Ind., he was married to the former Marian Gegax x44 of Dunlap, Ind.

Wilfrid attended Goshen College during the years 1940-41 and 1941-42 and then transferred to Purdue University, from which he was graduated with a degree in chemical engineering. At the time of his death he was vice-president of Delta Dynamics, Inc., at Batavia.

Besides his wife and parents, he is survived by three children, Madalyn, six, Wilfrid Evan, two, and Charles Alan, one; and his brother Winston x46. Funeral services were held from Yoder's funeral home, Goshen, Aug. 7, with W. I. Duker, pastor of the Waterford Christian Church in charge. Burial was made in Violett Cemetery.

Wesley Warren Schmitt, six-month-old son of Peter 55 and Etta (Bartel) Schmitt, Goshen, Ind., died July 22 of a heart ailment from which he had suffered since birth. He is survived by a brother, Kenneth, and a sister, Janice Arlene. Graveside services were held in the Violett Cemetery south of Goshen July 24, with John Mosemann, pastor of the College Mennonite Church, in charge.



Paul E. Weldy

Paul Edward Weldy was born July 29, 1933, at Wakarusa, Ind., and died of a heart attack at the home of his parents, Maynard w44 and Edna (Weaver) Weldy July 13, 1955. In June Paul had completed his second year as a student in the elementary education department at Goshen College and planned to return again in September. In December he was to be married to Leanne Fricke 58 of Goshen.

Although Paul's heart had been weakened by rheumatic fever in his early teens, he was active in extracurricular affairs at the college, being a member of the student council in his freshman year and participating in music and forensic activities. He was president of the Aurora Literary Society during his sophomore year. Throughout his college years he continued active in his home congregation, the Holdeman Mennonite Church near Wakarusa, as a Sunday school teacher and leader in the local Mennonite Youth Fellowship.

Beside his parents and his fiancee he is survived by his two brothers, Loren 54 and Leland 57, and his sister, Elaine. Funeral services were held July 15 at the Olive Mennonite Church near Elkhart with Simon Gingerich 49 and Lee Miller in charge. Burial was in the adjacent cemetery.

Coming Home

The world has nothing to bestow:
  From our own selves our joys must flow,
    And that dear hut, our home.
      Nathaniel Cotton, The Fireside.

We've come a long way from the fairy stories of our childhood which ended with the poor lad receiving the hand of the princess, castles and lands, and living happily ever after. Joys, we find, come not so much from getting and having, but from being and doing. Home is precious to us in the sense that we have been ourselves and have given ourselves there.

For a quarter of a century former students of Goshen College have "come home" at Thanksgiving time. The joy with which they come home is tempered by the character of their student days. If they participated in the life and spirit of the campus, there is a desire to come home. They want to see what students are doing today, whether or not they are keeping the old traditions, what spirit prevails on the campus, in general, what progress is being made. If they gave of themselves in friendship, they hope to renew old friendships. If they gave of themselves in the outreach program of the Y, they anticipate a visit to the established congregations which they knew as mission Sunday schools, to see if Cora McCutchan, Simon Yoder, or others they knew are still there.

But former students "come home" in more ways than this return to the campus at homecoming time. During October the members of the Mennonite Board of Education gather for their annual meeting. They hear reports from the schools under their control. They make decisions that affect each school. More than half of them are alumni of Goshen College. They come home, in a sense, to help determine policies which guide their alma mater.

Some of our alumni have "come home" to serve on the faculty and administrative staff of the college—many of them, in fact. Some educators would call this inbreeding and therefore unhealthy. But what is more natural than that an institution with the ideals we cherish should turn to those who love those ideals to carry on in the spirit of Goshen College? In the meantime, these persons have had a chance to compare these ideals with other philosophies and sets of values, for most of them have taken graduate work in other schools.

Each year an increasing number of our alumni "come home" to us through their sons and daughters. As the years passed, they undoubtedly found the ties that bound them to Goshen College weakening a bit. Now their interest revives. They are once more participating in college life, although indirectly. The character of Goshen College life again assumes vital significance to them.

Our former students "come home" in the gifts they send to us. Some of them lived in a wooden hut. They know that concrete and steel and brick are better building materials. Some of them worked in inadequate, outmoded laboratories, and they desire better facilities for the students who follow them. Some of them failed to find source materials for papers they wanted to write, and they want to enrich the library. Many of them give, simply because they know that the ongoing program of the school depends upon many gifts of smaller amounts to supplement the large gifts which a few are able to give.

Many persons need to "come home" while they are enrolled as students. Goshen College may never have become home for them. They need the giving experience which is truly sharing in Goshen College life. For a number of years the students, through the Service Committee of the Y, have asked for two days of recess from classes to earn money for campus development projects. Initiating the Work Drive with such enthusiastic co-operation that the New York Times even noticed it, the students of Goshen College have not always done so well. Failing to realize that the welfare of each aspect of the program of the college contributes to the welfare of the whole, they excused their own selfishness with criticism of the choice of the project, or hints that the work drive was a scheme of the administration to stuff the bursting money bags in the Business Office. Were they to fill the shoes of the administrative officials of the college for only a few days, the "bursting money bags" would turn to bursting bubbles of mistaken notions. The students who can truly "come home" in later years are those

"Work and Yield for the Athletic Field"

This year's Student-Faculty Work Drive motto was "Work and Yield for the Athletic Field." And "work and yield" they did! An anonymous alumnus added motivation by offering to match student earnings dollar for dollar up to the $8,000 goal.

A Work Drive Harvest Fest held in Union Auditorium Wednesday evening, October 19, climaxed the drive. The evening of the fest each student upon entering the auditorium deposited his earnings in a box at the door. Secretaries, seated on the union stage, tabulated the contributions, and the results of their tabulations were registered periodically by a giant thermometer. While the secretaries worked, the contributors watched a student-faculty volleyball game, still keeping one eye on the rising thermometer.

By October 22 faculty and students had turned in over $7,000, with more to go.

This year's project was chosen because expansion plans for the college will eventually necessitate moving the present athletic field. The tentative plan for the new field to be located east of the railroad tracks includes a series of eight asphalt tennis courts. These courts, located on the north end of the field, will be flooded in winter for ice skating.

Five baseball and softball diamonds are in the present plan. Separate fields are laid out for football and hockey, and a driving range for golf. A track and sawdust pits for track and field events complete the present layout.

The illustration on this page is a drawing of the tentative plan.

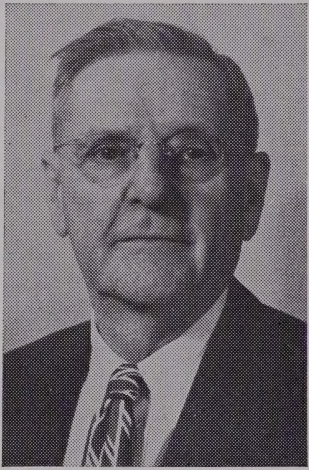
In Memoriam

Mrs. Ross L. Gerber (Elsie Ruth Hertzler) died of cancer at her home near Wooster, Ohio, Sept. 14. She was the daughter of the late I. Z. and Mary Emma (Yoder) Hertzler, of Belleville, Pa.

Ruth was graduated from Goshen College with the degree of bachelor of science in education in 1935. During her student days at Goshen College, she was active in extracurricular affairs, being president of the Audubon Society during her junior year, and secretary of her class, president of the Avon Literary Society and Ladies' Chorus, and treasurer of the Y.W.C.A. during her senior year. She was student assistant in commerce during her sophomore, junior, and senior years and returned to Goshen College to teach commerce in 1935-36.

In June 1936, Ruth was married to Ross Gerber 33, who survives with her mother; five children, Nancy, David, Dwight, Daniel, and Amy; and two sisters, Mary (Mrs. Joe Swope) 36, Youngstown, Ohio, and Arie (Mrs. Elam Grassmyer), Belleville, Pa. Funeral services were held Sept. 16 at the Orrville, Ohio, Mennonite Church, with I. W. Royer x06, Harold Bauman 46, and Lester Graybill 54 in charge. Interment was in the Crown Hill Cemetery, Orrville.



D. S. Gerig

Daniel S. Gerig died of a heart attack while teaching the Lifters Sunday school class at the Eighth Street Mennonite Church, Goshen, Ind., Oct. 2. His death came unexpectedly, although he had been under the care of a doctor for a heart ailment.

Son of Benjamin and Lydia (Schrock) Gerig, he was born at Smithville, Ohio, March 10, 1875. On April 10, 1904, he was married to Bessie Landis 02, who died April 15, 1931. To them were born a son, Daniel S. Gerig, Jr., x26 of Geneva, Switzerland, and a daughter, Alice (Mrs. F. S. Martin) x32, Goshen. On Aug. 3, 1933, he married Ruth Landis Umble x25, sister of his first wife.

Daniel Gerig received his A.B. degree from Wooster College in 1900, prior to which time he had taught in the rural schools of Wayne County, Ohio. He came to Elkhart Institute in 1900 to teach foreign languages, continuing at Goshen College as instructor in German, Greek, and Latin. From 1903 to 1923 he was professor of German at Goshen. During this time he also held several administrative positions: registrar, 1905-17; acting dean, 1916-18; and dean, 1918-19. He was professor of economics from 1928-30. In 1930 he received his A.M. from the University of Chicago. He returned to Goshen College again in 1934 as professor of economics, continuing until 1940. Through three decades he also served as a teacher of social studies in the Goshen high school and a critic teacher for college students doing practice teaching there.

He is survived by his wife, his children, two stepchildren, four grandchildren; one brother, Jacob L. Gerig x00, Smithville, Ohio; and four sisters, Emma (Mrs. J. M. Wenger) x20, Katie (Mrs. Noah Smucker) x98, both of Smithville; Frances (Mrs. Levi Wenger), Wooster; and Lydia, Rittman, Ohio.

Funeral services were held at the Eighth Street Mennonite Church Oct. 5, with Robert Hartzler 41 in charge. Burial was in Violett Cemetery south of Goshen.

Freeman Schrock was born Sept. 8, 1928, and died of a heart attack in a motel at Oakland, Calif., Aug. 7, 1955, while on trip to the west coast. He had been enrolled at Goshen College as a freshman in the general education program during the past year. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Schrock of Ligonier, Ind. His mother and sister Viola preceded him in death. Surviving are his father; three brothers, Truman of Ligonier and Ammon and Raymond of Shipshewana, Ind.; and four sisters, Ella (Mrs. Ira Yoder) Lagrange, Ind.; Anna (Mrs. Levi Yoder), Lydia (Mrs. Simon Miller) and Fanny (Mrs. Menno Lambright), all of Topeka, Ind.

His body was returned to Indiana for funeral services in the charge of Russell Krabill 43, pastor of the North Goshen Mennonite Church of which he was a member, and Perry Yoder. Burial was in the Christner Cemetery.

John E. Weaver was found dead in his home in Bluffton, Ohio, September 5 by neighbors who became alarmed when he did not appear outside the house for several days. He had been living alone, and his son Richard, who also lives in Bluffton, was out of town at the time, attending the Bluffton College faculty retreat. Saturday morning, Sept. 3, when he was last seen alive, he had seemed in good health.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Weaver, he was born Oct. 29, 1884, at Nappanee, Ind. On June 29, 1913, he was married to Elnora Kauffman 13, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident Nov. 27, 1947. Two children, Richard of Bluffton and Eleanor of Newton, Kans.; five grandchildren; a brother, William B. Weaver 14, Bloomington, Ill.; and three sisters, Emma (Mrs. C. P. Shideler), Goshen, Ind.; Barbara (Mrs. Chester Dunithan), Topeka, Ind.; and Vinora (Mrs. Earl Salzman) 18, Nappanee, Ind., survive.

John Weaver received his B.A. degree from Goshen College in 1914 and his M.A. from Indiana State University in 1916. From 1910-14 he served as an instructor in commerce at Goshen College. He became principal of the School of Business in 1916, continuing until 1921. He was business manager from 1918-21 and professor of acounting from 1920-21. For twenty-five years he taught in the Goshen High School, retiring in 1949. During this time he served as a critic teacher for college students doing practice teaching there. Since his retirement from teaching he had been bookkeeper at Bluffton College, having been at his desk on Friday before he died.

Funeral services were held at the Eighth Street Mennonite Church, Sept. 7 in charge of Robert Hartzler 41. Burial was in the Clinton-Union Cemetery.

Gasser Paintings on Exhibit

Ezra Hershberger 34, assistant professor of art, has arranged for an exhibit of water colors and oil techniques in casein by Henry Gasser to come to the Goshen College campus during the month of November.

Henry Gasser studied at the Newark School of Art, at the Grand Central School of Art, and the Art Students League of New York. His paintings, now represented in more than twenty-six museum collections, have been exhibited throughout the United States and abroad. Among the more than one hundred awards his oils and watercolors have received are the Hallgarten Prize of the National Academy; the Zabriskie, Osborne and Obrig Prizes of the American Watercolor Society; the Connecticut Academy First and Second Prizes; the Silver and Gold Medals at Oakland, Calif.; and various awards from the Audubon Artists, Salamagundi Club, and Philadelphia and Washington Watercolor Clubs.

At present director of the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Art, and art manager of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, Mr. Gasser has also lectured and demonstrated painting techniques for art groups and schools in various parts of the country. He is author of the books Cassein Painting: Method and Demonstrations, Oil Painting: Method and Demonstrations, and Watercolor —How to Do It.

The exact dates of the exhibit are not quite certain, but Ezra says he expects it to be ready for display during the second week of November and that it will remain on display through the Homecoming season.

Joseph Alderfer x55 has completed his I-W service as secretary at the Mennonite Hospital, La Junta, Colo., and has returned to his home near Scottdale, Pa., where he is employed at the Mennonite Publishing House.

Lawrence Brunk sem 55, missionary on furlough from Argentina, conducted evangelistic meetings at the Chicago Mennonite Spanish Church from Sept. 25 to Oct. 2.

Charles 55 and Ruth (Zook) 55 Burkholder are employed at the Baptist Home for Children, Bethesda, Maryland. Charles is housefather for ten 11-14-year-old boys and Ruth is special tutor. The home, operated by the Baptist churches in the Washington, D.C., and southeastern Maryland area, serves children from broken homes.

Philip J. Lauver 55 is located at the Brethren Service Center, New Windsor, Md., doing his I-W service.

Bryan Stoltzfus 55, Atmore, Ala., is director of physical education at Iowa Mennonite School, Kalona, Iowa.

Paul 53 and Janet (Hostetler) x56 Swartzentruber are living in Columbia, Mo., where Paul will continue his graduate work in chemistry at the University of Missouri. He received the M.S. degree from the University of Minnesota in July, 1955. Janet, who works as secretary in the Pathology Dept. at the University, will complete requirements for the B.S. degree from Goshen by January.

Berniece Kropf x57, Harrisburg, Oreg., traveled for six weeks this summer with her parents. She especially enjoyed the scenery in the Black Hills and Yellowstone Park. Berniece now lives at home and drives two and one-half miles to work at the bank in her home town.

Among the officers elected at the reunion of Kalamazoo I-W men which was held at Goshen on Aug. 14 was Mahlon Bontrager x58, treasurer.

Glenn Egli x58, Hopedale, Ill., began I-W service at a hospital in Evanston, Ill., Sept. 19.

Miriam Hartman x58 has entered the La Junta Mennonite School of Nursing after one year in the Goshen pre-nursing curriculum.

Browsings of a Librarian

I've been browsing this evening. For more than an hour I've been dipping into the galley proofs of S. C. Yoder's forthcoming book—Things That Remain. Through a third of a century at Goshen College, S. C. Yoder has preached countless sermons and delivered many addresses. From among all these messages, primarily intended for young people, he has selected a dozen and a half and is publishing them in book form, with the encouragement of some of those who have loved to sit at his feet and listen.

There is a bit of poignancy in some of the biographical notes which appear now and again throughout the book. Here was a man who was born in a rural area and who loved the rural life, his old neighbors, and the work of the farm. Yet when the Mennonite Church called him to give up all this for city life, the office, and the classroom, he answered the call for the sake of the young people of the church. Although his task was often thankless, he loved these young people. It is to them that he dedicates his book:

> To the host of enthusiastic, hopeful young men and women, filled with faith and courage, who came to Goshen College as students during my tenure as President of the institution and whom I had the privilege of teaching while a professor in the college and seminary.

Throughout the years, S. C. Yoder has shown evidence that he loved to talk of the things of God to the students of Goshen College. He loved to teach the Bible in the classroom and communicated his love of the Word to his students. He loved to preach the Word from the pulpit, interpreting it against the rich background of a varied life. His knowledge of the Word, coupled with his own personal experiences and his love for and understanding of others equipped him to speak with fatherly wisdom to several generations of college students. It is these qualities of the man which give worth to this book of sermons and addresses.

Just as the book has been dedicated to the students of Goshen College from 1924 to the present, it is among this group that the book should find its widest sale. You will probably recall having heard one or another of these messages: "Things that Remain," "I Know a Home Eternal," "The Bible and Modern Life," "El Capitan," "The Voice from the Garden," "It Is a Small College but There Are Those Who Love It," "If I Were Young Again."

The book, which will be printed with good, clear type, will contain approximately one hundred fifty pages. The author himself is publishing it and he expects to have it ready for sale at $2.00 per copy by homecoming time.

The next books I pick up are the first published volumes in the Conrad Grebel Lectures series. One I have read, the other I am just beginning to read. The Mennonite Board of Education established the Conrad Grebel Lectureship in 1951 and administers it through a committee appointed by and responsible to the General Educational Council of the Board.

Milo Kauffman's The Challenge of Christian Stewardship is the printed form of the second of these series of lectures, delivered in 1953. While the Mennonite Church awoke to some of its responsibilities in missions, relief, Christian education and the publication of Christian literature more than a half century ago, Christian stewardship has not received the emphasis in the Mennonite Church which makes it the virile Christian expression Kauffman describes. Evidence of the weakness of our giving is the fact that a careful estimate of the giving of members of the Mennonite Church in 1951 was only 3.8 per cent of their net income.

Should the Christian tithe? Is the tithe an ultimate goal for Christian giving, or does giving only begin after the tithe has been paid? Should we expand our missionary, educational, and institutional programs, or are we giving to our limit? To these and other questions the author pens the answers which arise from his own deep conviction based on a careful study of the Bible, contemporary literature on Christian stewardship, and observation of giving practices within the Mennonite Church. Don't open the covers of this book to read seriously, unless you are also willing to open your billfold.

Paul Erb's The Alpha and The Omega, a Restatement of the Christian Hope in Christ's Coming was the series delivered this year. Were one to contrast the theme of the 1955 Lectures with the theme of the three series preceding them, he would probably say this is doctrinal theology, while those were practical theology. But just as the practical theology of those lectures was based upon certain elements of doctrinal theology, so this series with its emphasis upon doctrine leads to practical implications.

Eschatology has been a thorny subject in the church at large, and the Mennonite Church has not escaped the issue. Says Erb in the preface:

> It is unfortunate that the controversies concerning the interpretation of eschatology have driven many people away from the subject: Some ministers, despairing of finding a common ground upon which all believers can stand, have not been preaching on eschatology. And so an important area of doctrine has fallen into neglect, and many church attendants are ignorant of vital truth which they should know.

It is the author's hope that this volume will discourage the preaching of speculative, controversial prophetic themes, and encourage the preaching of the certain eschatology on which the Bible speaks with clarity and authority.

There is a great deal of literature on eschatology for the theologian, but this literature poses serious problems in understanding for the lay reader. While Erb treats his subjects in a scholarly fashion, he has the lay reader in mind and suggests in his preface a way in which the lay reader might approach the book to understand it most easily. A former teacher of literature, he draws upon his acquaintance with the Greek tragedy in his opening chapter. Tracing the history of eschatology and examining the Scriptural teachings on Christ's coming, he leads to Part III: "Watch Therefore." You'll find his treatment interesting and inspiring as you search for a better understanding of the Alpha and Omega—the beginning and the end.

Within 1955, two scientific studies by alumni have appeared in book form. Orie Eigsti 31, Normal, Ill., a botanist, collaborated with Pierre Dustin, Jr., a Belgian pathologist, in writing Colchicine in Agriculture, Medicine, Biology and Chemistry, which the Iowa State College Press published early in the year. The authors attempt to correlate various elements from the vast amount of research done with colchicine since 1889 and the literature resulting from that research, although they concern themselves primarily with the period from 1934 to the present. There are extensive references at the end of each chapter. The book is well illustrated and indexed.

A few months ago Prentice-Hall published Principles of Communications Systems by W. Delmar Hershberger 27 of Los Angeles in their Electrical Engineering Series. In his preface he states that there is no dearth of books in specialized fields of communication. His purpose is "to present, in a coherent fashion, the basic material common to both the older and the newer communications systems, with relatively little emphasis on the 'hardware' of any particular system." But the older fields of telephony and radio communication have much in common with television, radar, and computers.

As an engineering textbook, the book assumes that the student is already acquainted with electromagnetic theory. The text is well sprinkled with formulae and diagrams. Each chapter is concluded with references and problems for student exercises.

Any person undertaking to compile a complete genealogy of a family covering a period of one hundred twenty years sets himself a task which would probably frighten him if he could foresee its enormity. The problems of the genealogist are principally three—finding sources of information, accuracy in the statement of material, and arranging the material in readily usable fashion. A genealogy is more than a mere listing of names with life dates. Relationships need to be shown. If the genealogy is supplemented with family history, the problems increase. In A Genealogical Study of the Nicolaus... Roth Family, Ruth C. Roth 48 built upon work begun by her cousin once removed Roy D. Roth 43, now president of Hesston College and Bible School, at the request of the Daniel Roth family gathered in a family reunion in 1949. Expanding her field from this particular branch of the family, she includes in her book the brothers and sisters of Daniel Roth, although the descendants of each one are treated separately. While this simplified the identification scheme within each group, it means that the user must search seven indexes, unless he happens to know the branch of the family to which a given descendant belongs. The book is lithoprinted and is liberally illustrated with group pictures. As a librarian, I can hardly refrain from expressing dislike for its plastic hinge binding.

"This booklet of simple Bible stories in diglot (Spanish-Toba) is really only an experiment, aimed at that growing number of Toba young men who already read Spanish after a fashion," writes Albert Buckwalter 47, then of Sáenz Peña, Argentina, now on furlough in the United States, in an explanatory note attached inside his Ná aqtaguec í axat jana labiblia, published in mimeographed form in April, 1955, for use among the Toba Indians of the Argentine Chaco. Five of the ten stories deal with the life of Jesus, three with other New Testament persons, and two with the Old Testament. The material is presented in Spanish on one page and Toba on the other. Mennonite missionaries among the Toba Indians hope to translate portions of the Bible into Toba as they gain in facility in the language. nps who have "come home" in this and other forms of participation in the total life of Goshen College.

A note of special tribute is due the alumnus who "came home" by helping to spark this year's Work Drive with his gift of $8,000. We are glad he prefers to remain anonymous. We need this spirit of giving without ostentation. Yet may we say to the students, we hope your spirit was not wholly dependent upon the prospect that your earnings would be doubled in this fashion. We hope you participated because you loved the Lord and found in the Work Drive an avenue of expression for your love. After all, is not the true spirit of Goshen College the love which we all have for Christ and His church? In this love we "come home" to Goshen College in the deepest sense.

Eventually there is to be a final "coming home." In each issue we give tribute to those who will come home to the campus no more. There is joy in this homecoming when the spirit of Goshen College has tempered the life, when "Culture for Service" has been lived in the work of the Kingdom. The "dear hut" fades away, the mansions of glory open. Goshen College has found expression in a life made radiant with the beauty of Christ.

Everyone welcome to Homecoming at Goshen—a Tradition but More than a Tradition—
A Week end of Christian Fellowship

The Concert

One of the first musicians of his race to attain world renown, Roland Hayes, tenor, possesses a voice which critics tell us is as moving as ever. Those who heard him at Goshen College in 1949 recall the forcefulness of Christian character which enriched his concert. The college is presenting him in two concerts this year—one Thursday evening planned particularly for homecomers and one Saturday evening for holders of season tickets. Admission to the Thursday evening concert will be by single admission ticket only, available at the door at $1.51 for Section A and 75¢ for Section B. Holders of season tickets who find it difficult to attend the Saturday concert may attend the Thursday concert by presenting their season tickets for punching in exchange for single admission tickets. Single admission tickets will also be available for the Saturday concert.

Reservations for Thanksgiving Dinner

Our experience shows us that if you make a reservation we can serve you better. If you are planning to eat your Thanksgiving dinner in the dining hall, please send your request to the Homecoming Committee, Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana. Make checks payable to Goshen College. Your tickets will be held and may be called for Thursday noon in the dining hall lobby in Westlawn. The price is $1.50 per person.

Enrollment Trends

The 630 full-time student enrollment this semester is the largest at Goshen College for any one semester. The previous peak, attained during the first semester of 1948-49 when men returned from World War II service, was 608. After that time the numbers dropped to a low of 517 during the second semester of 1950-51, but have climbed since then to reach a new high for the first time this semester. This fall's number exceeds last fall's full-time students by about five per cent. This fall there is also a new record high of 184 for part-time students, consisting mostly of teachers and other employed persons who come to the campus for a Tuesday evening or Saturday forenoon class. The number of these part-time students has increased rather steadily over the past ten years.

Men slightly outnumber women this fall for the first time since 1951, when the post-war flood of men students subsided. For full-time students, men number 51.6% of the total. The excess of men over women is most pronounced in the freshman class, with 53.5% men. The sophomore and junior classes are almost equally divided between men and women with 50.4% and 49.3% men, respectively. The senior class, on the other hand, has only 38.2% men. The seminary is nearly all men, having only two women in its number of 43 full-time students, 36 of whom are college graduates and are not included in the count of undergraduate classes. The nursing school has mostly women students, with one man among its 72 students in the three years of the nursing school program, and one man also among the 25 freshman pre-nursing students. All nursing students are included in the class totals given above.

The increase in men students, as well as the increase in the total number of students, results in part no doubt from the return of men from I-W service. This fall there are 42 exI-W men in school as compared to 12 last fall, an increase of 30. Veterans number 17, about the same as last year.

The freshman class numbers 198 this fall for the largest entering class in recent years. The record for size of freshman class, however, still remains with the class entering in 1946, when men returning from government service swelled the class to 211. The junior class, on the other hand, is this year setting a new record total of 144. The sophomore class numbers slightly below last year's sophomores, and the senior class slightly above last year's seniors. The Liberal Arts College total has this year also reached a new high of 587, whereas the Biblical Seminary total has declined from last fall's 62 to only 43 this fall. The drop in seminary students reflects the shift which is now being made to a purely graduate program for regular seminary students. In the Liberal Arts College, all curricula excepting nursing share in the increased numbers of students.

Transfers from other colleges for full-time study at Goshen College number 68, which is about the same as last year. Hesston College, our sister Junior College, has sent 17 of these to head the list of colleges sending transfer students.

The Mennonite student number again shows a significant increase this fall, with 535 from all Mennonite branches, of whom 503* belong to the (Old) Mennonite Church, the body operating Goshen College. Not only are these the largest numbers of Mennonite students ever attending Goshen College, but the latter figure also constitutes the largest percentage, 80%, of Mennonite students at Goshen College ever attained, at least since such numbers have been published. The percentage of students who are members of the Mennonite Church has grown rather steadily over the past ten years, from approximately 70% to the present 80%. This means that there is occurring a substantial increase in the patronage of Goshen College by members of the church for which the college is primarily operated. On the other hand, the patronage from other related Mennonite groups has declined a bit over recent years, and that from non-Mennonites has remained essentially constant with some fluctuations in numbers.

The current increase in enrollment at Goshen College should probably be interpreted, not as a peak, but as part of a continuing upward trend in the size of the college. Two factors dictate this interpretation. The increased patronage of Goshen College by the Mennonite young people reflects an increase in the proportion of these young people seeking higher education. The increased numbers of Mennonite college students over the past five years, for example, has occurred while the number of college-age Mennonites has remained essentially constant. This increasing proportion is a trend not only among Mennonites, but is nation-wide. Significantly, the Mennonite proportion is at present lagging well behind the nation-wide proportion of college-age youth attending college, and the indications are for the Mennonite proportion to approach more nearly the nation-wide proportion. The second factor is the increase in numbers of young people of college age, due to increases in the birth rate. In 1956 the numbers of college-age Mennonites will increase slightly, with more significant increases following by 1958 and 1960 and continued increases thereafter. It would seem very likely, therefore, that Goshen College can expect a continued substantial growth unless there should be major changes either in the current social and economic structure, or in the Goshen College policies and program.

Predicting more specifically for the fall of 1956, we can use again the average percentage retention of students for each class from one school year to the next over the past five years. On this basis the 1956 fall enrollment would include about 155 sophomores, 120 juniors, and 155 seniors. In addition, we might assume conservatively that the new freshman class will be about the same size as it is this year with 200 students. We estimate also 30 additional graduate students in the seminary. This makes a grand total for September 1956 of 660 full-time students.

* As has been the custom in this study over recent years, members of the Conservative Mennonite group are included in this number, with 4 such students this year. This group has been closely associated with the Mennonite Church and has this year been invited to elect a representative on the Mennonite Board of Education.
